

PLAYBOY

COLLECTOR'S EDITION

TOP 100
SEX STARS

45TH ANNIVERSARY ISSUE

THE WORLD OF PLAYBOY

hef sightings, mansion frolics and the rabbit's redux

HEF'S PARTY POSSE

Do these photos look like Hef's suffering from separation anxiety? Since his marital status changed, he has been stepping out again for retro Rat Pack nights of cocktails, swing dancing and healthy blondes. It doesn't hurt to show up with the Beniley twins, the Dahm triplets, Playmates and actresses. And it doesn't hurt to have Jim Carrey, George Clooney and Leonardo DiCaprio hang out at your house, either. Hef is pain-free.

A REST FROM H- LABOR

Brian Austin Green of Beverly Hills 90210 kept his cool at four play with our three Miss Decembers—Erica, Nicole and Jaclyn Dahm. Hef's wild Labor Day bash brought together a cast of thousands, including Tori Spelling, Drew Carey, Jack Palance and Martin Landau, to eat, drink and be merry.

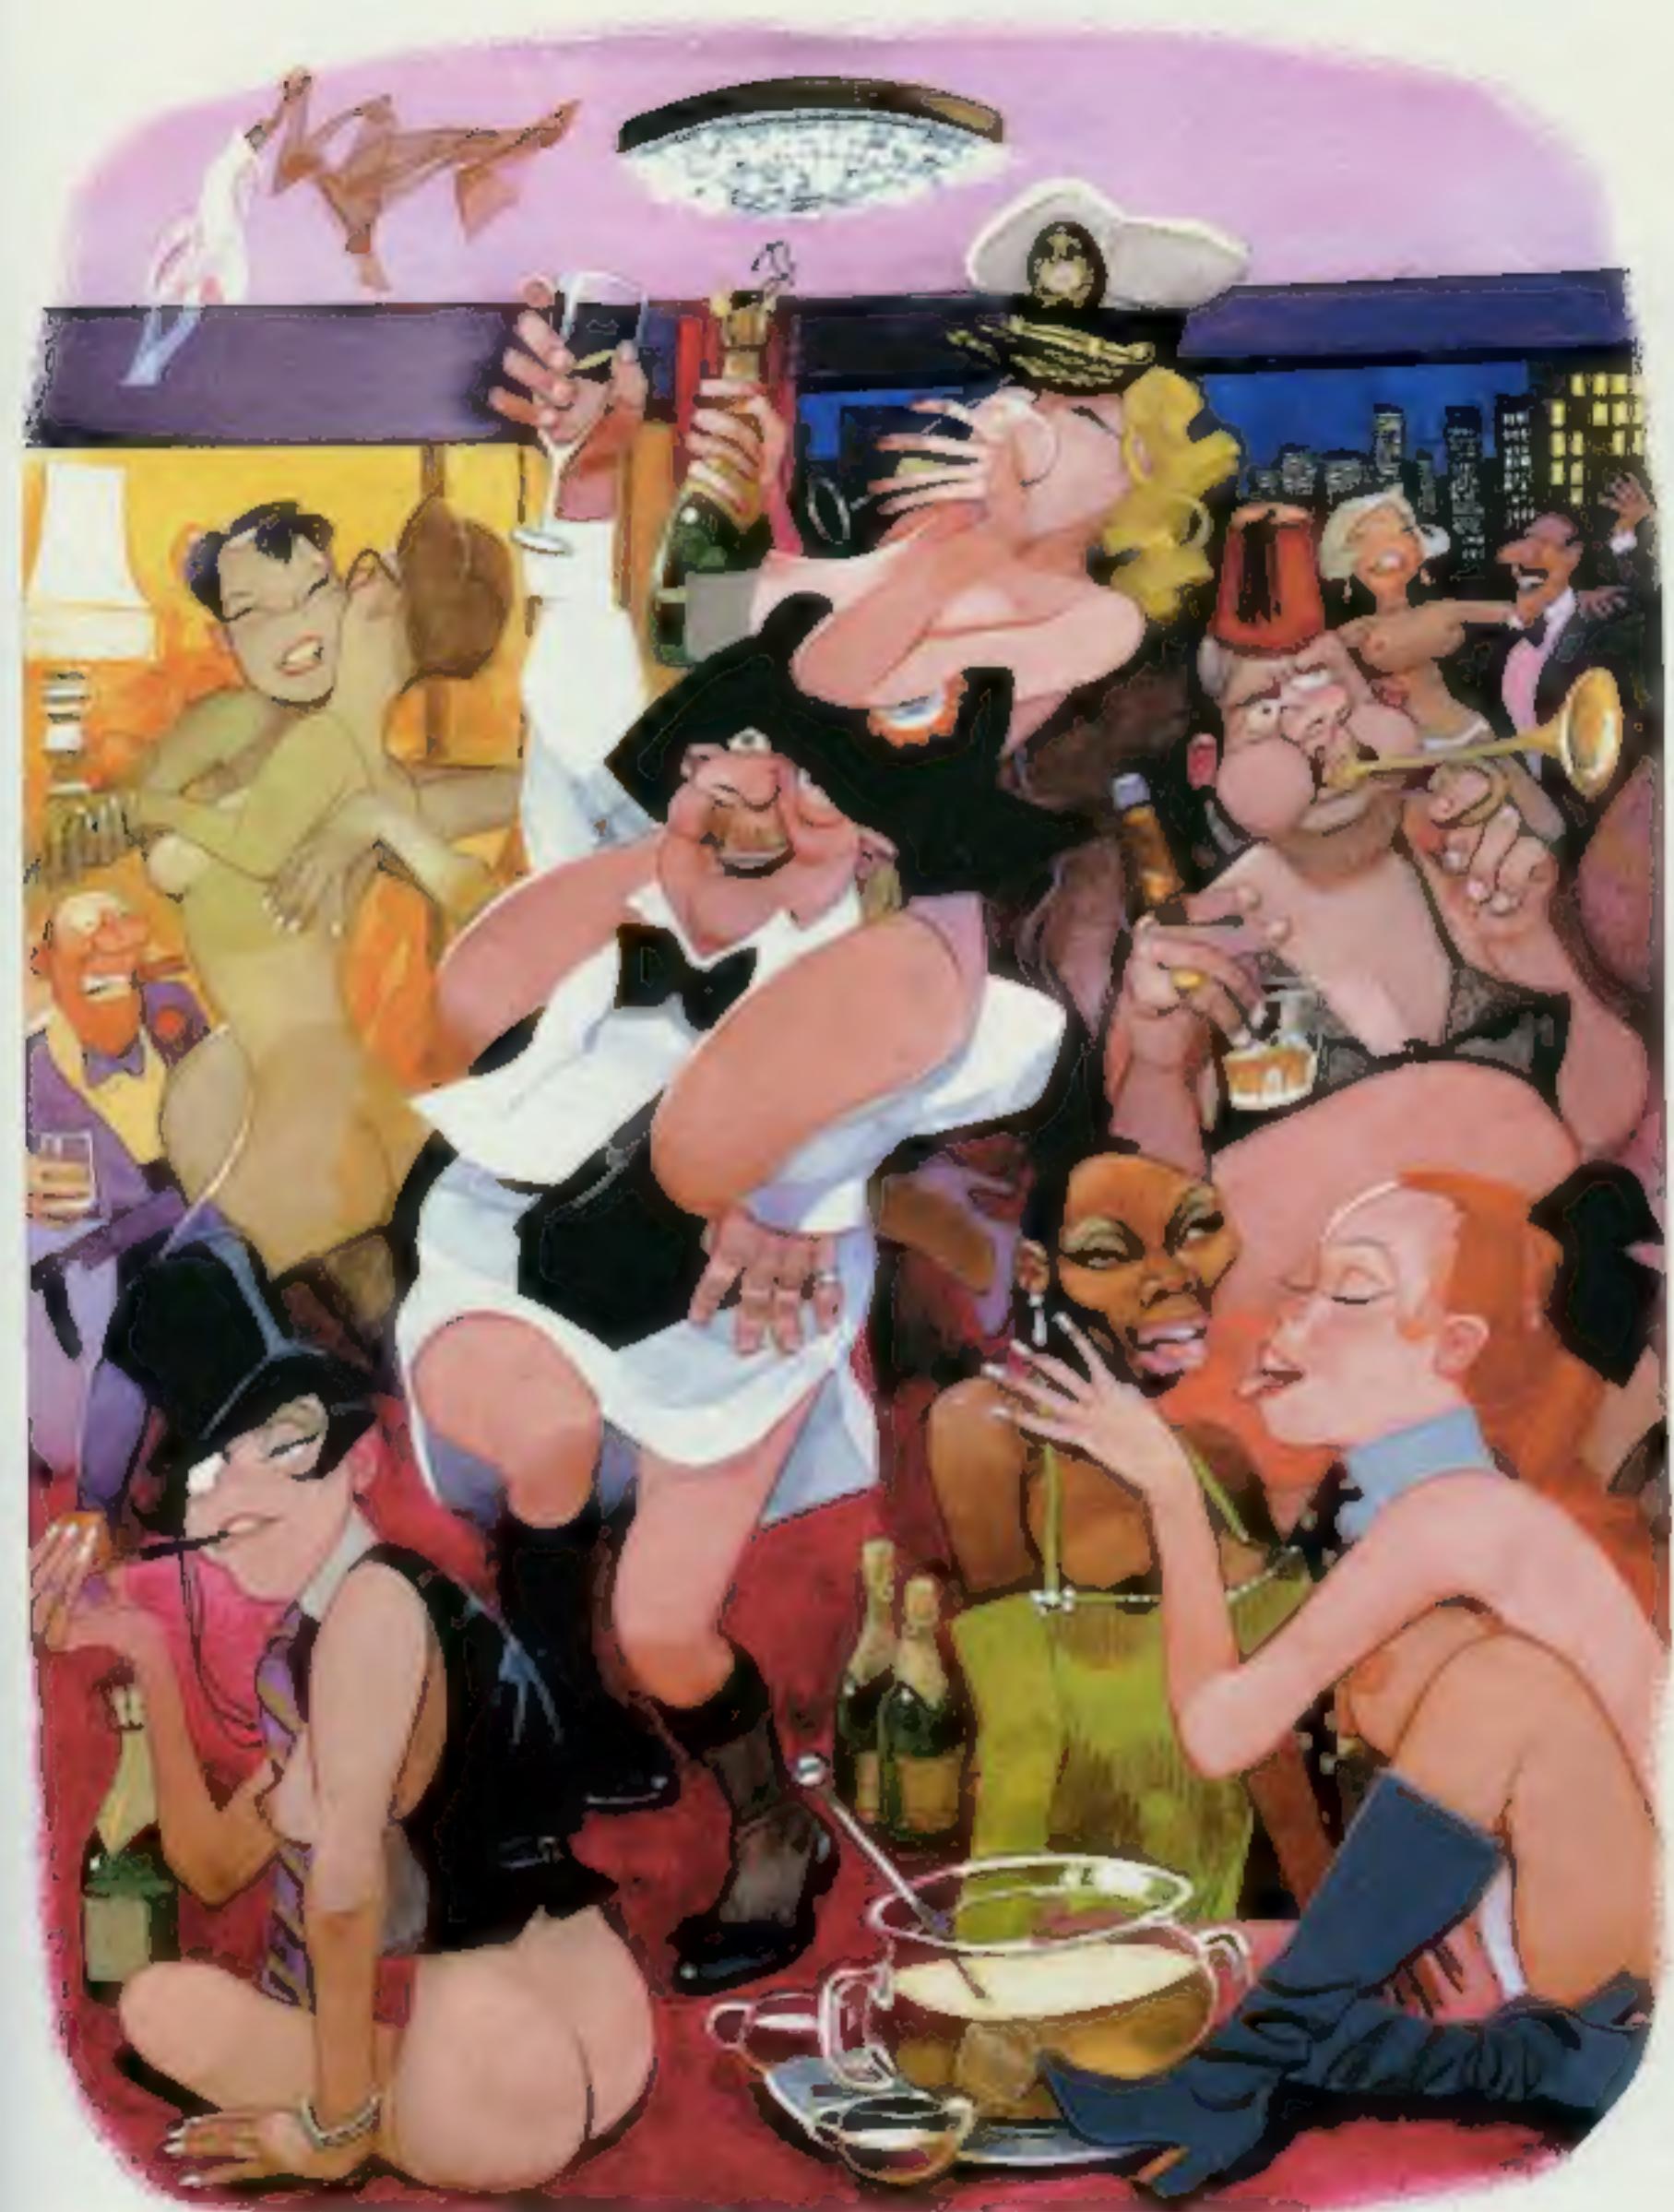

GETTING IN ON THE ACTION

Hef and his famous house were in an episode of the CBS dramatic series Buddy Faro this past fall. Actor Dennis Farina (pictured here with Hef), who plays a private eye, knows law enforcement for real from his days as a Chicago cop. Although Hef only occasionally has a dramatic role, it's no mystery to find him in his pajamas.

PAJAMA PARTYGOERS

After a seven-year hiatus, the Midsummer Night's Dream Party was relaunched this past August at the Mansion. It was lingerie heaven for the all-night revelers, including Miss February 1986 Julia McCullough and actor Jeff Goldblum—both looking great in basic black.

SOKOL

"I'm so glad we decided to stay in and celebrate with a few friends this year."

WELCOME TO SALLY'S SEX SHOPPE

VIDEO X CINEMA Present

SEX MOVIES

ADULTS

24 EROTIC FILMS

ADMISSION
ONLY

20%

A NIGHT TO REMEMBER

"... And it makes a great stocking stuffer, too."

"Remember, Ebenezer, a fat-free Christmas is no fun at all!"

Dedini

SEX STARS OF THE CENTURY

the 100 beautiful women who made this century sizzle

appreciation by D. KEITH MANO

As the millennium approaches, people try to get you to think about the best books you didn't read, the best speeches you never heard and the best movies you never saw. Not us. We want you to think about something close to your heart. There are women you think are pretty. There are women you think are beautiful. And then there are women you think about for the rest of your life. That's why we decided to take the helpful step and name those inspiring creatures. How many truly magical women have walked the planet this century? We declare there are a nice round 100 and are so bold as to rank them. (text continued on page 214)

100. LILLIAN MÜLLER

97. DOLLY PARTON

99. MATA HARI

98. BLAZE STARR

96. DEDE LIND

95. KATARINA WITT

94. CARROLL BAKER

93. FAY WRAY

92. DIANA DORS

91. MARILYN CHAMBERS

89. TERRY MOORE

90. LYnda CARTER

88. JULIE NEWMAR

87. LOUISE BROOKS

85. LONI ANDERSON

86. JACQUELINE BISSET

84. JOAN CRAWFORD

82. GENE TIERNEY

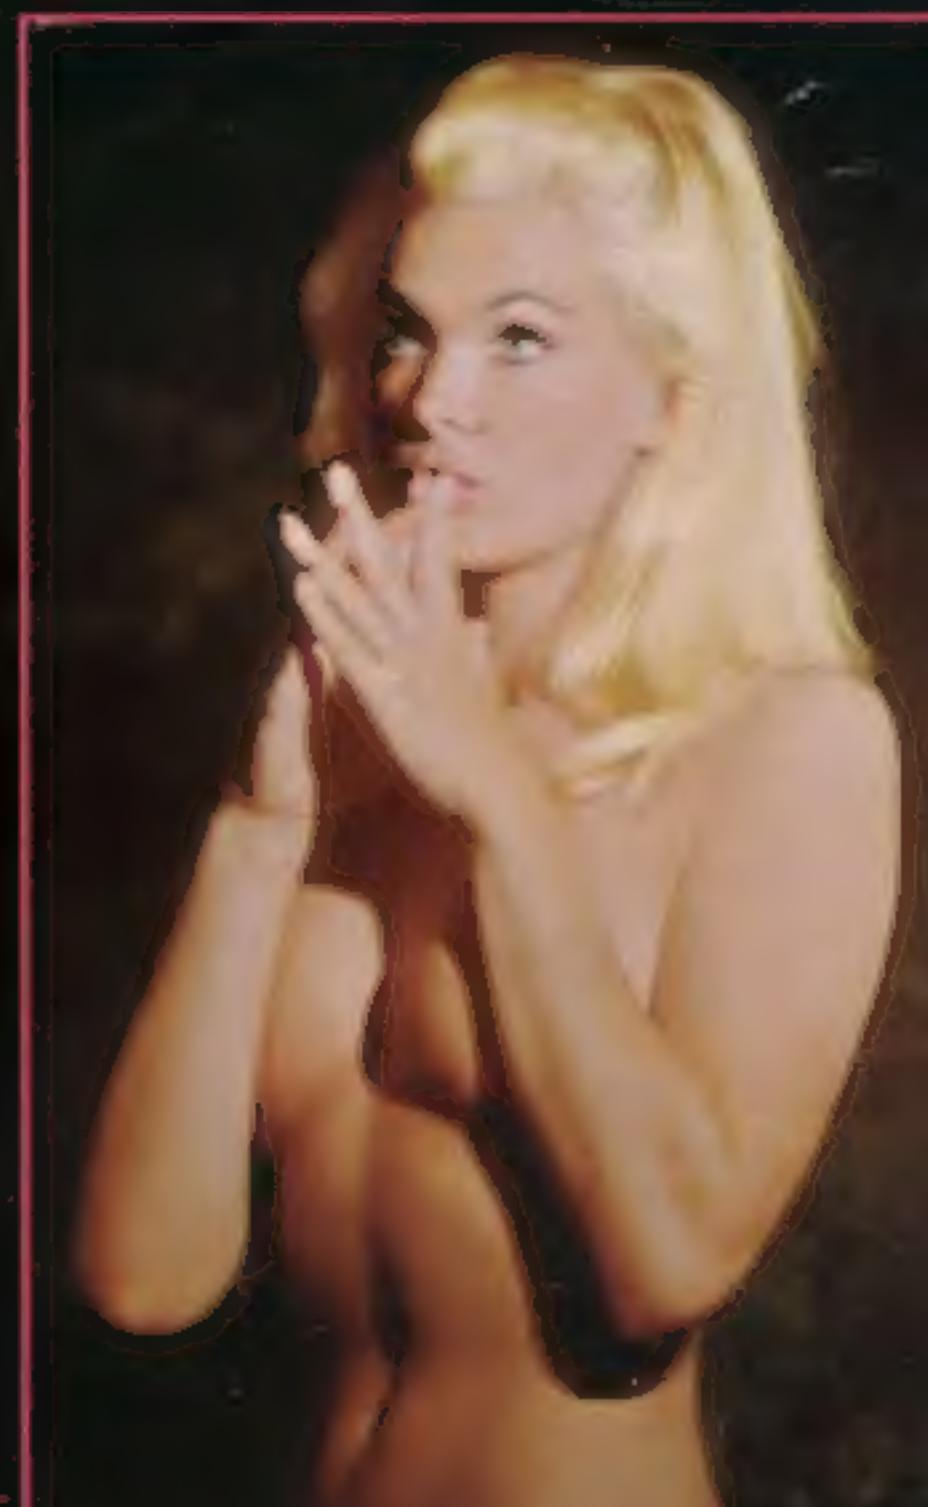

83. JANET PILGRIM

81. SHANNON TWEED

80. LINDA EVANS

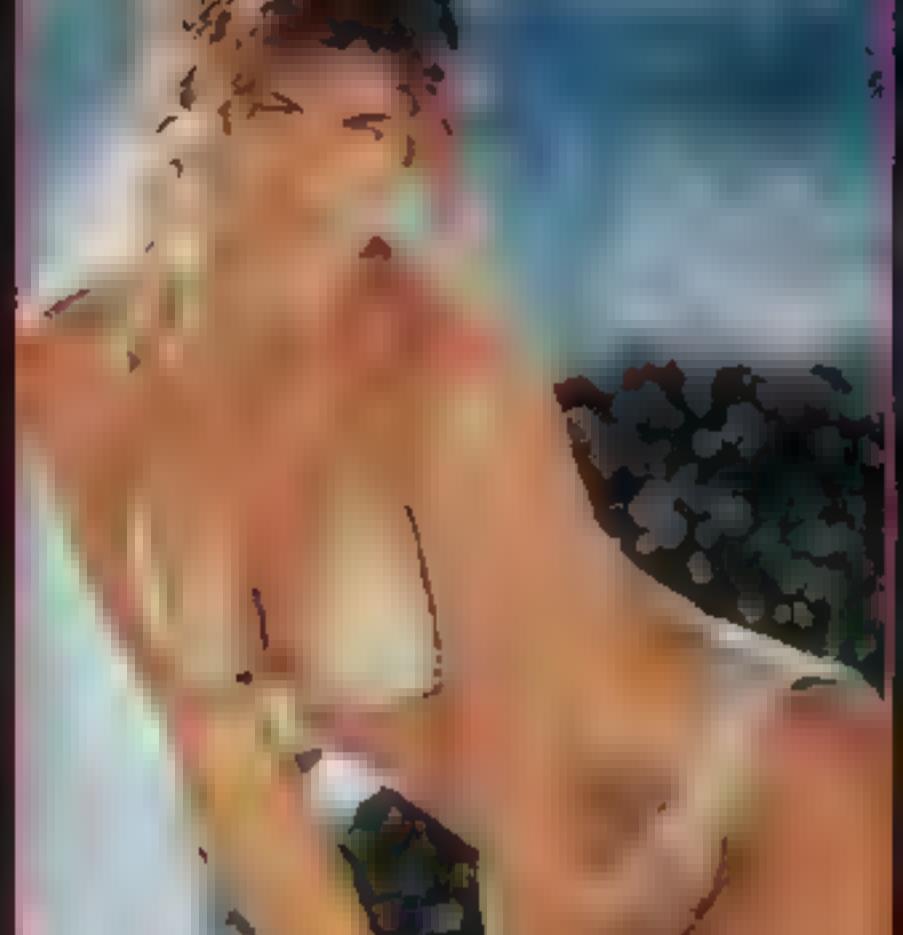

76. LENA HORNE

77. GYPSY ROSE LEE

78. LIV LINDELAND

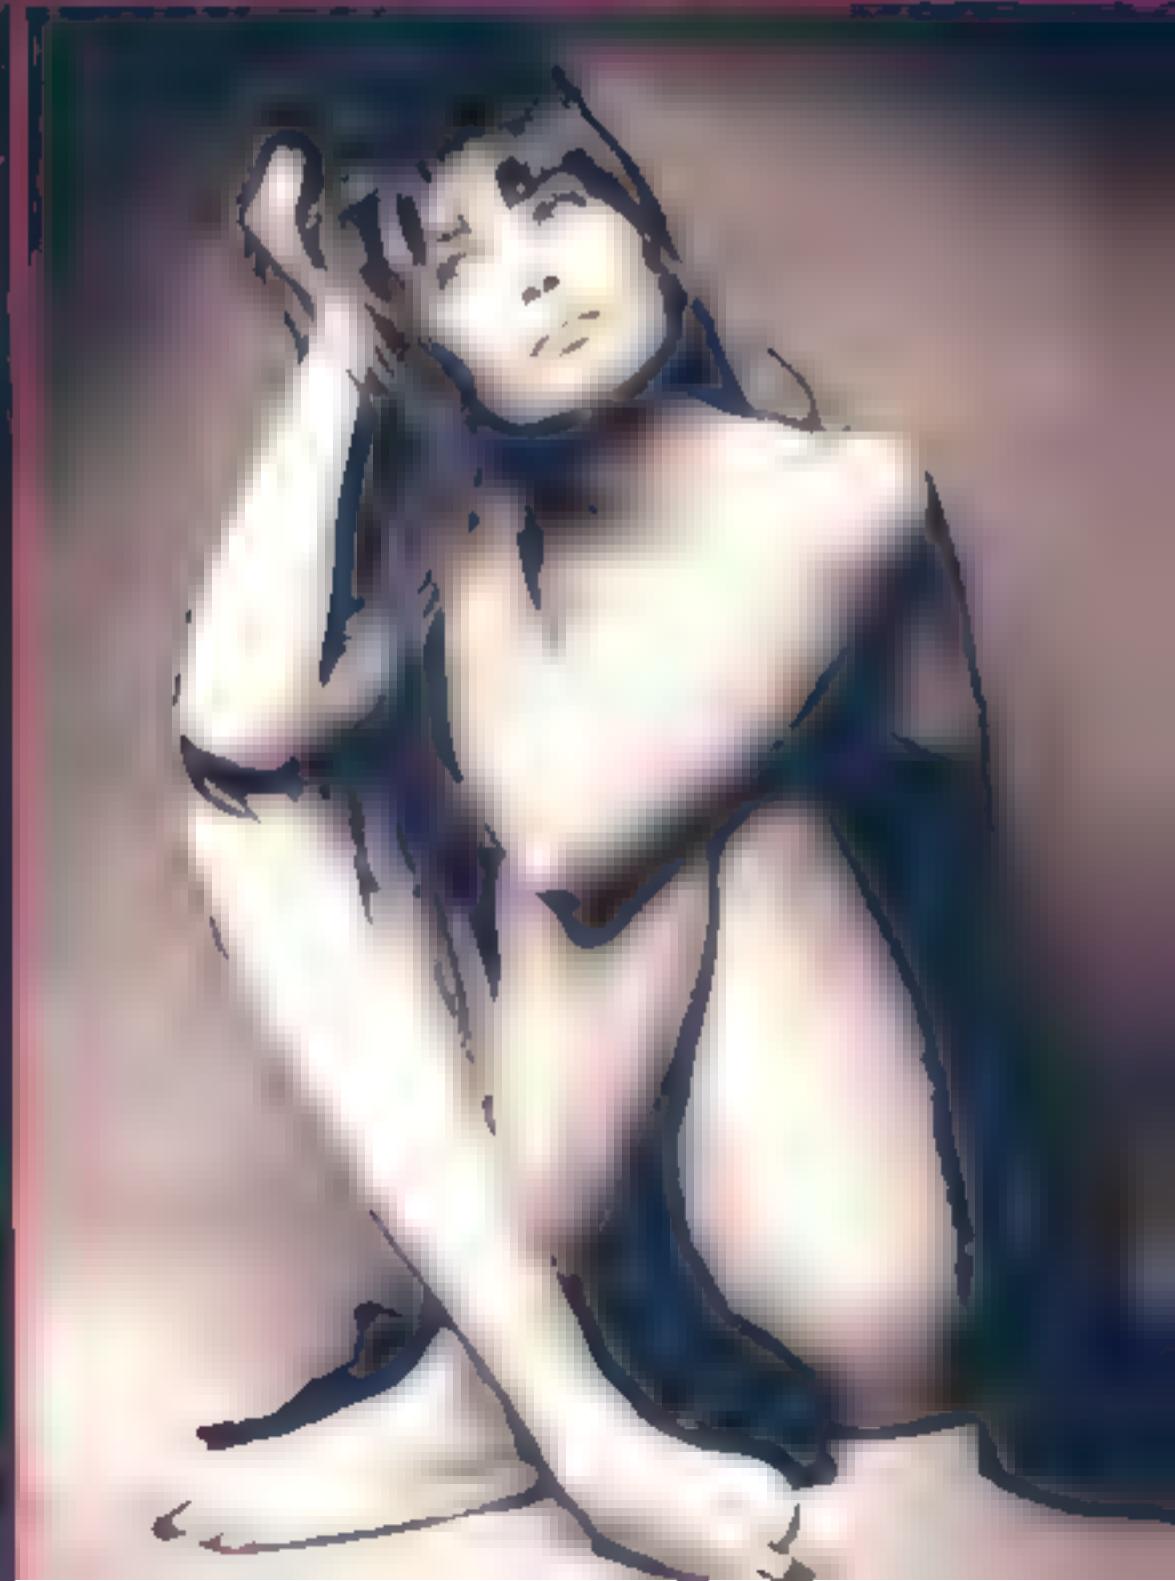

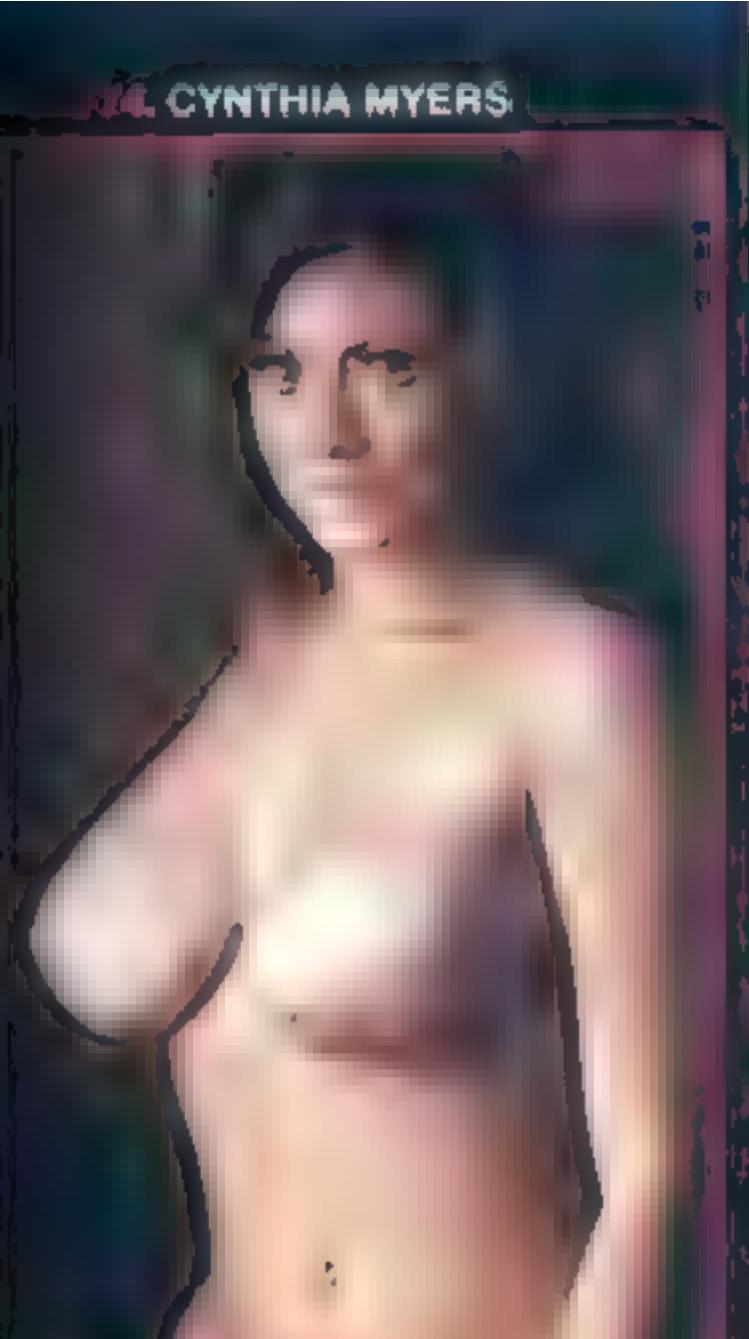

79. KATHY IRELAND

80. DIANA RIGG

81. LIV LINDELAND

82. KATHY IRELAND

83. DIANA RIGG

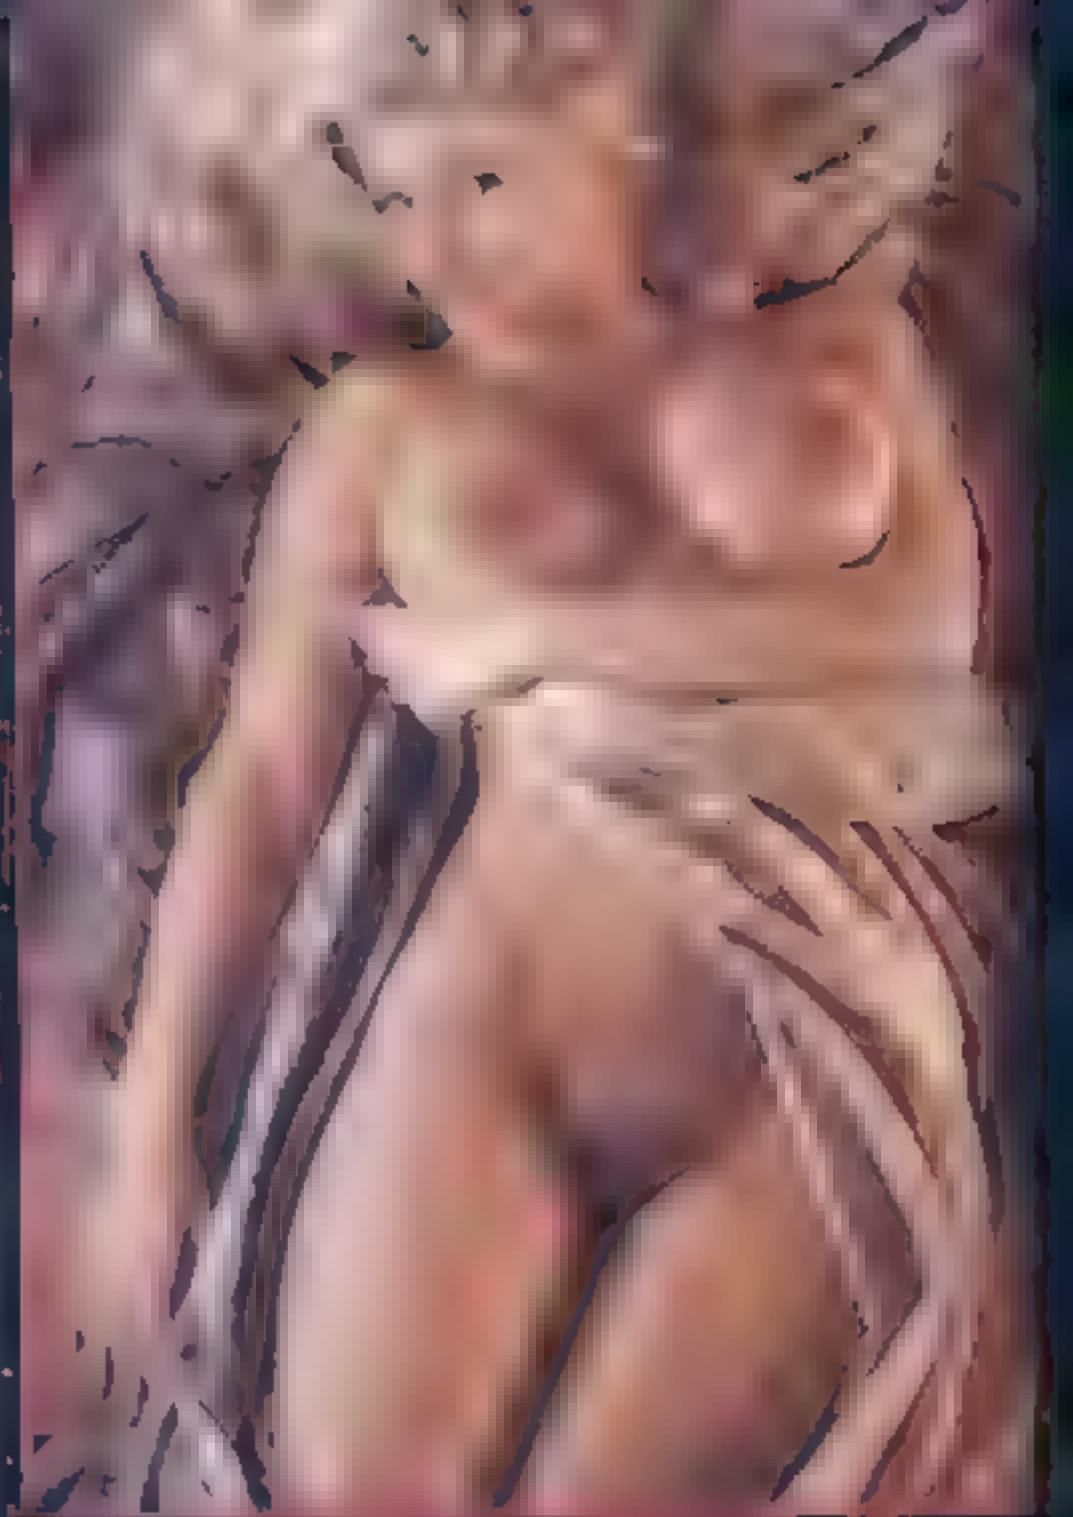

MR. ANNA NICOLE SMITH

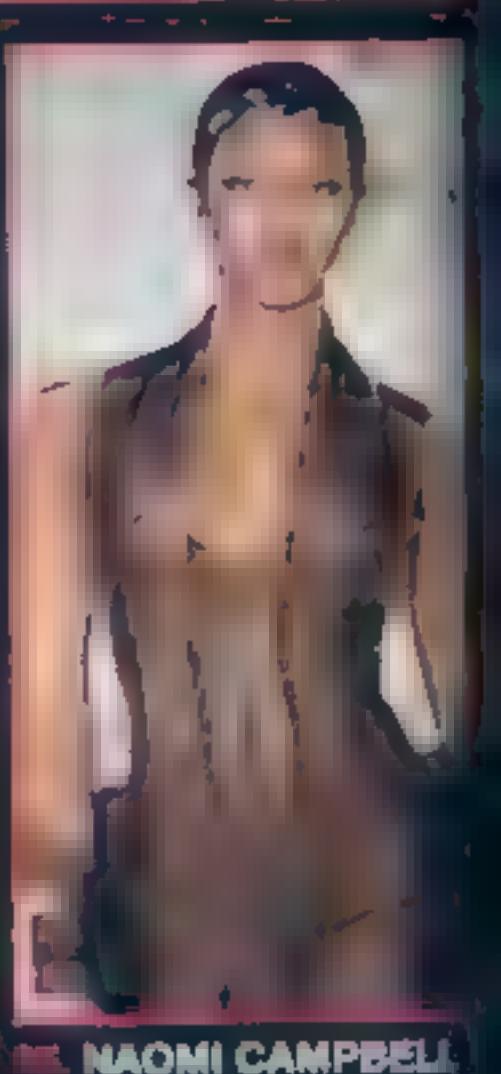

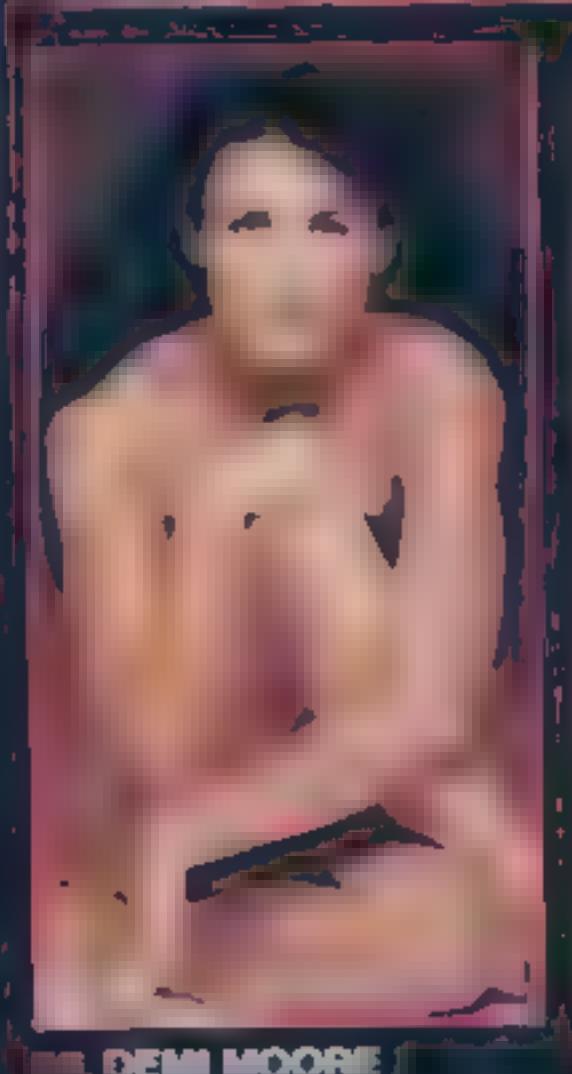

MR. LILI ST. CYR

MR. AVA GARDNER

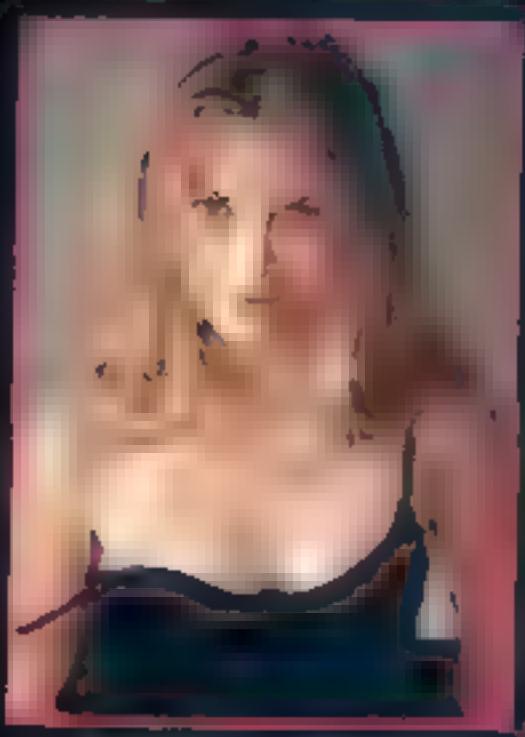

MR. DEMI MOORE

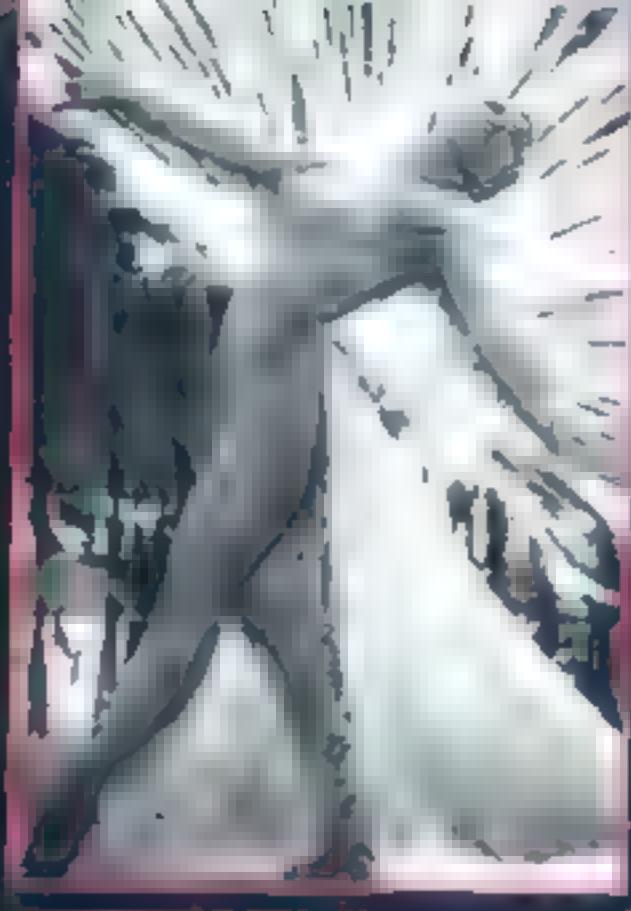

MR. NAOMI CAMPBELL

DR. SALLY RAND

DR. MICHELLE PFEIFFER

DR. STEPHANIE SEYMOUR

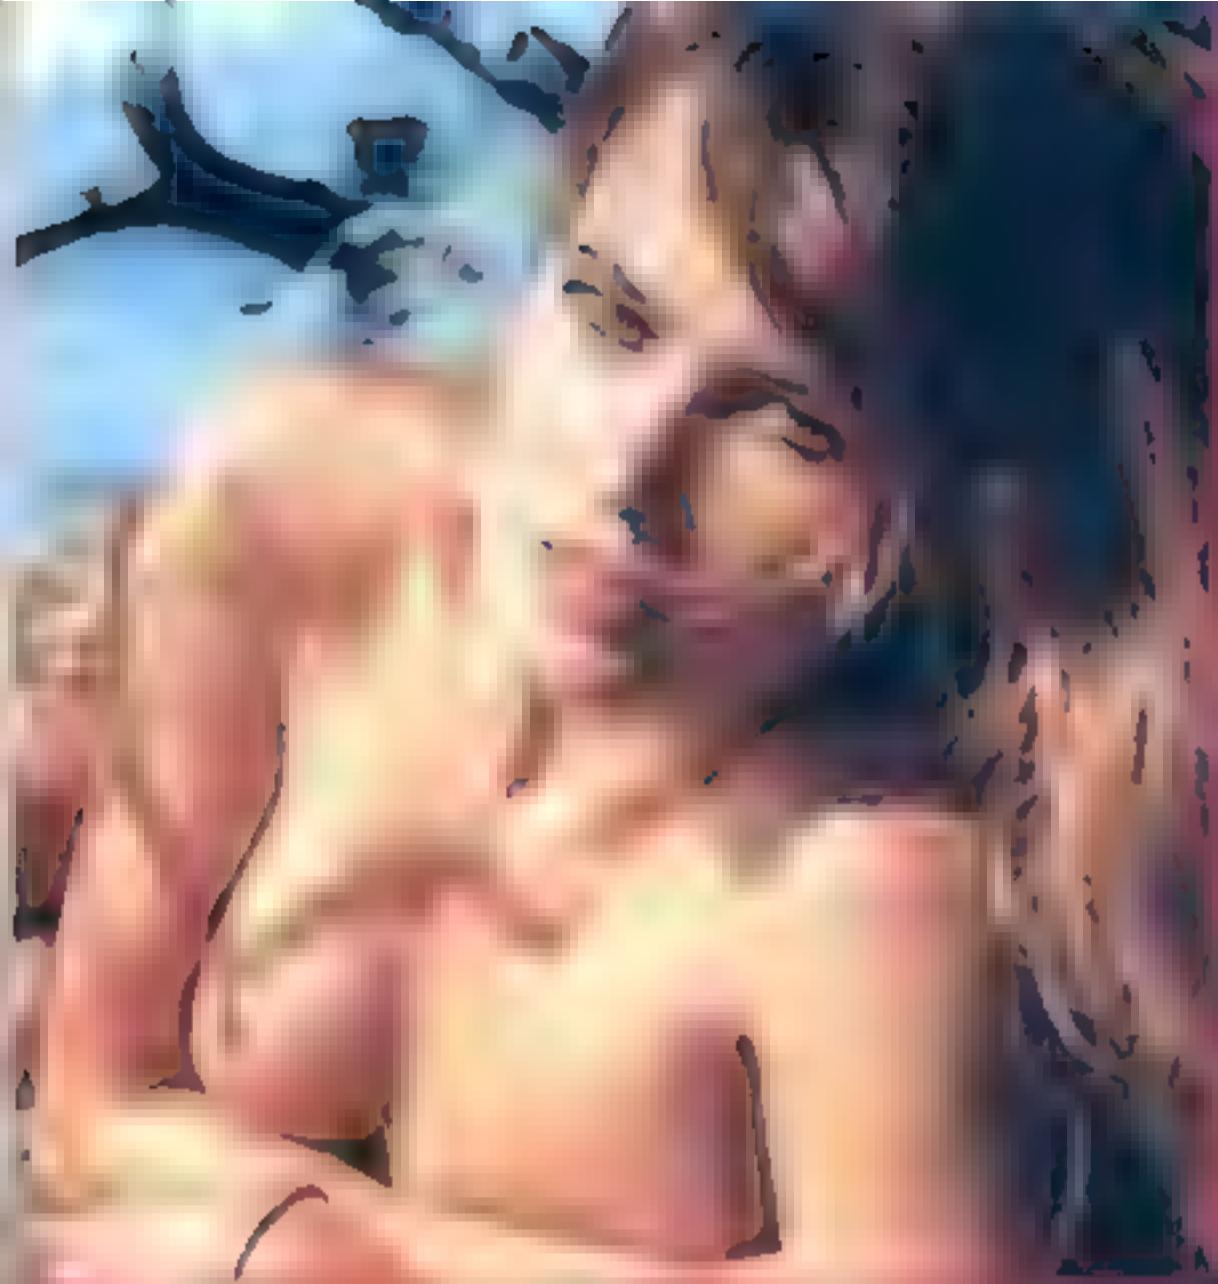

DR. PATTI MC GUIRE

DR. CHRISTIE BRINKLEY

57. CLAUDIA SCHIFFER

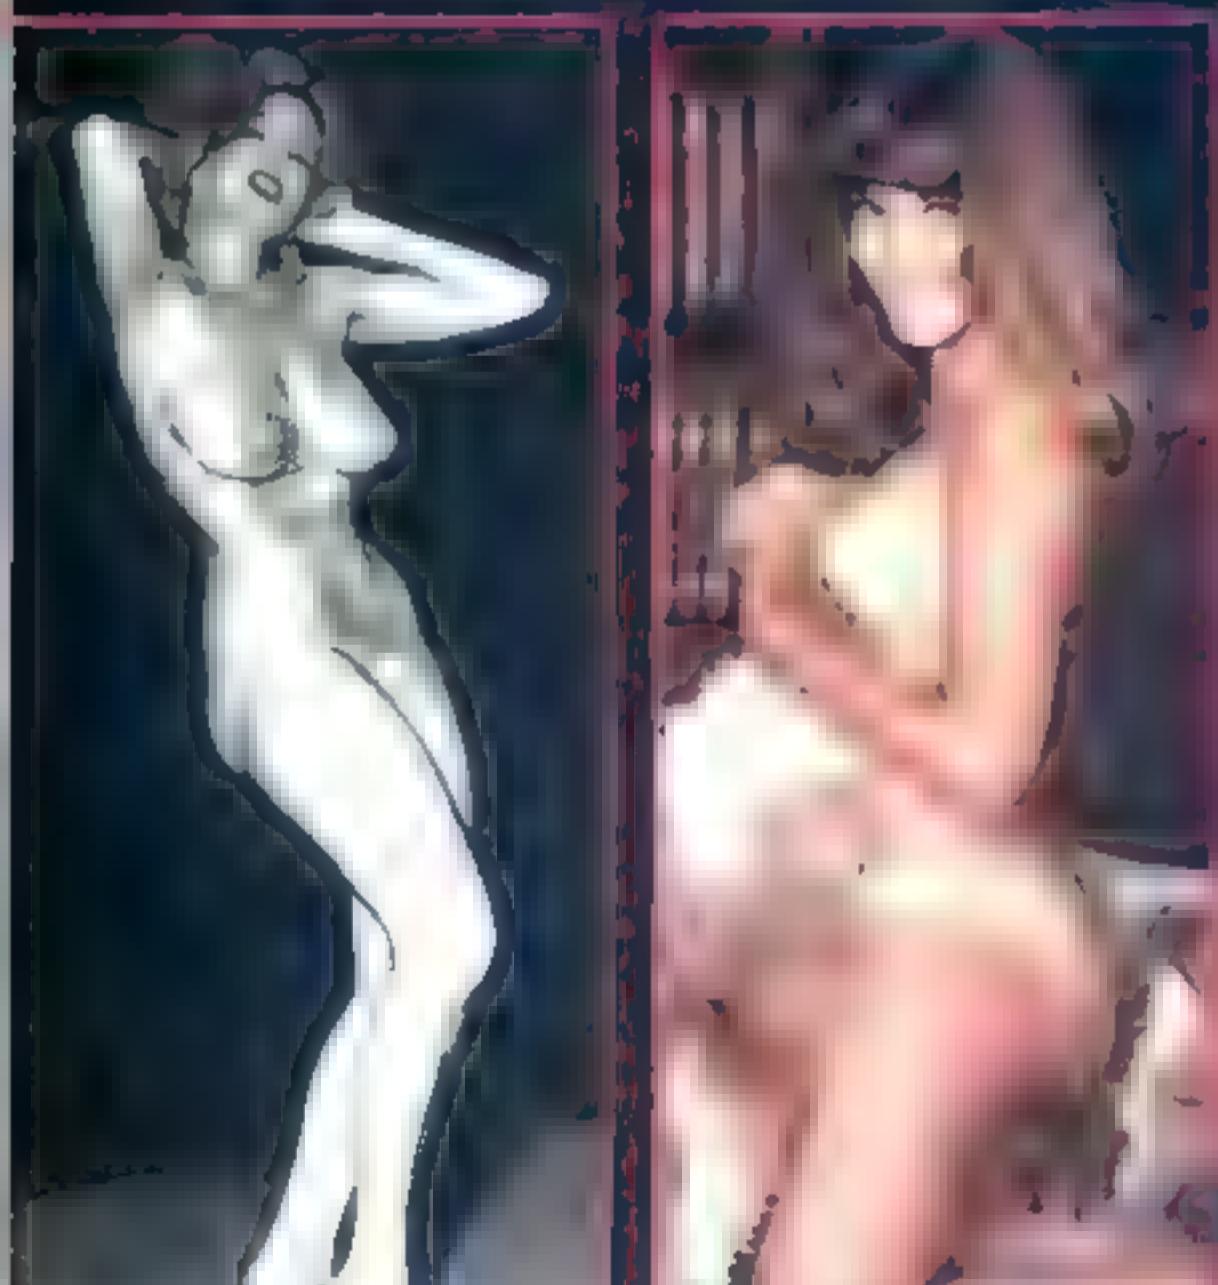

58. BARBARA EDEN

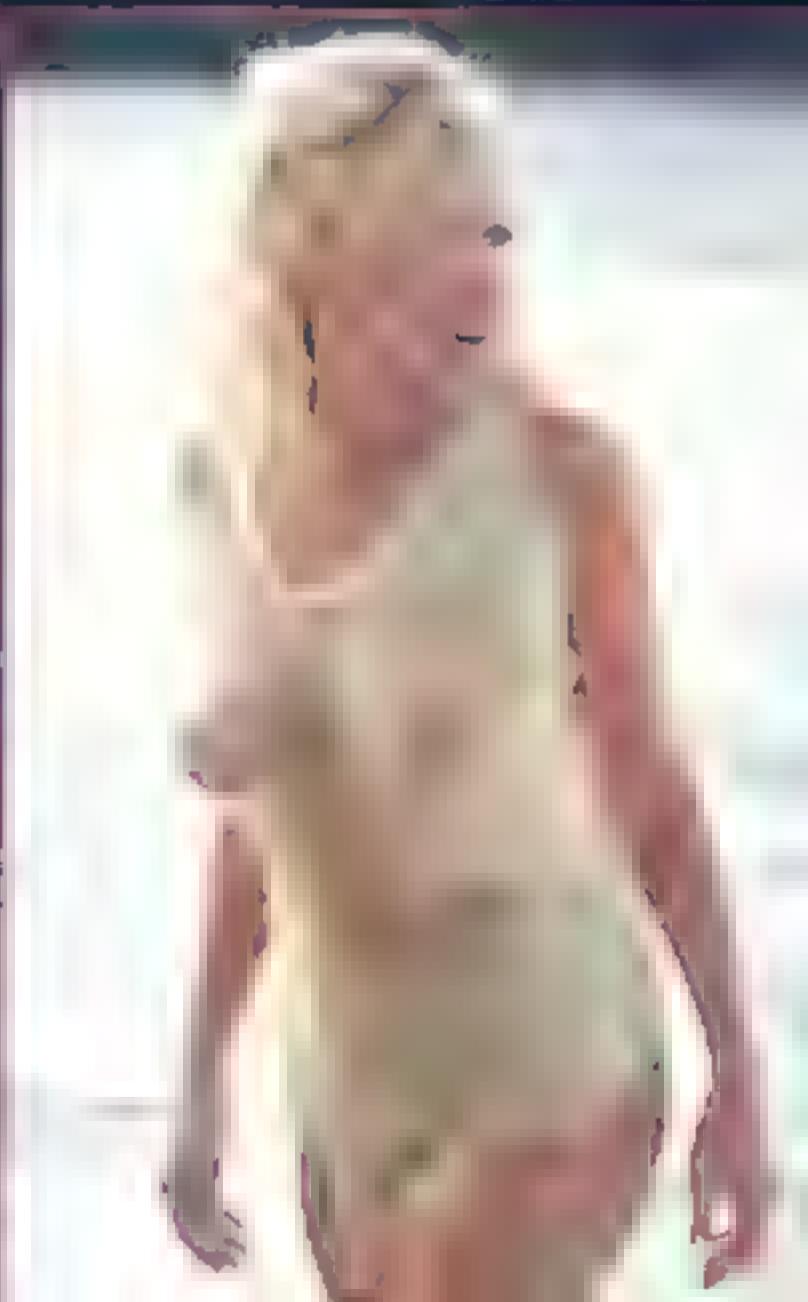

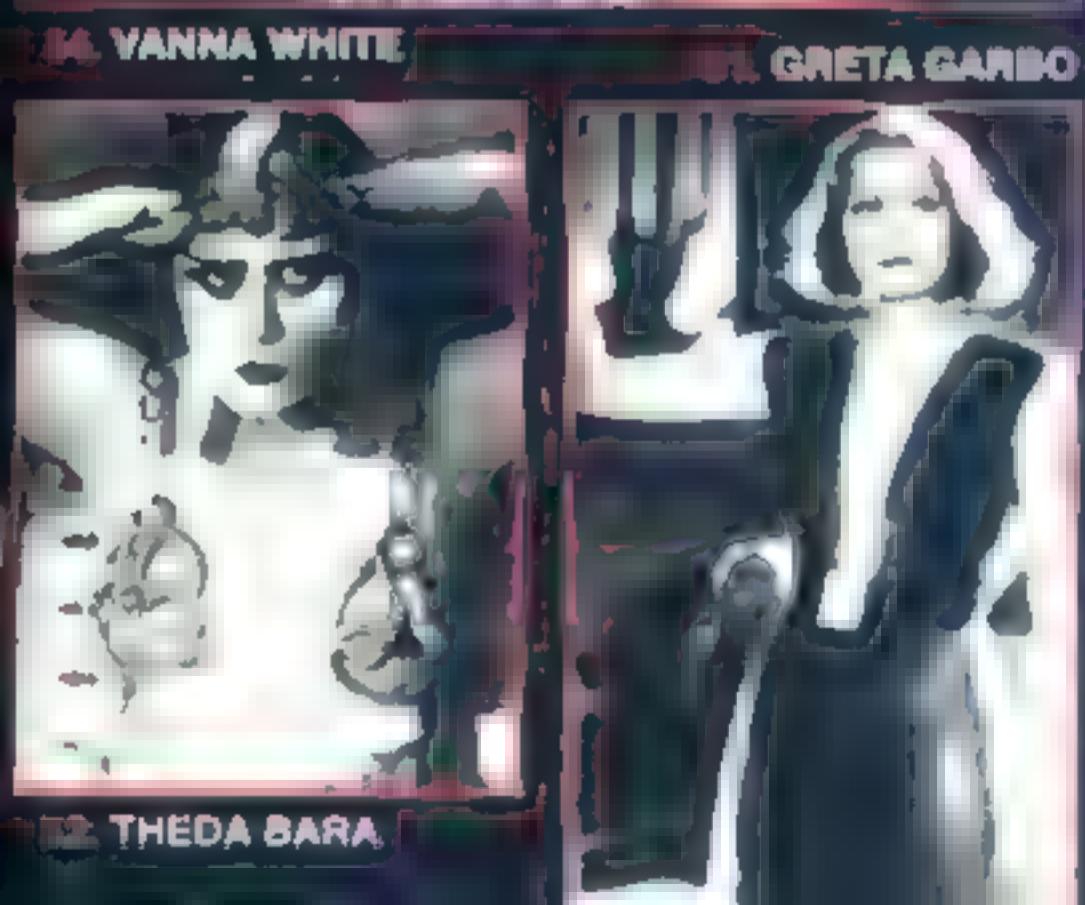

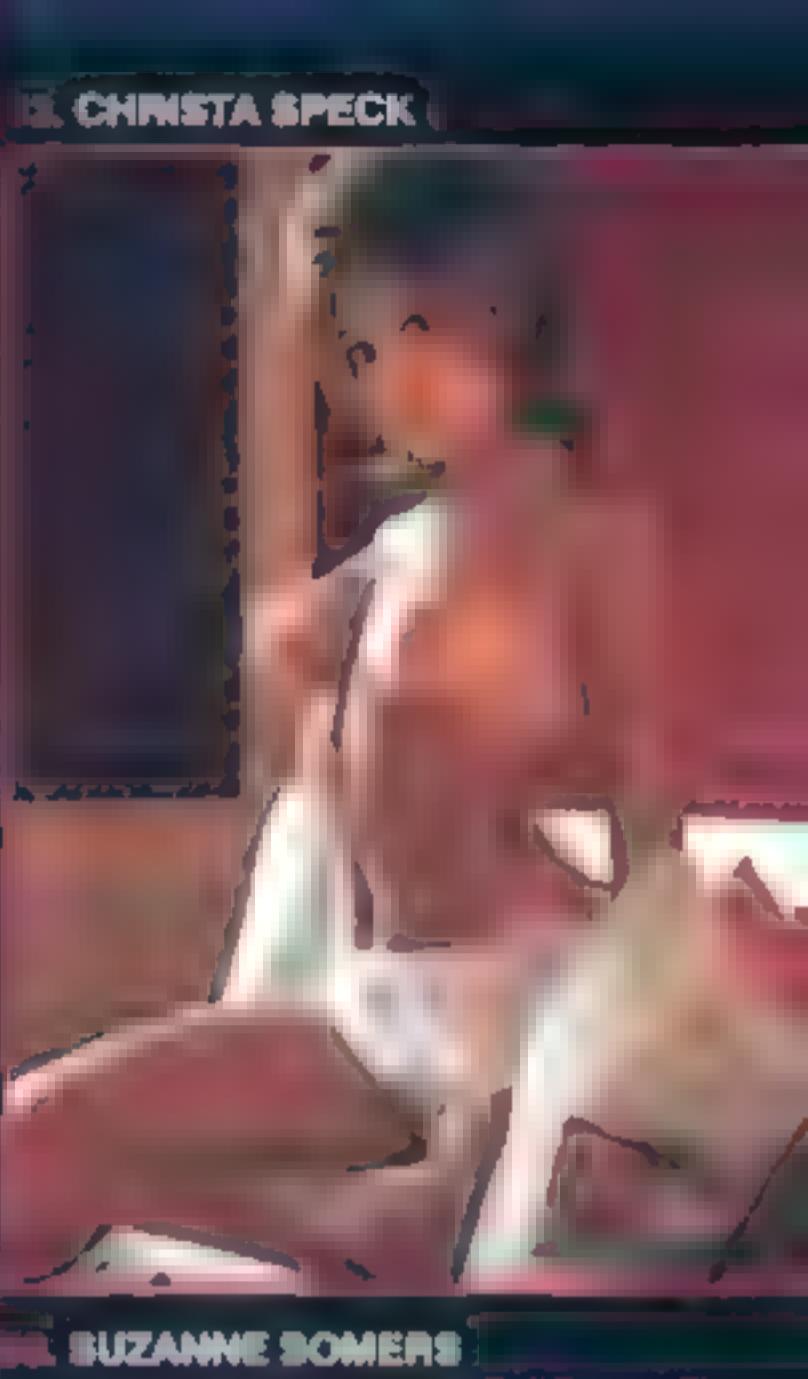

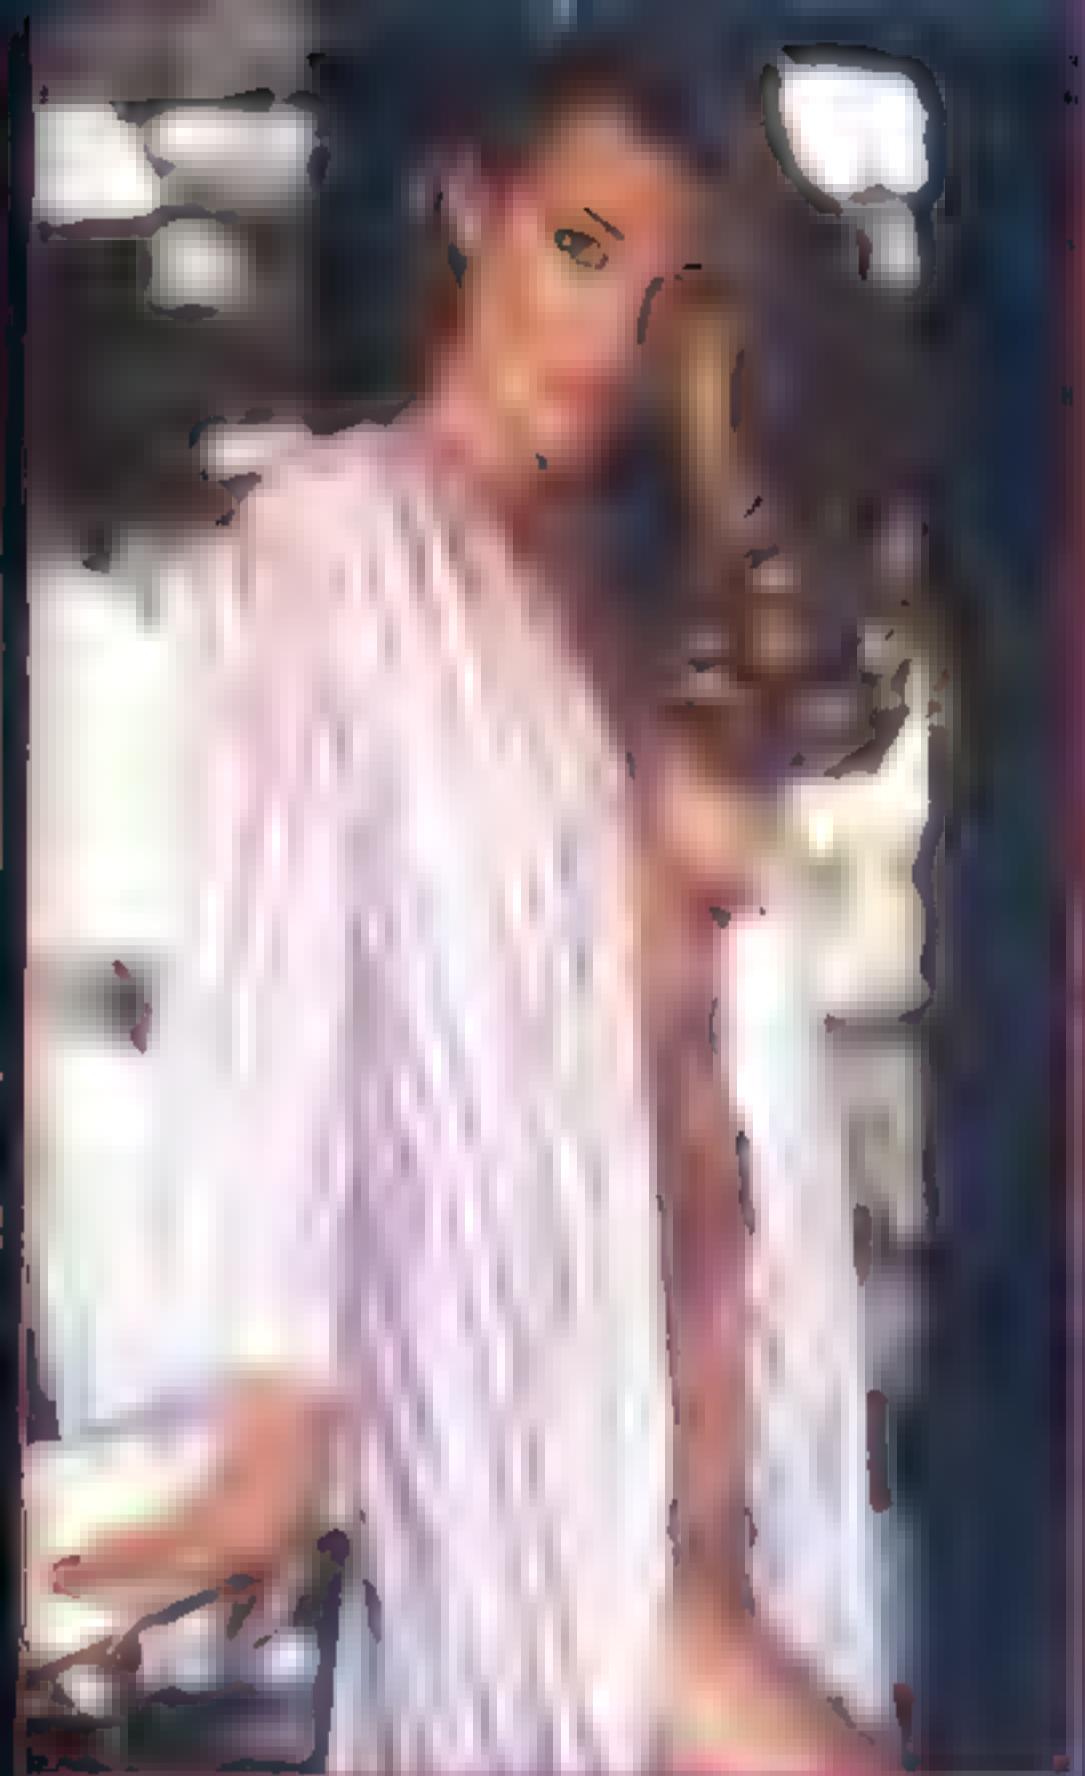

59. DOROTHY STRATTON

57. TEMPEST STORM 58. DARIN BENTON

59. DOROTHY STRATTON

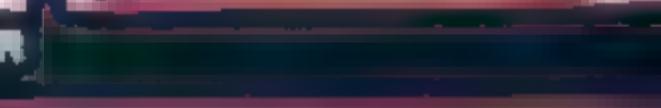

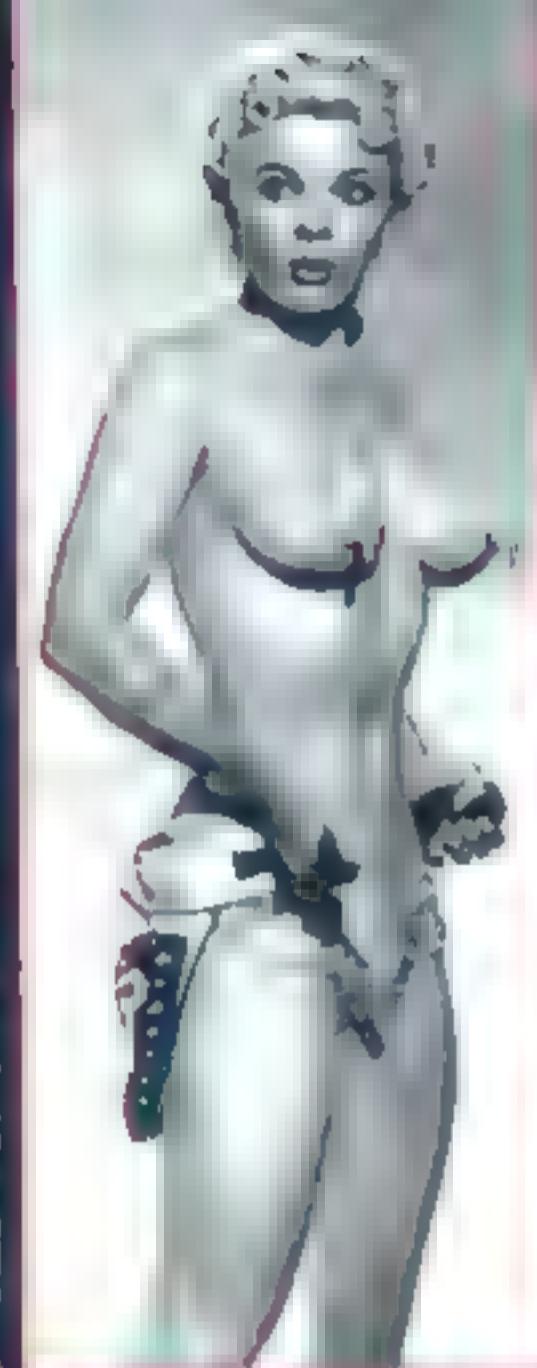

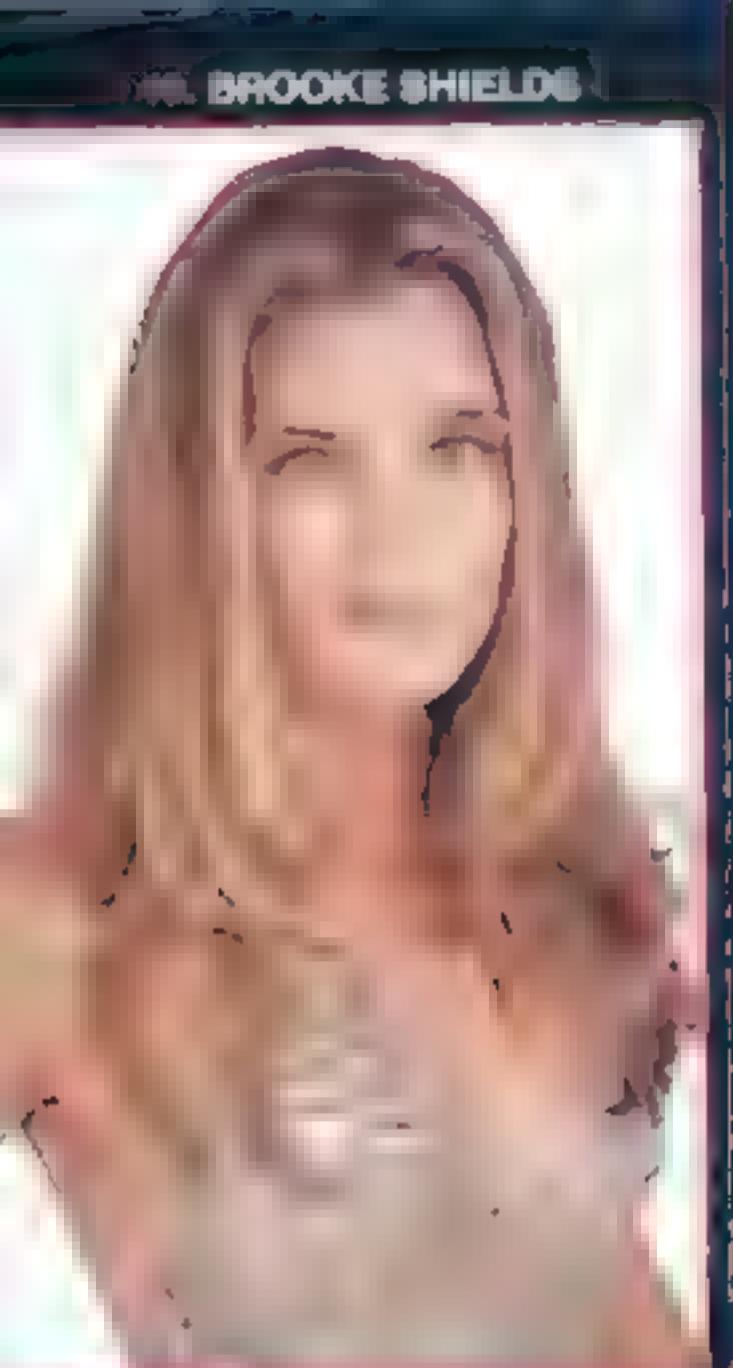

6. VANNIA WHITE

6. Greta Garbo

6. Theda Bara

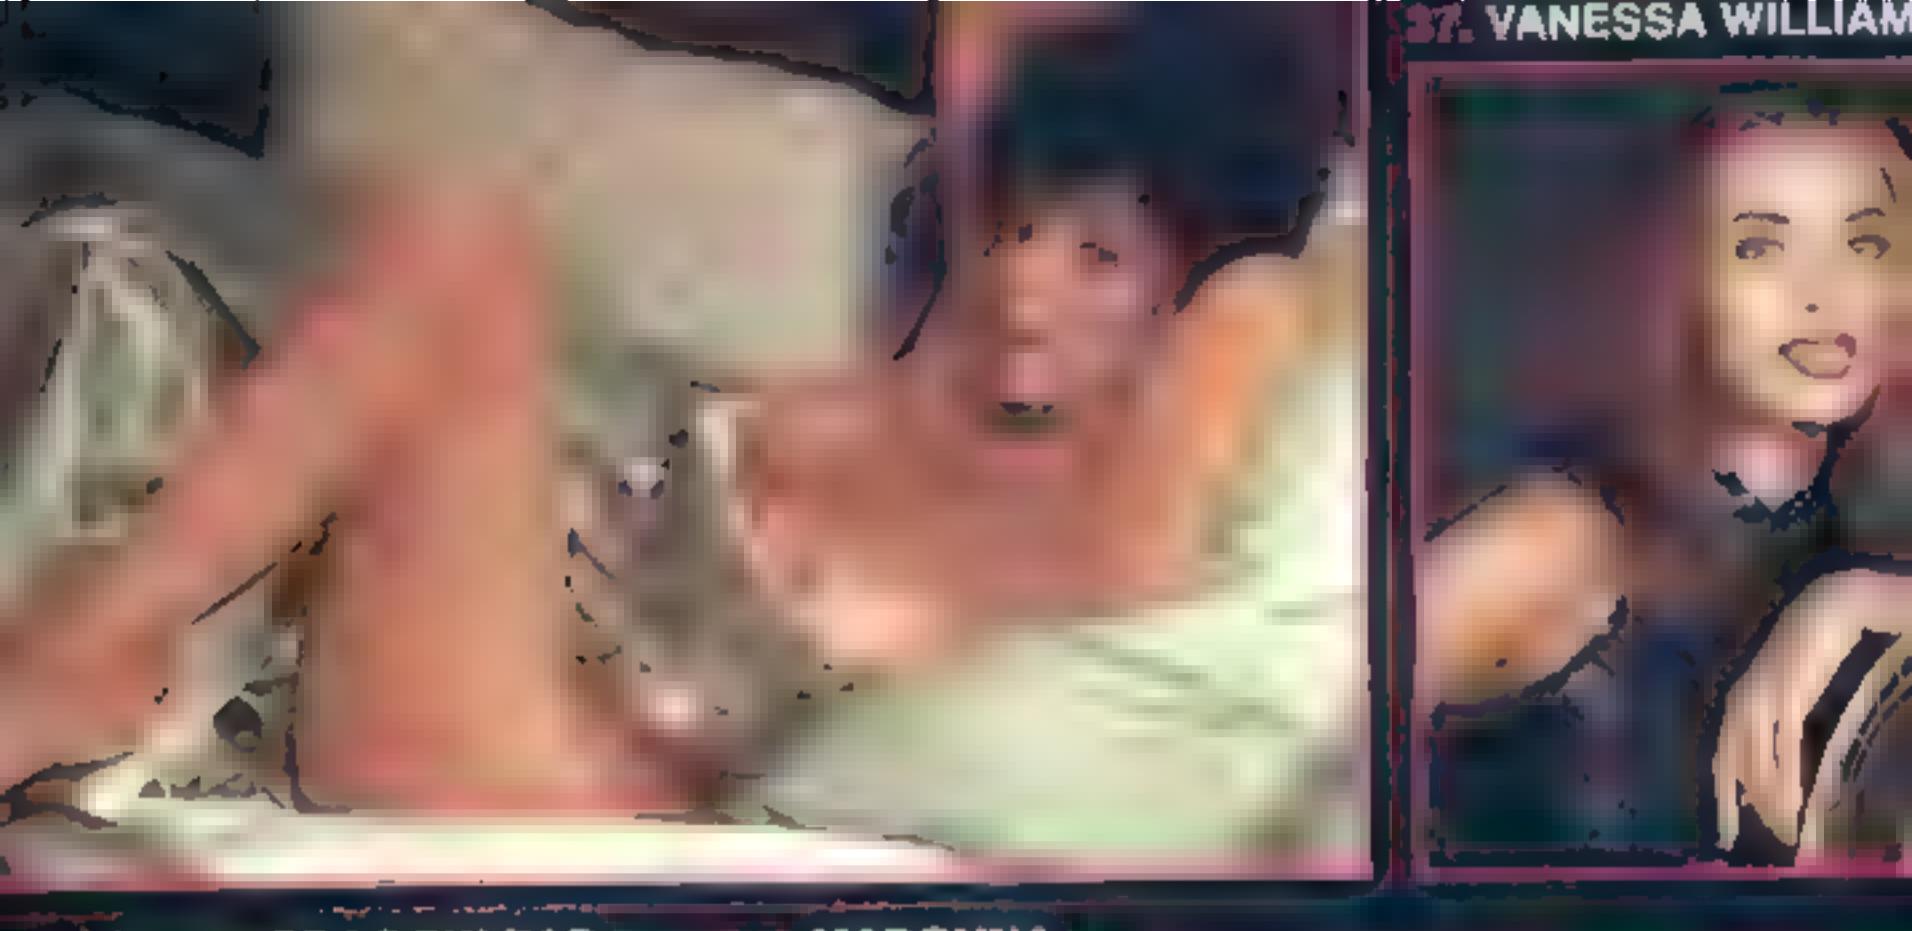

6. Christa Speck

6. Suzanne Somers

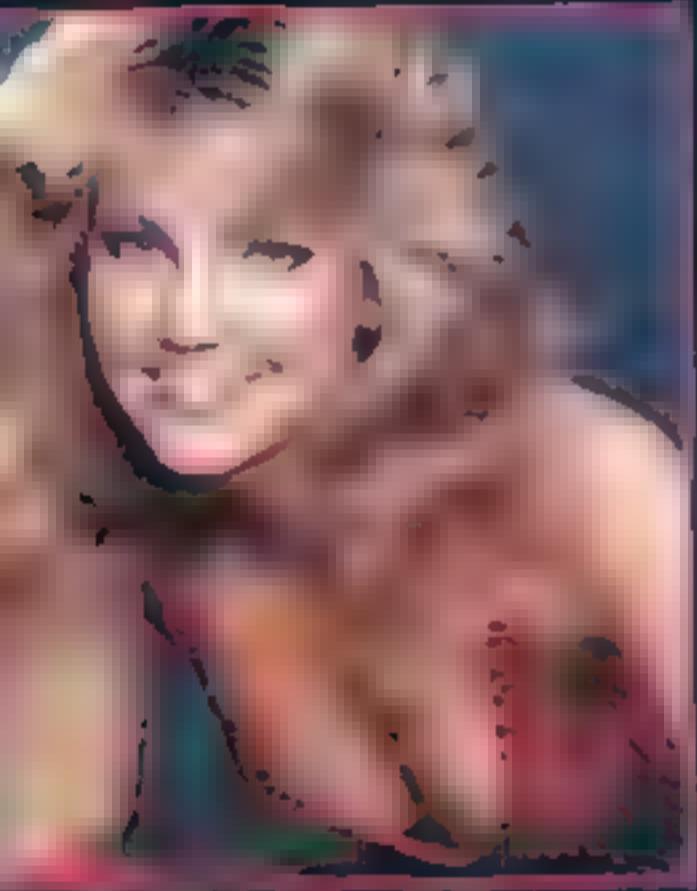

37. VANESSA WILLIAMS

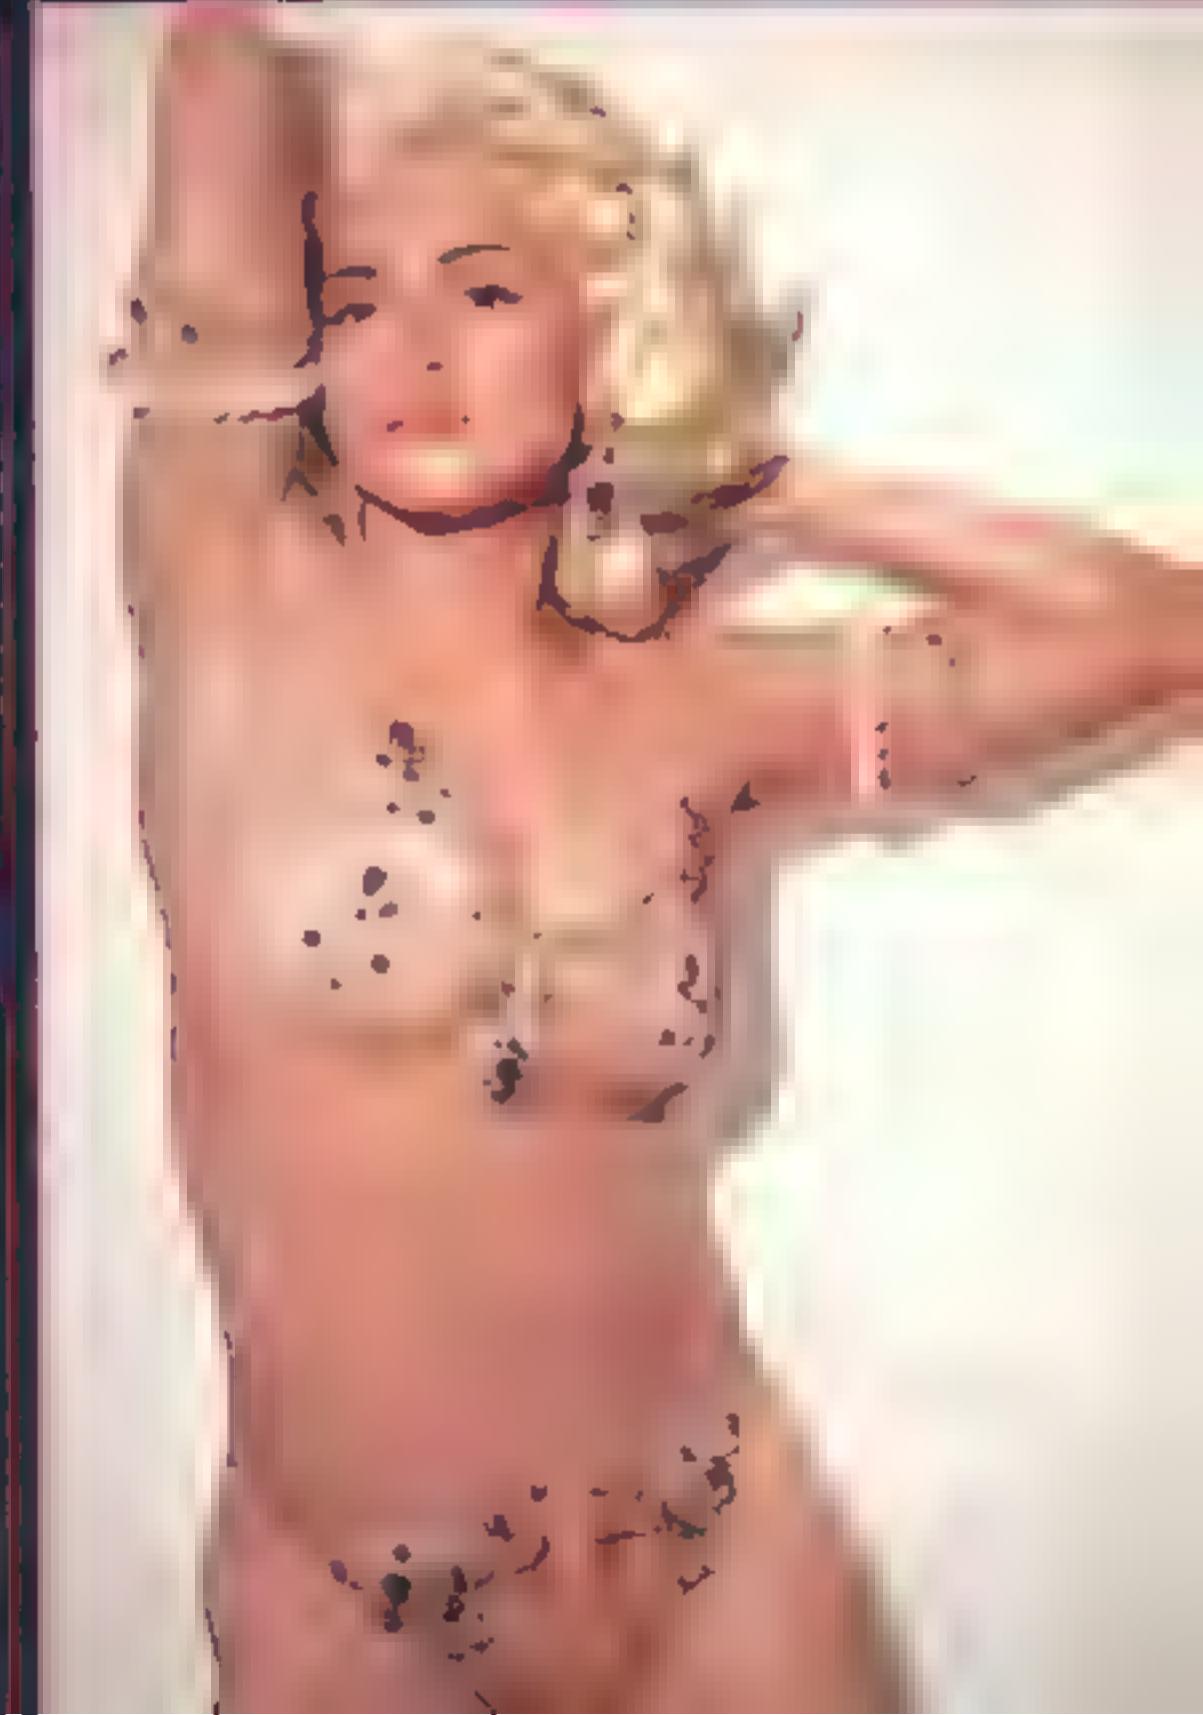

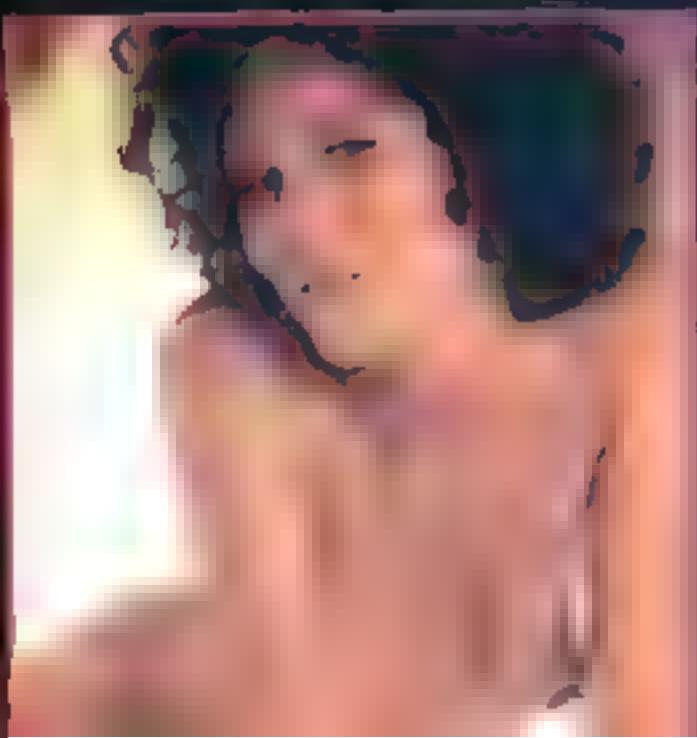

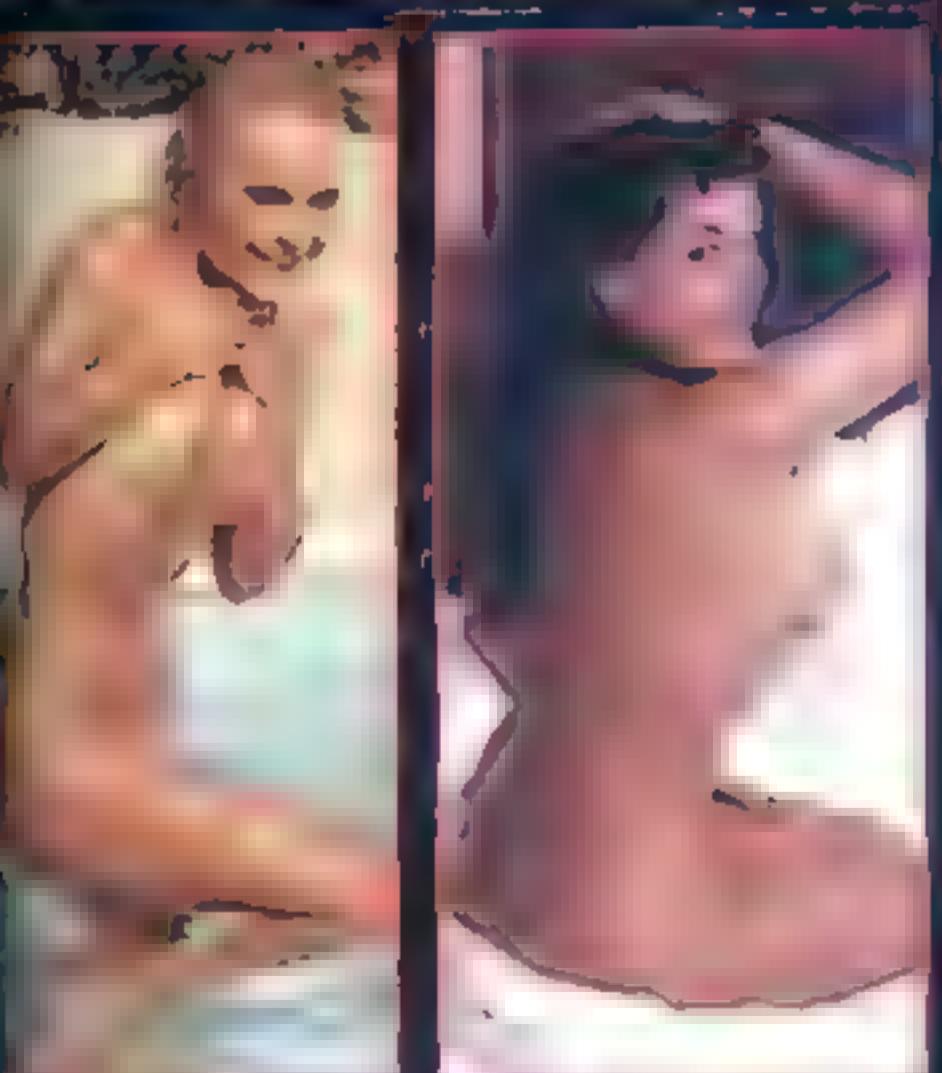

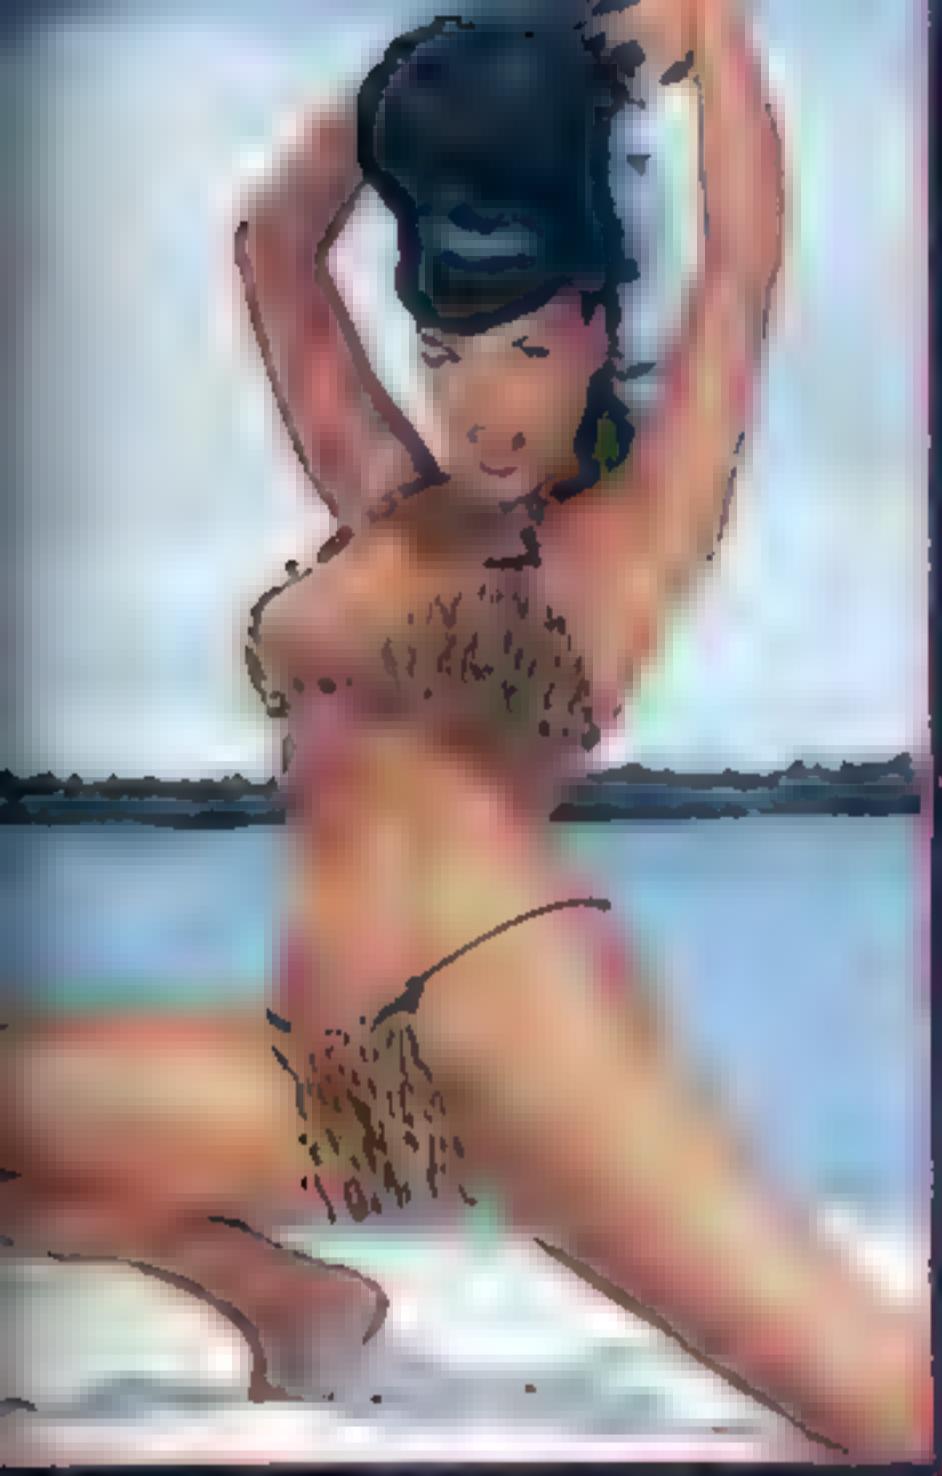

36. HEATHER LOCKLEAR

36. MADONNA

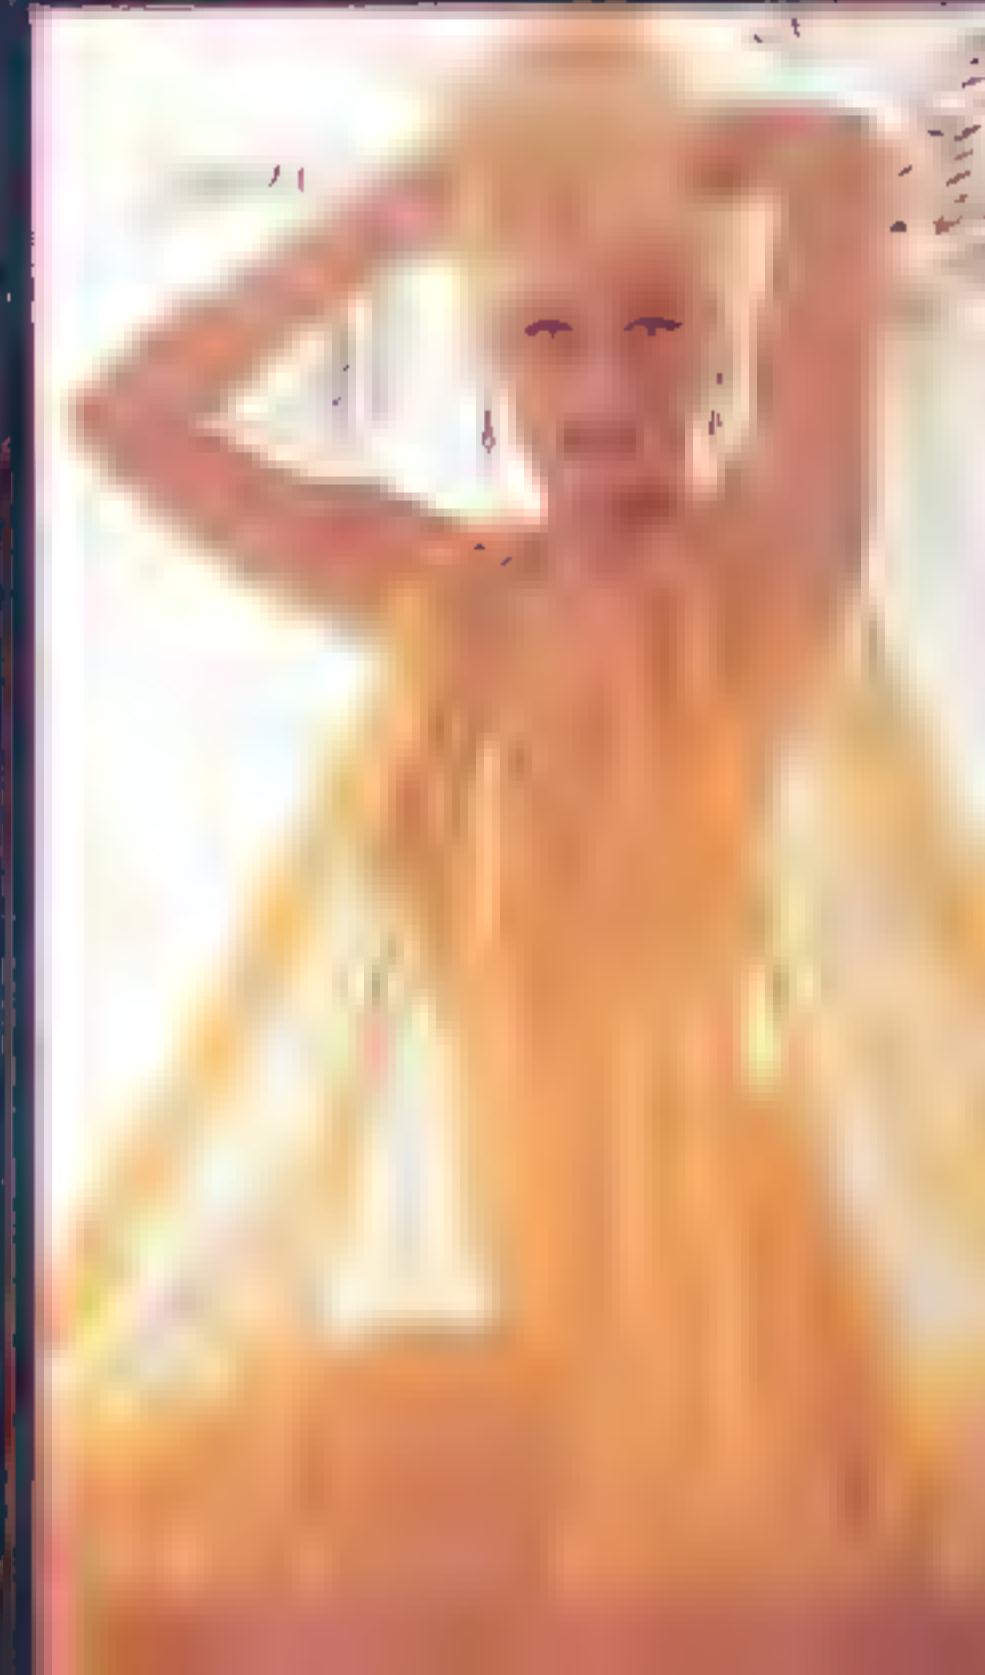

35. LINDA LOVELACE

ELKE SOMMER 10. JUNE WILKINSON

33. BETTIE PAGE

32. MARLENE DIETRICH

30. MAMIE VAN DOREN

DR. JANE FONDA

DR. STELLA STEVENS

DR. SHARON STONE

DR. GRACE KELLY

DR. LANA TURNER

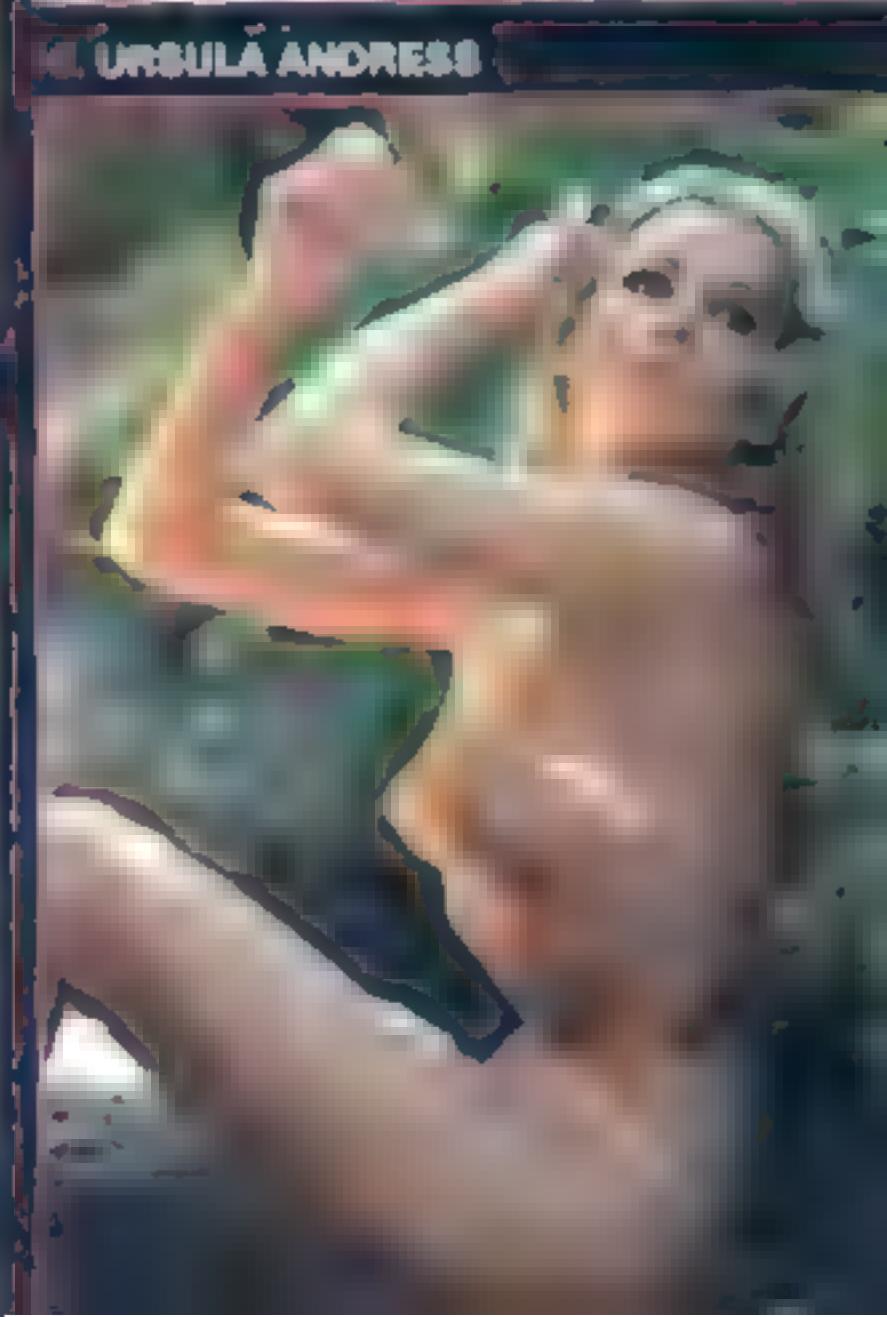

MR. EVELYN NESBIT

MISS GINA LOLLOBRIGIDA

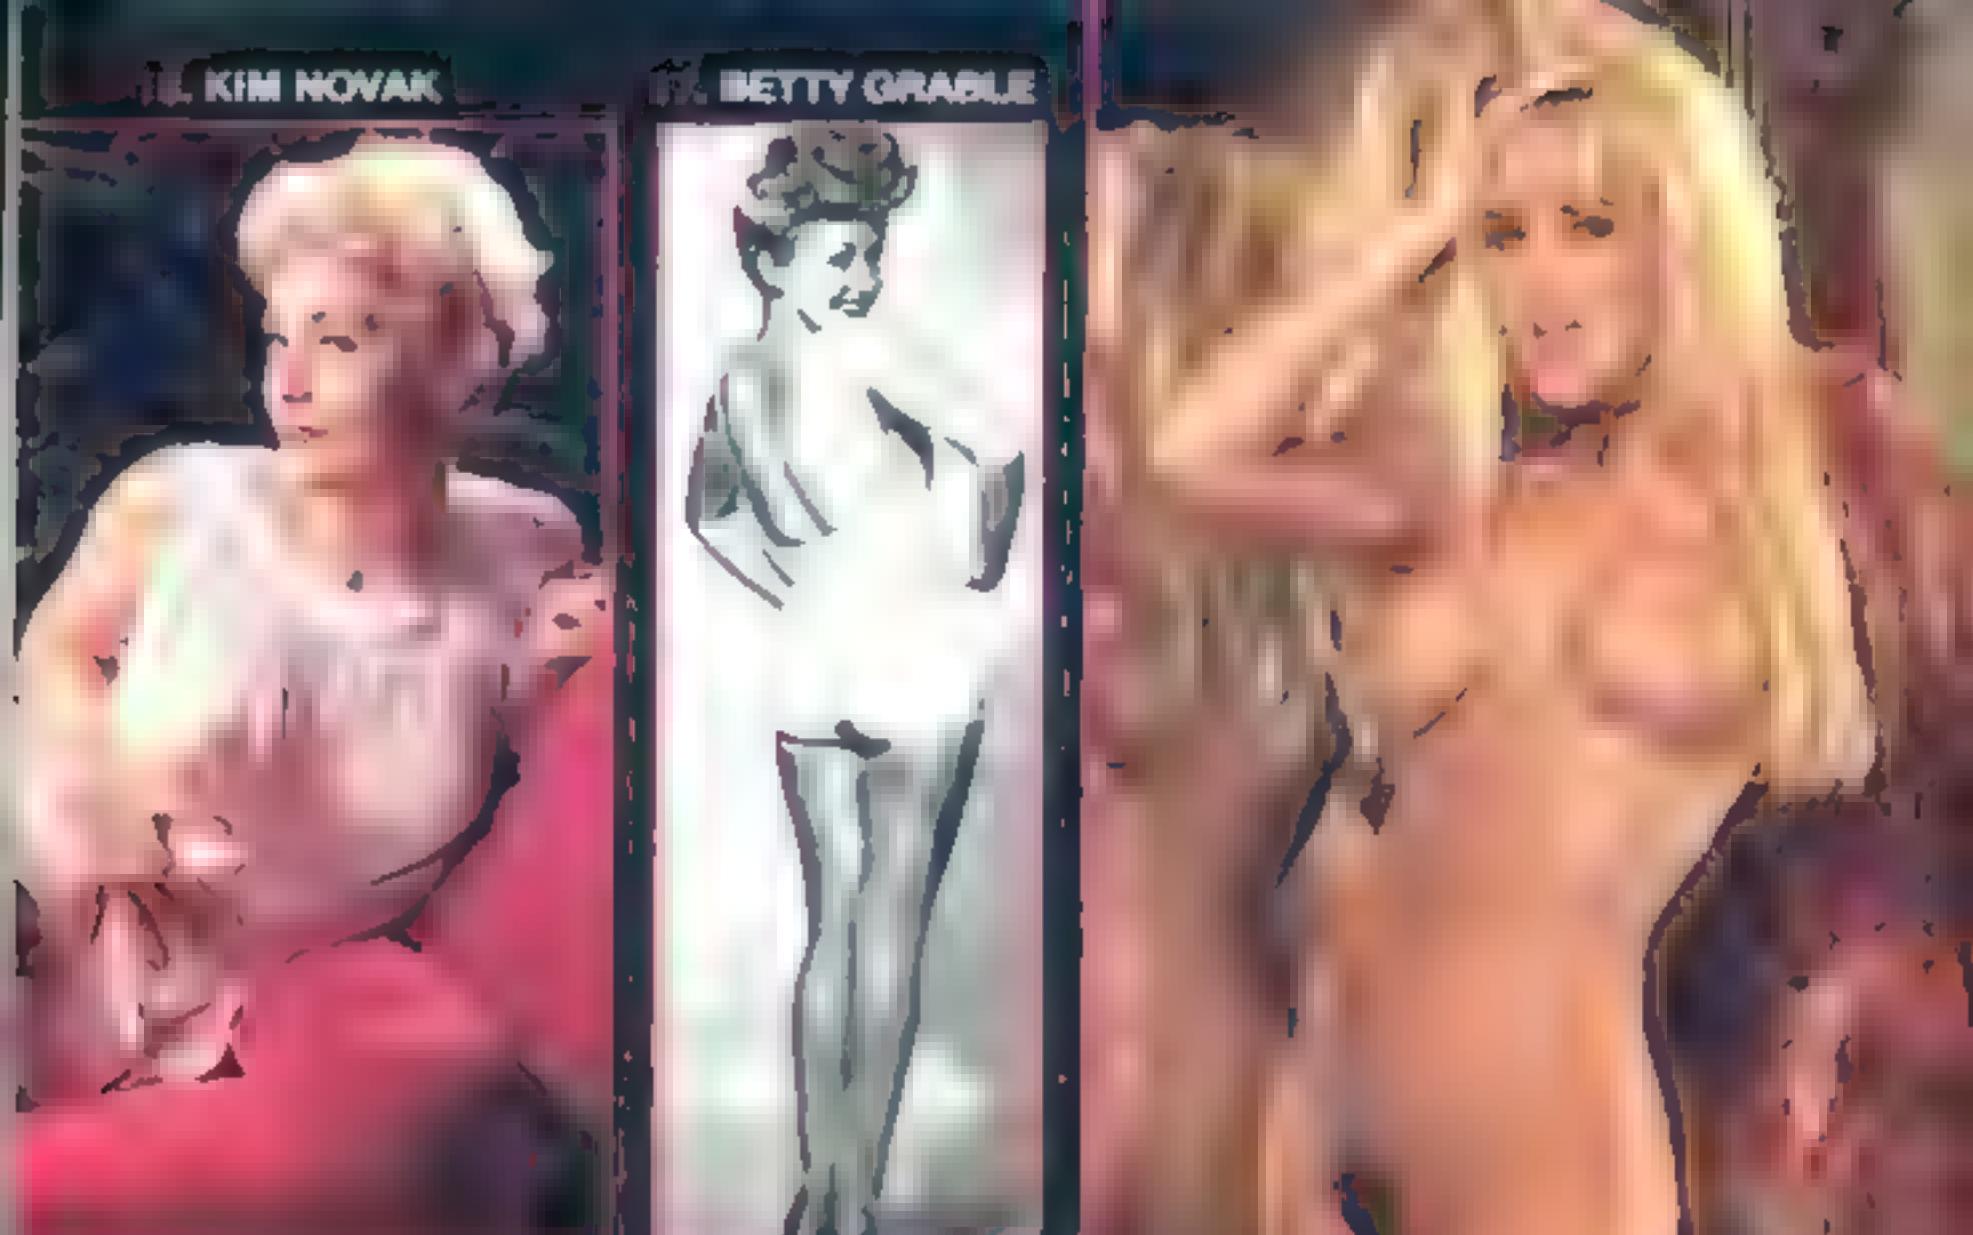

MRS. URSULA ANDRESS

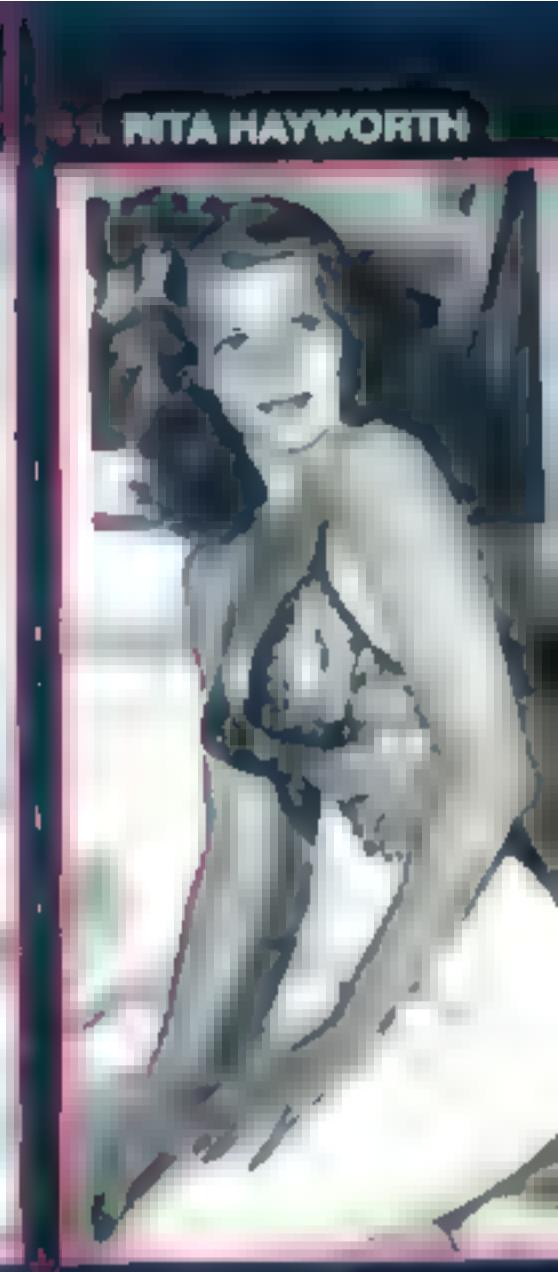

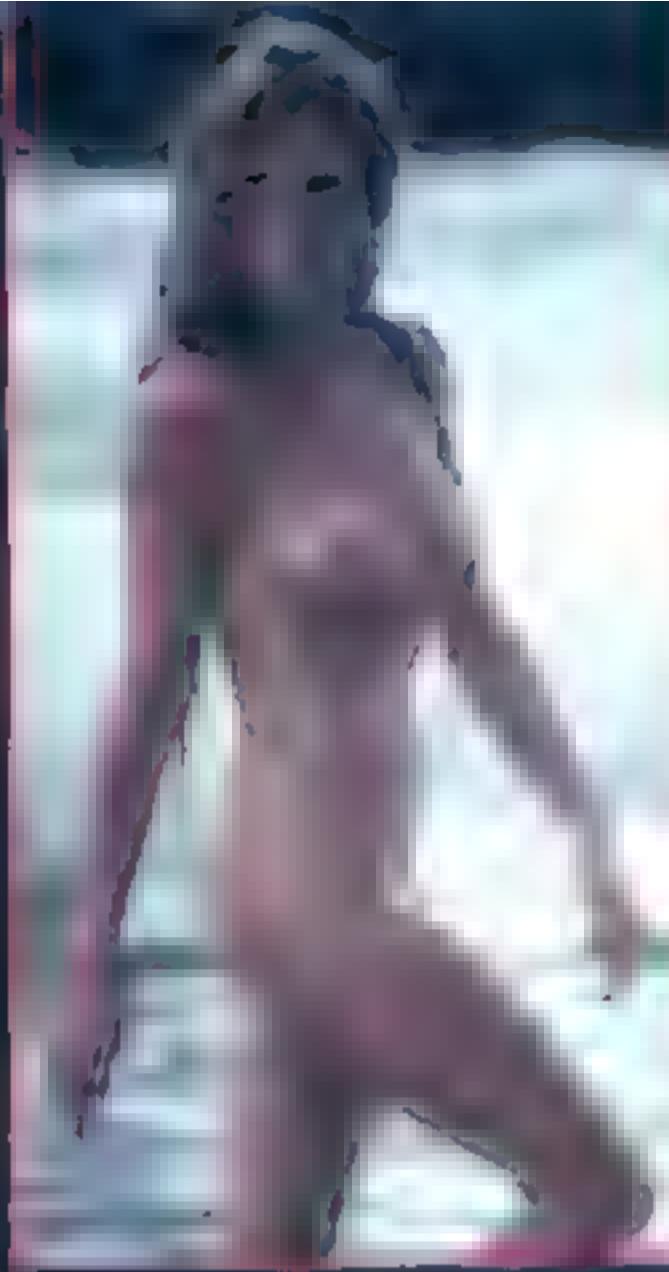

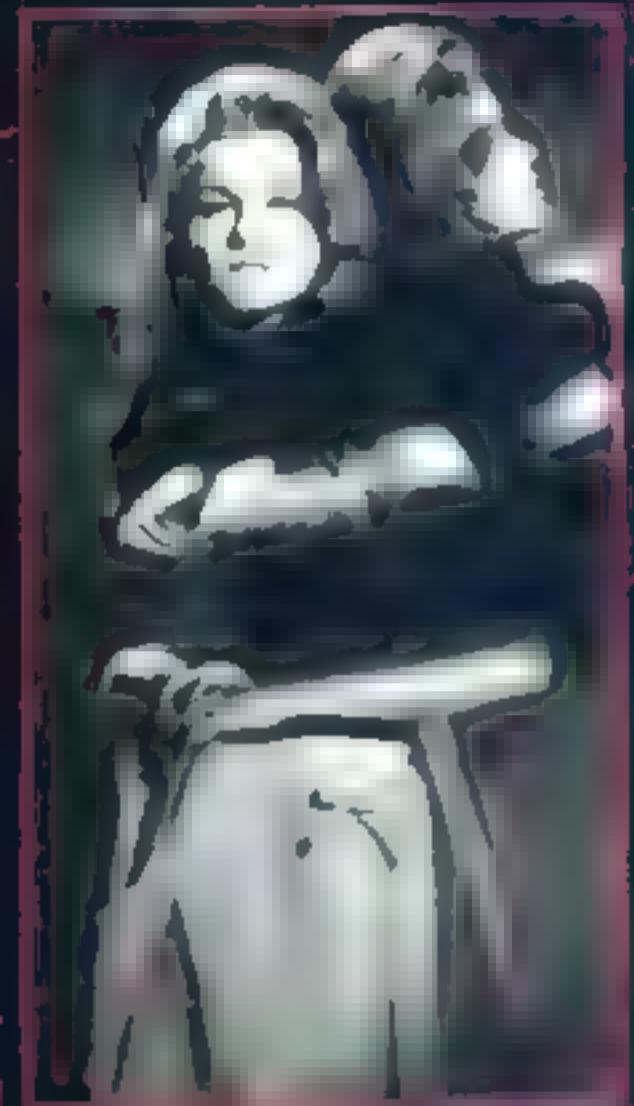

MRS. JANE RUSSELL

MISS ELLE MACPHERSON

12. KIM BASINGER

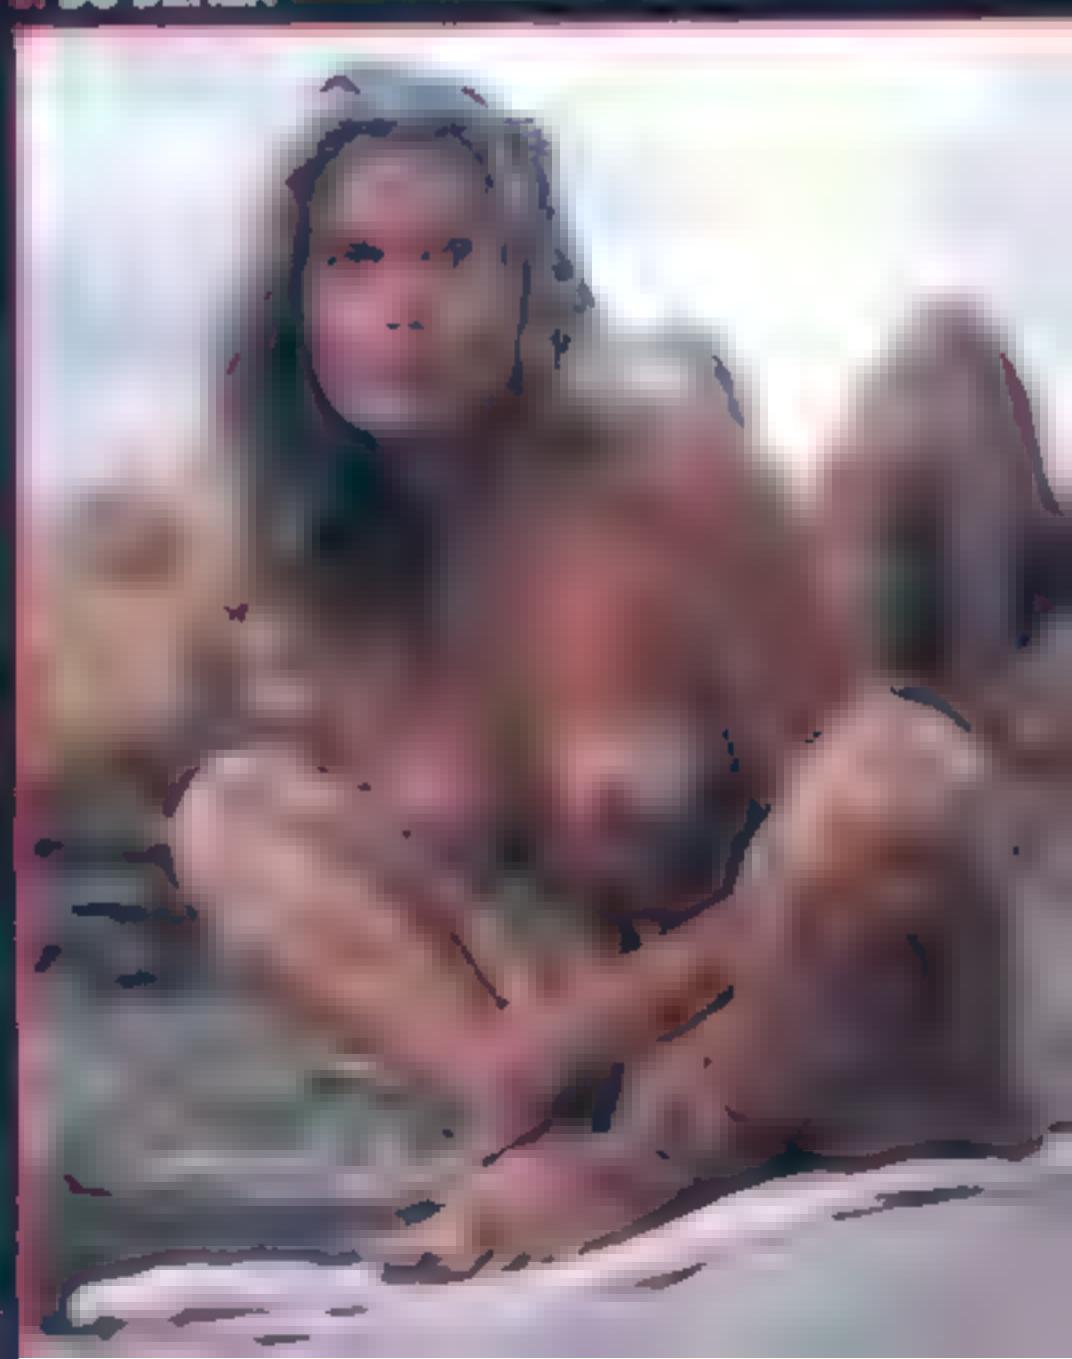

13. ANN-MARGRET

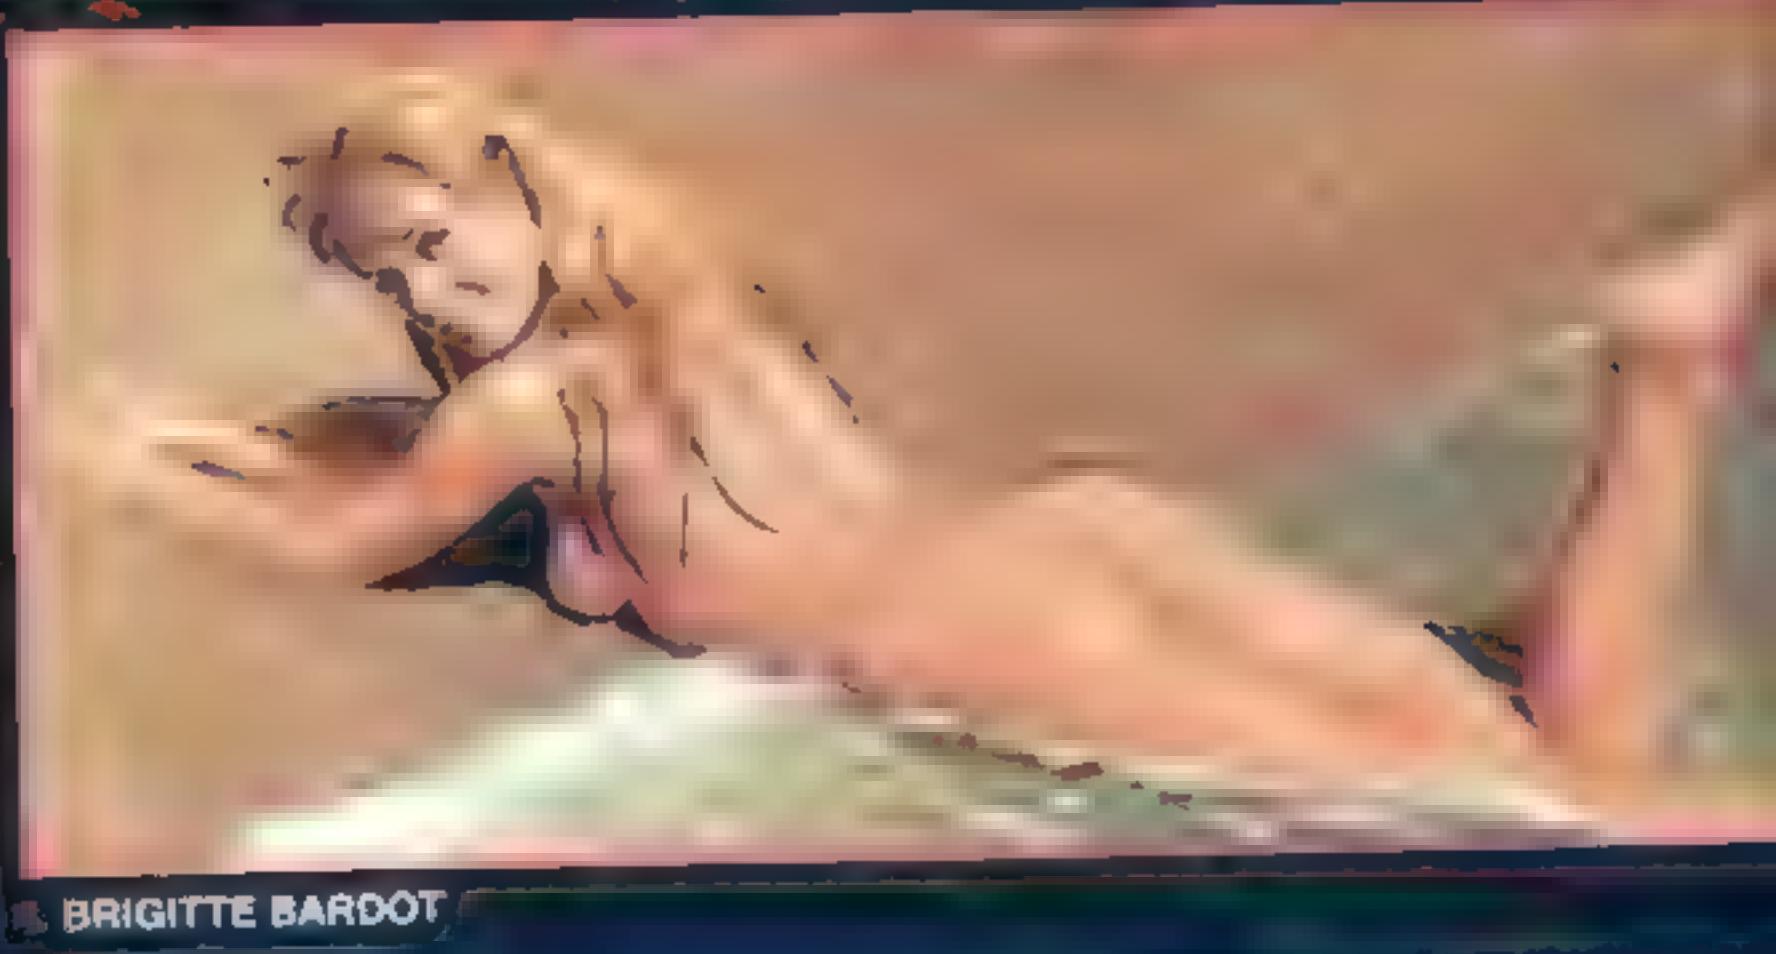

14. JEAN HARLOW

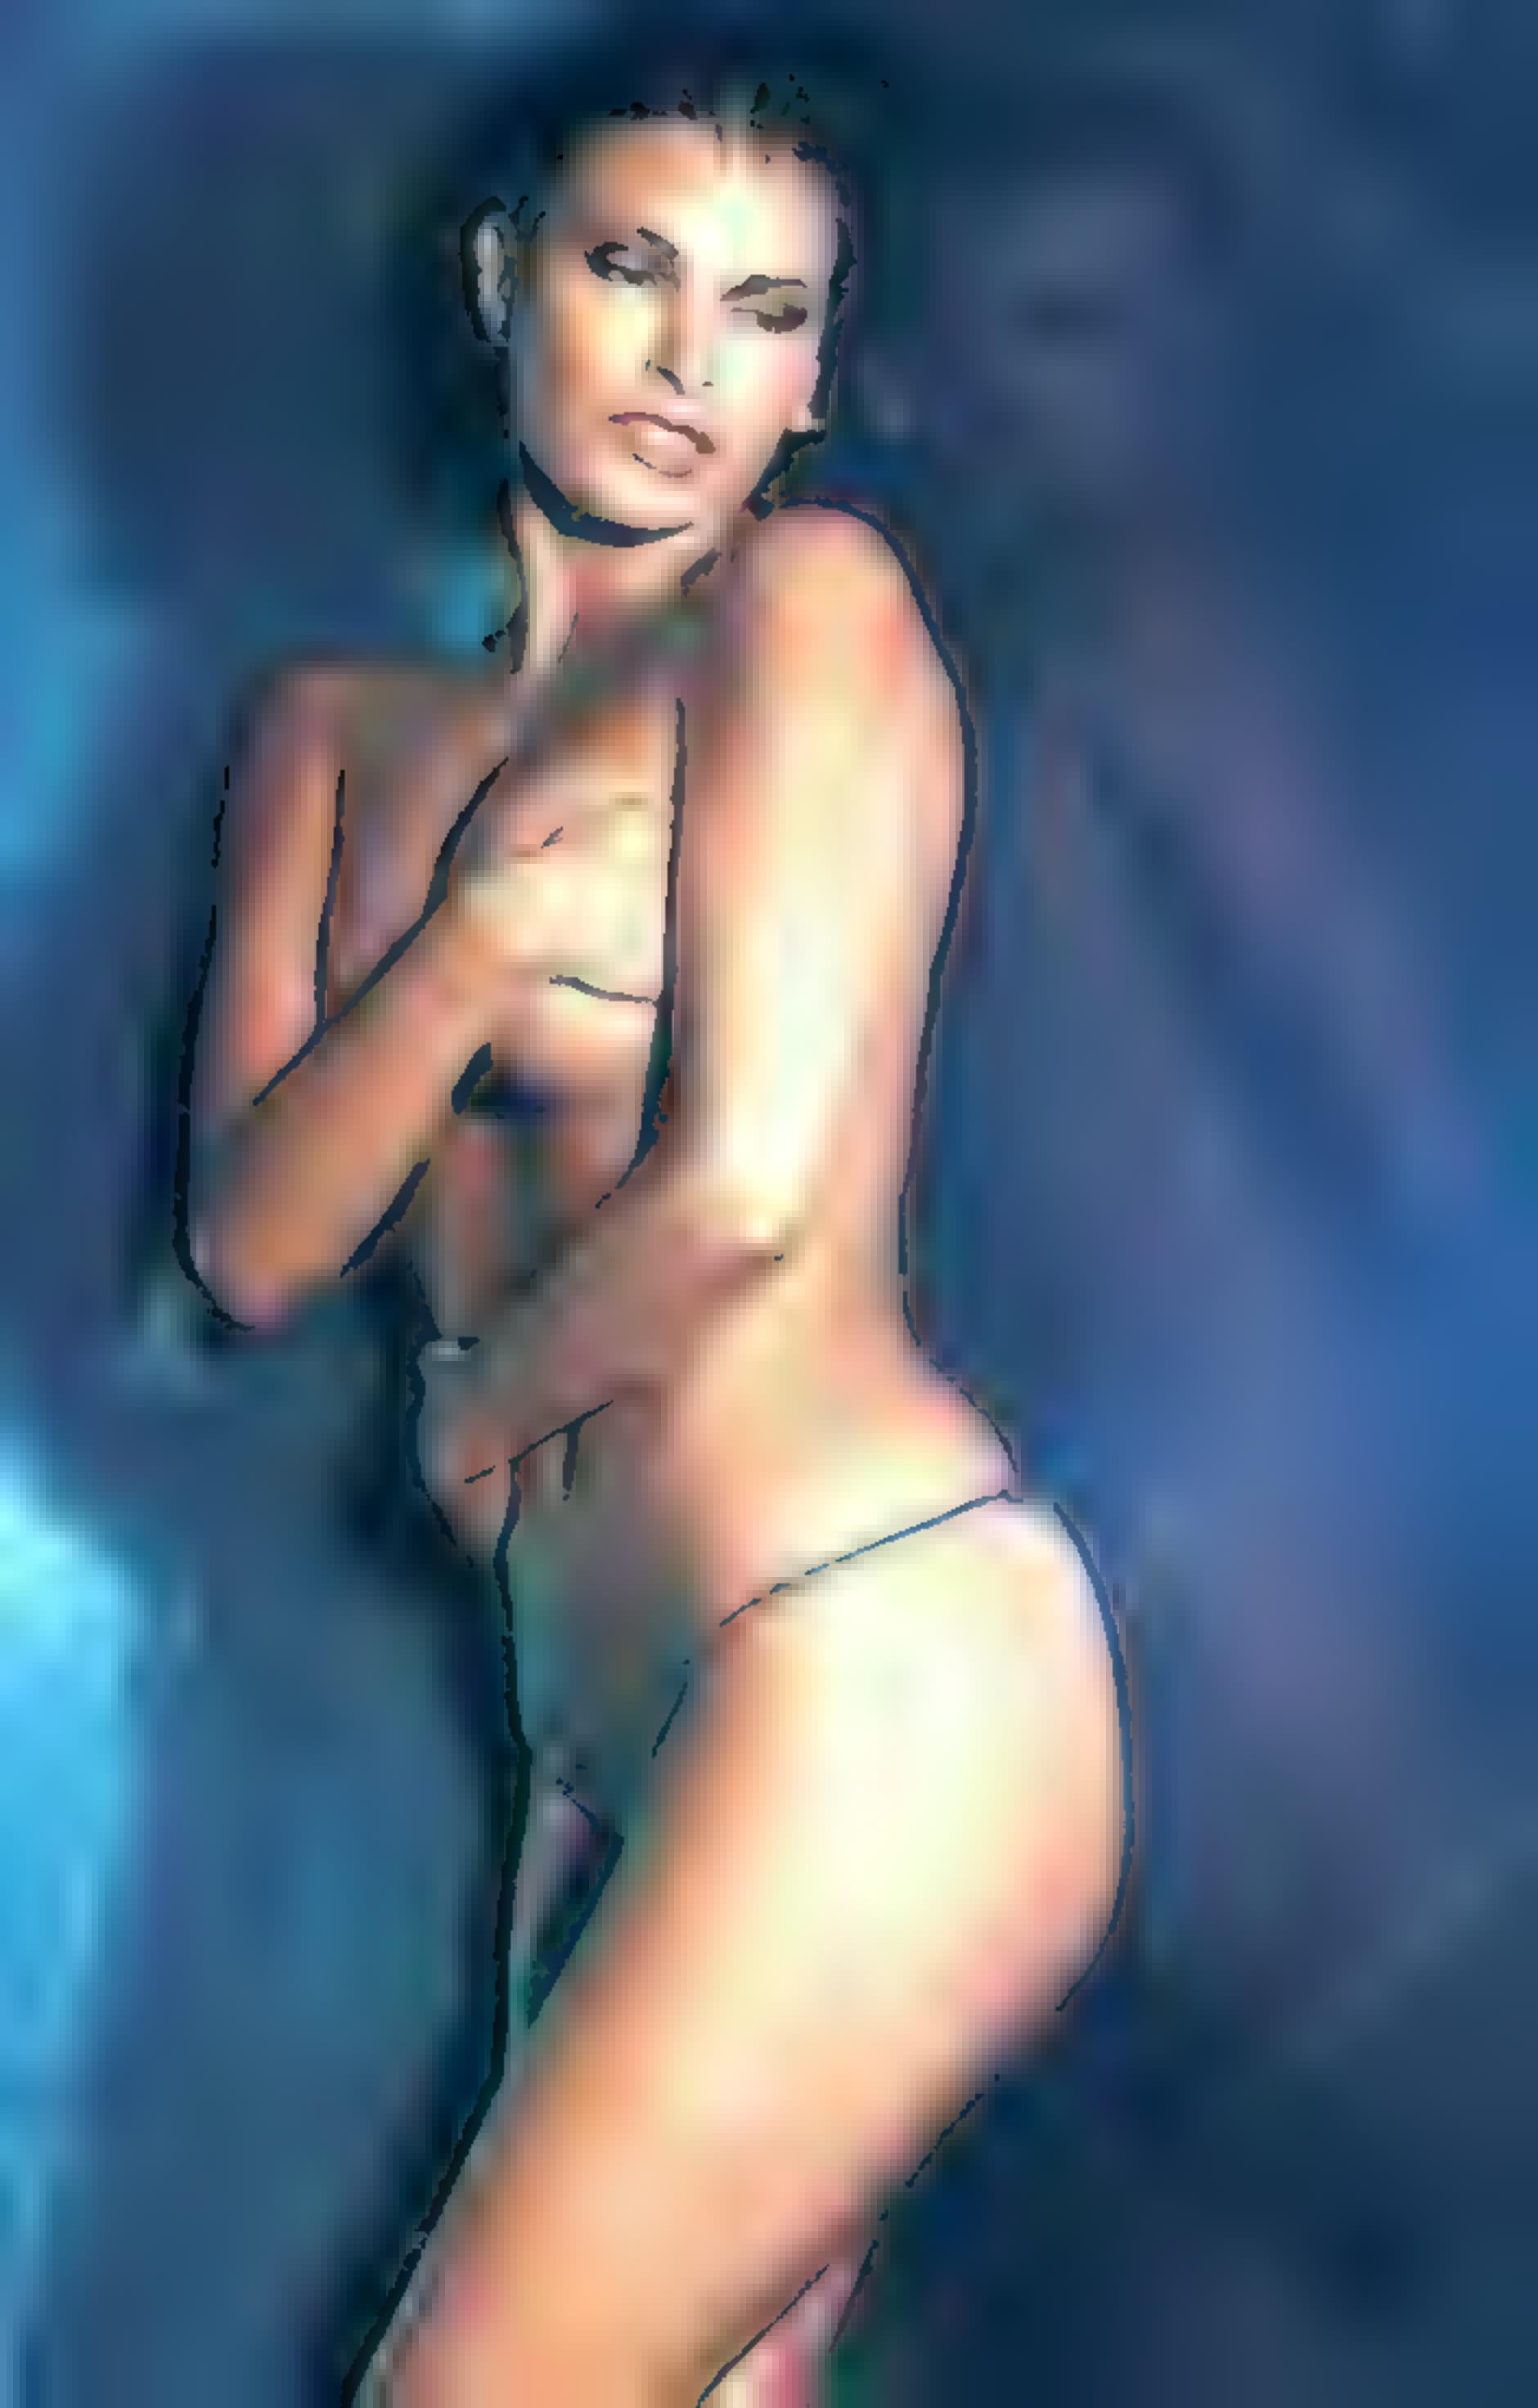

15. BO DEREK

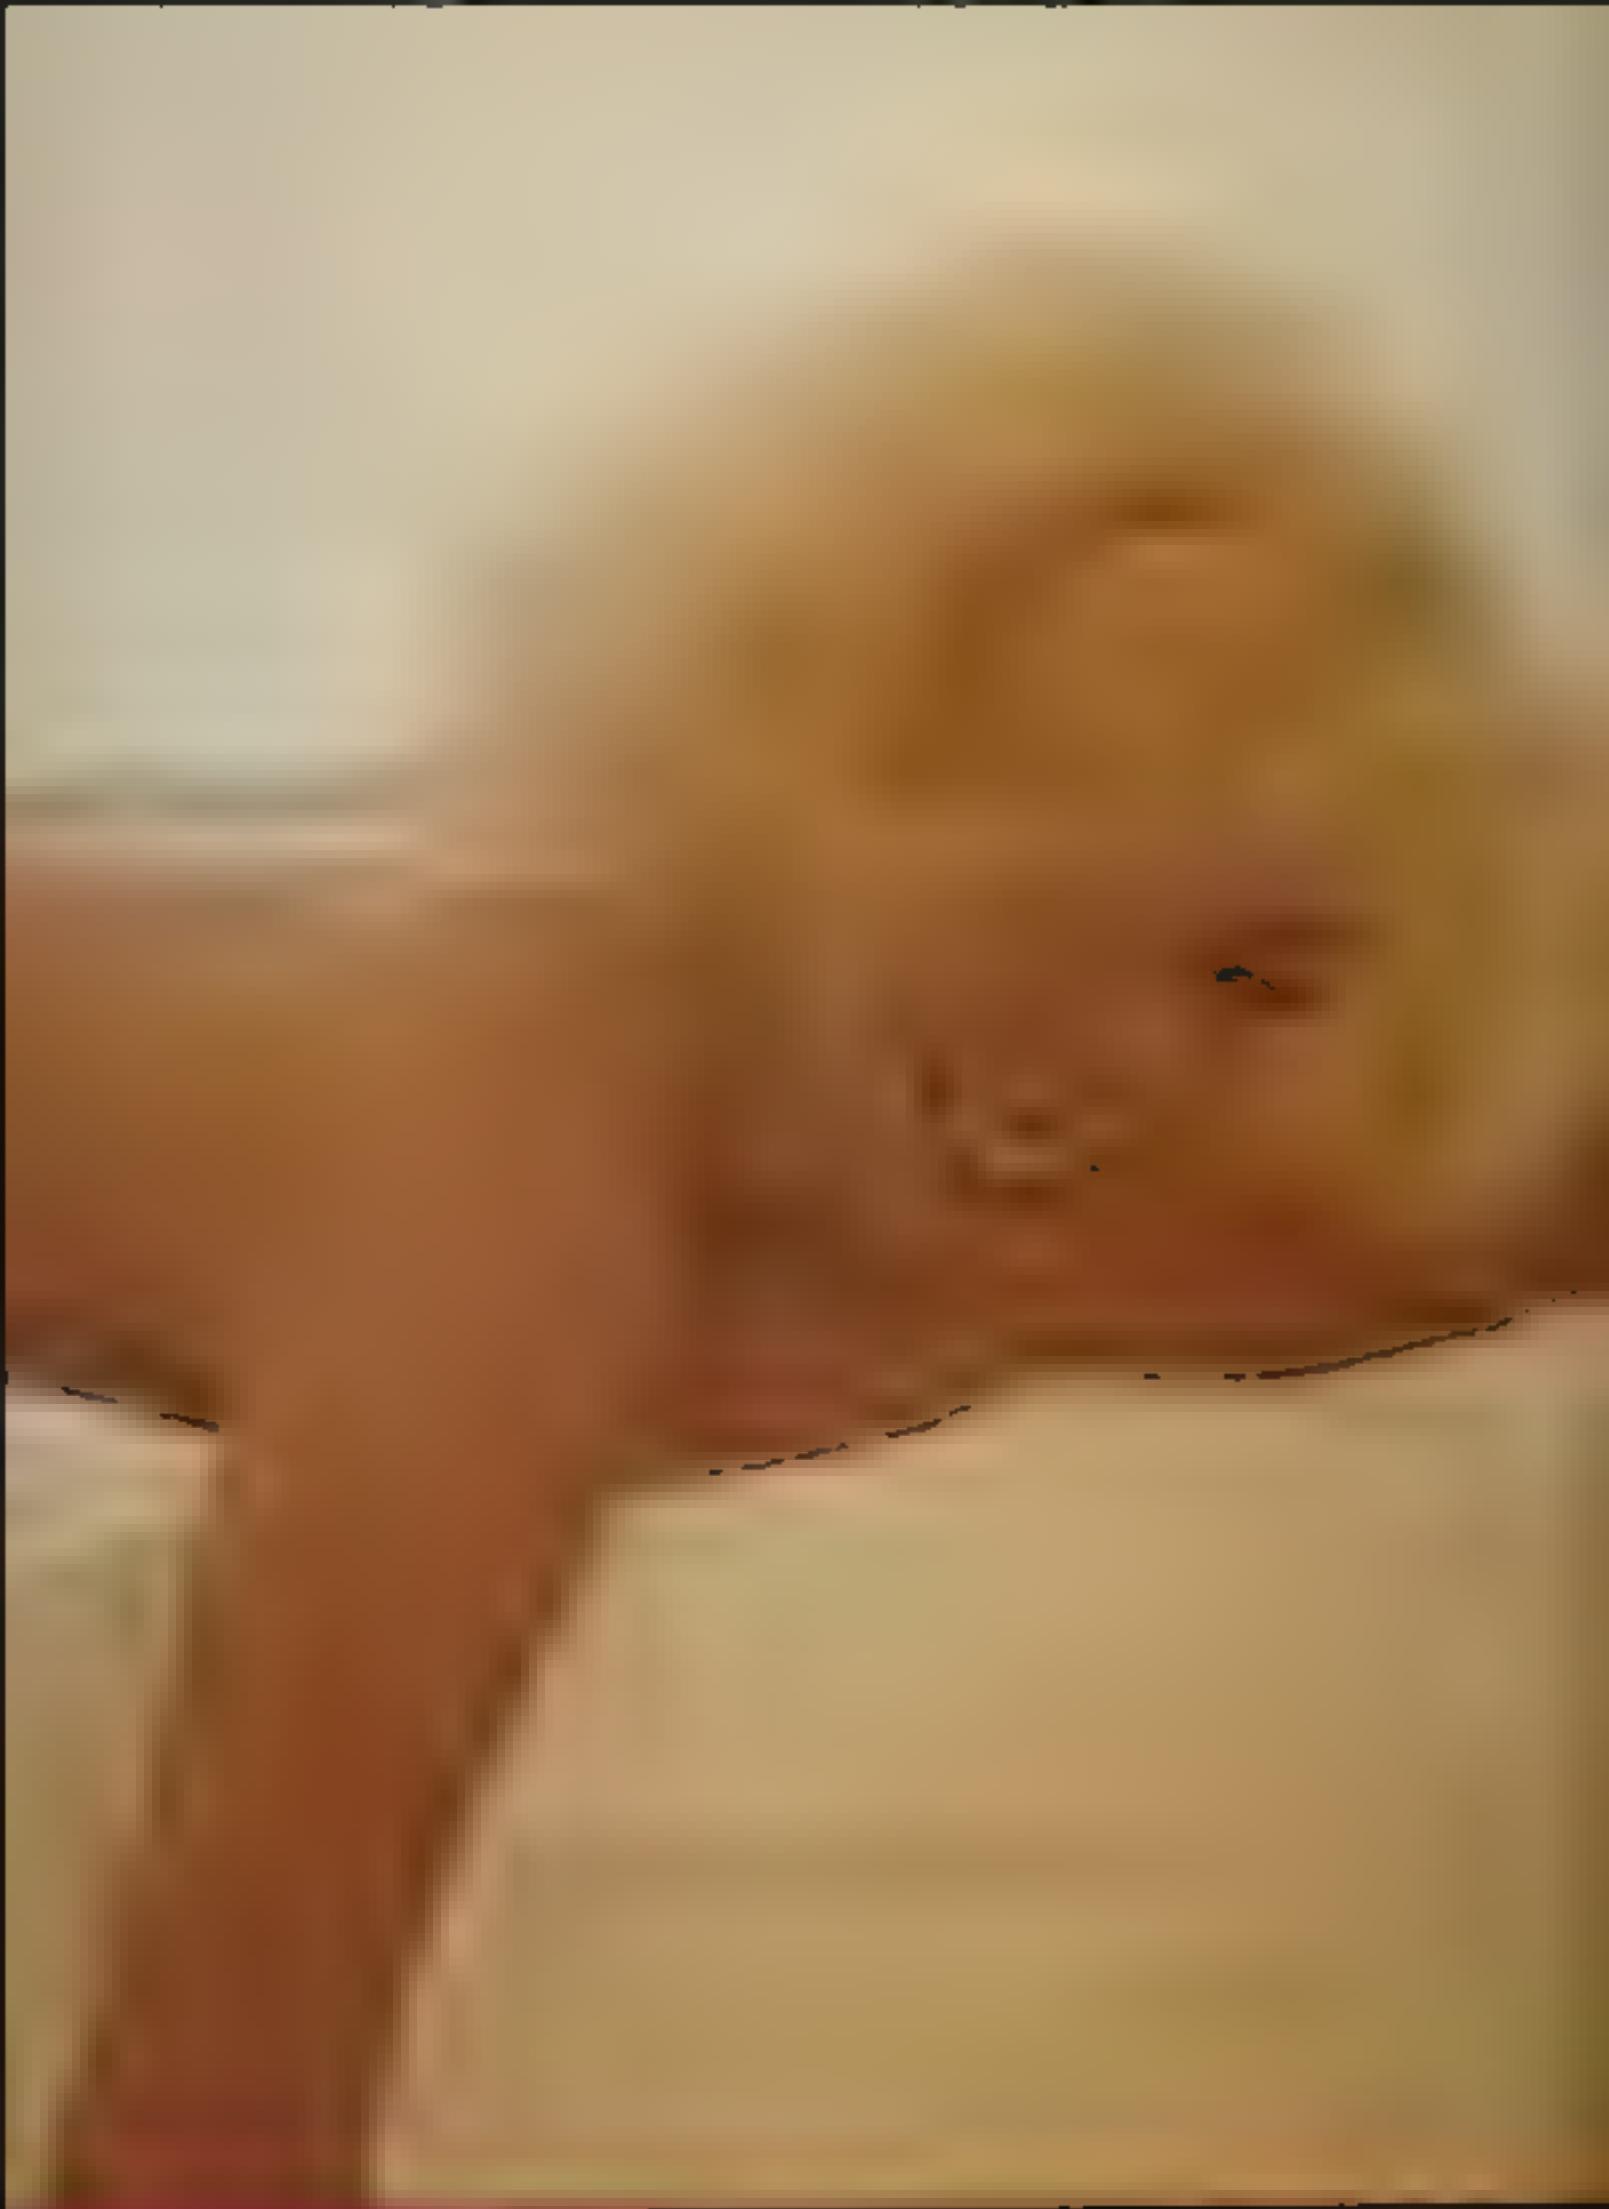

• PAMELA ANDERSON

• BRIGITTE BARDOT

© MARILYN MONROE

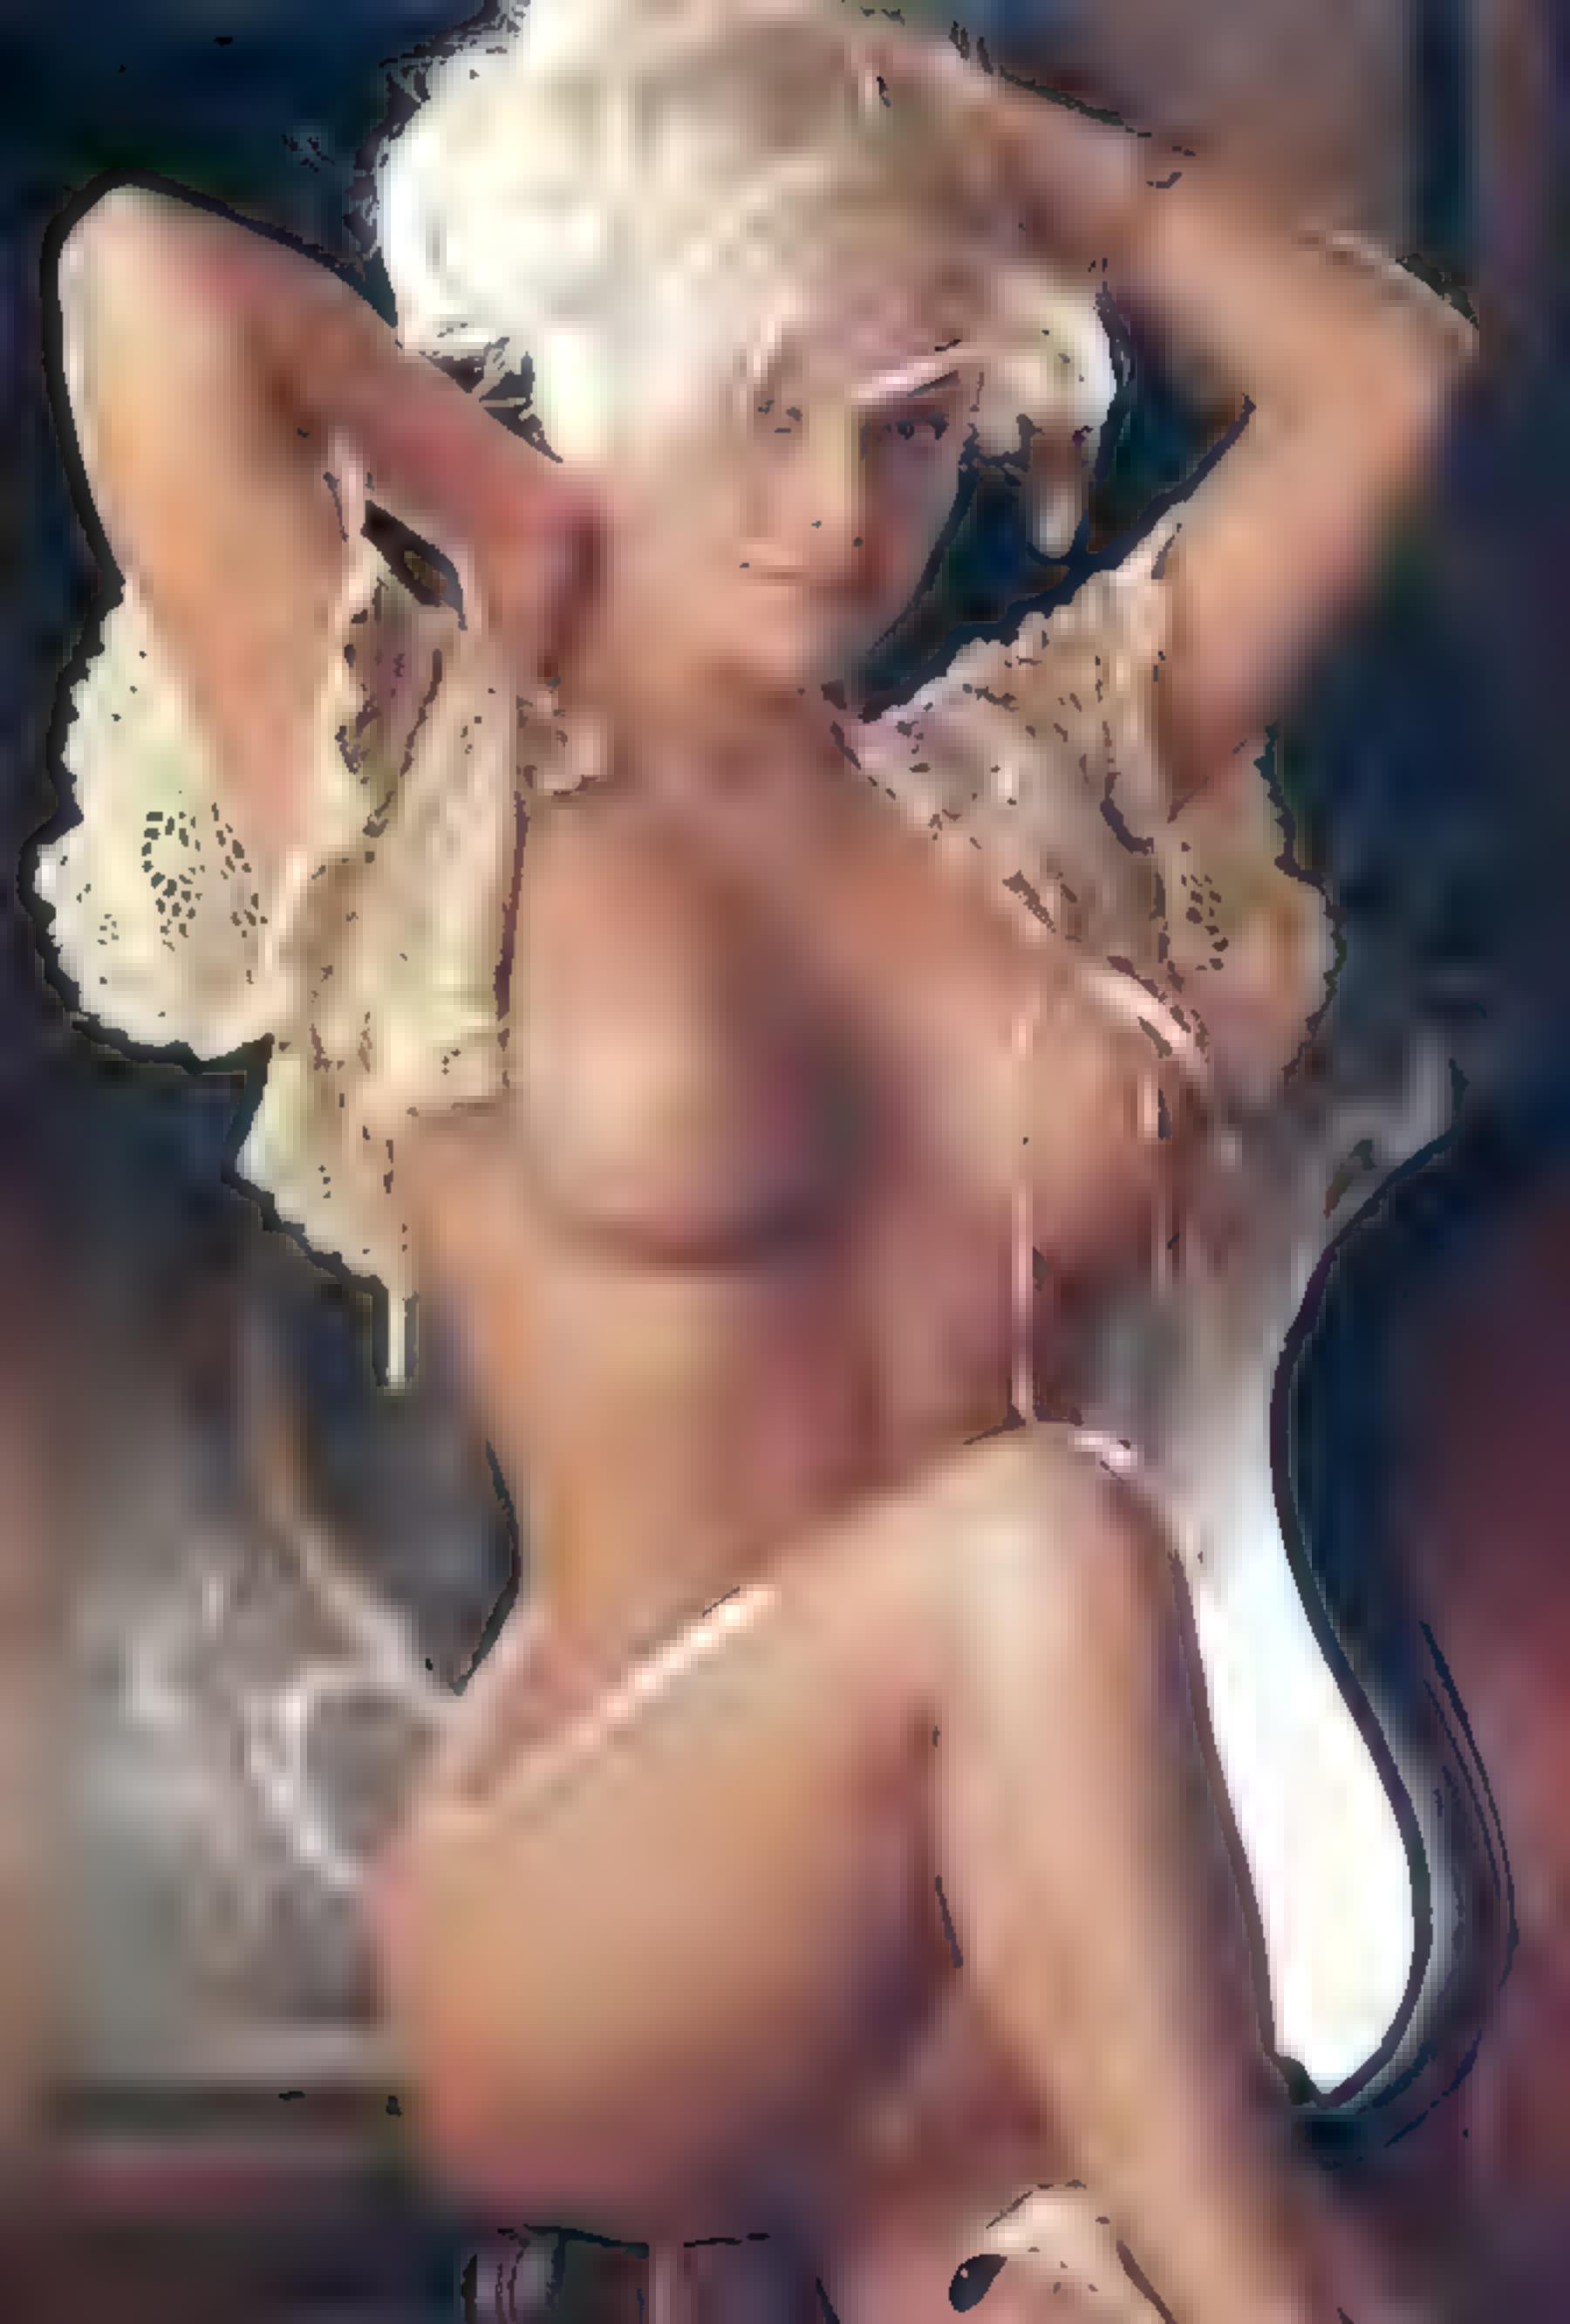

"Look, Daddy, I'm Santa Claus."

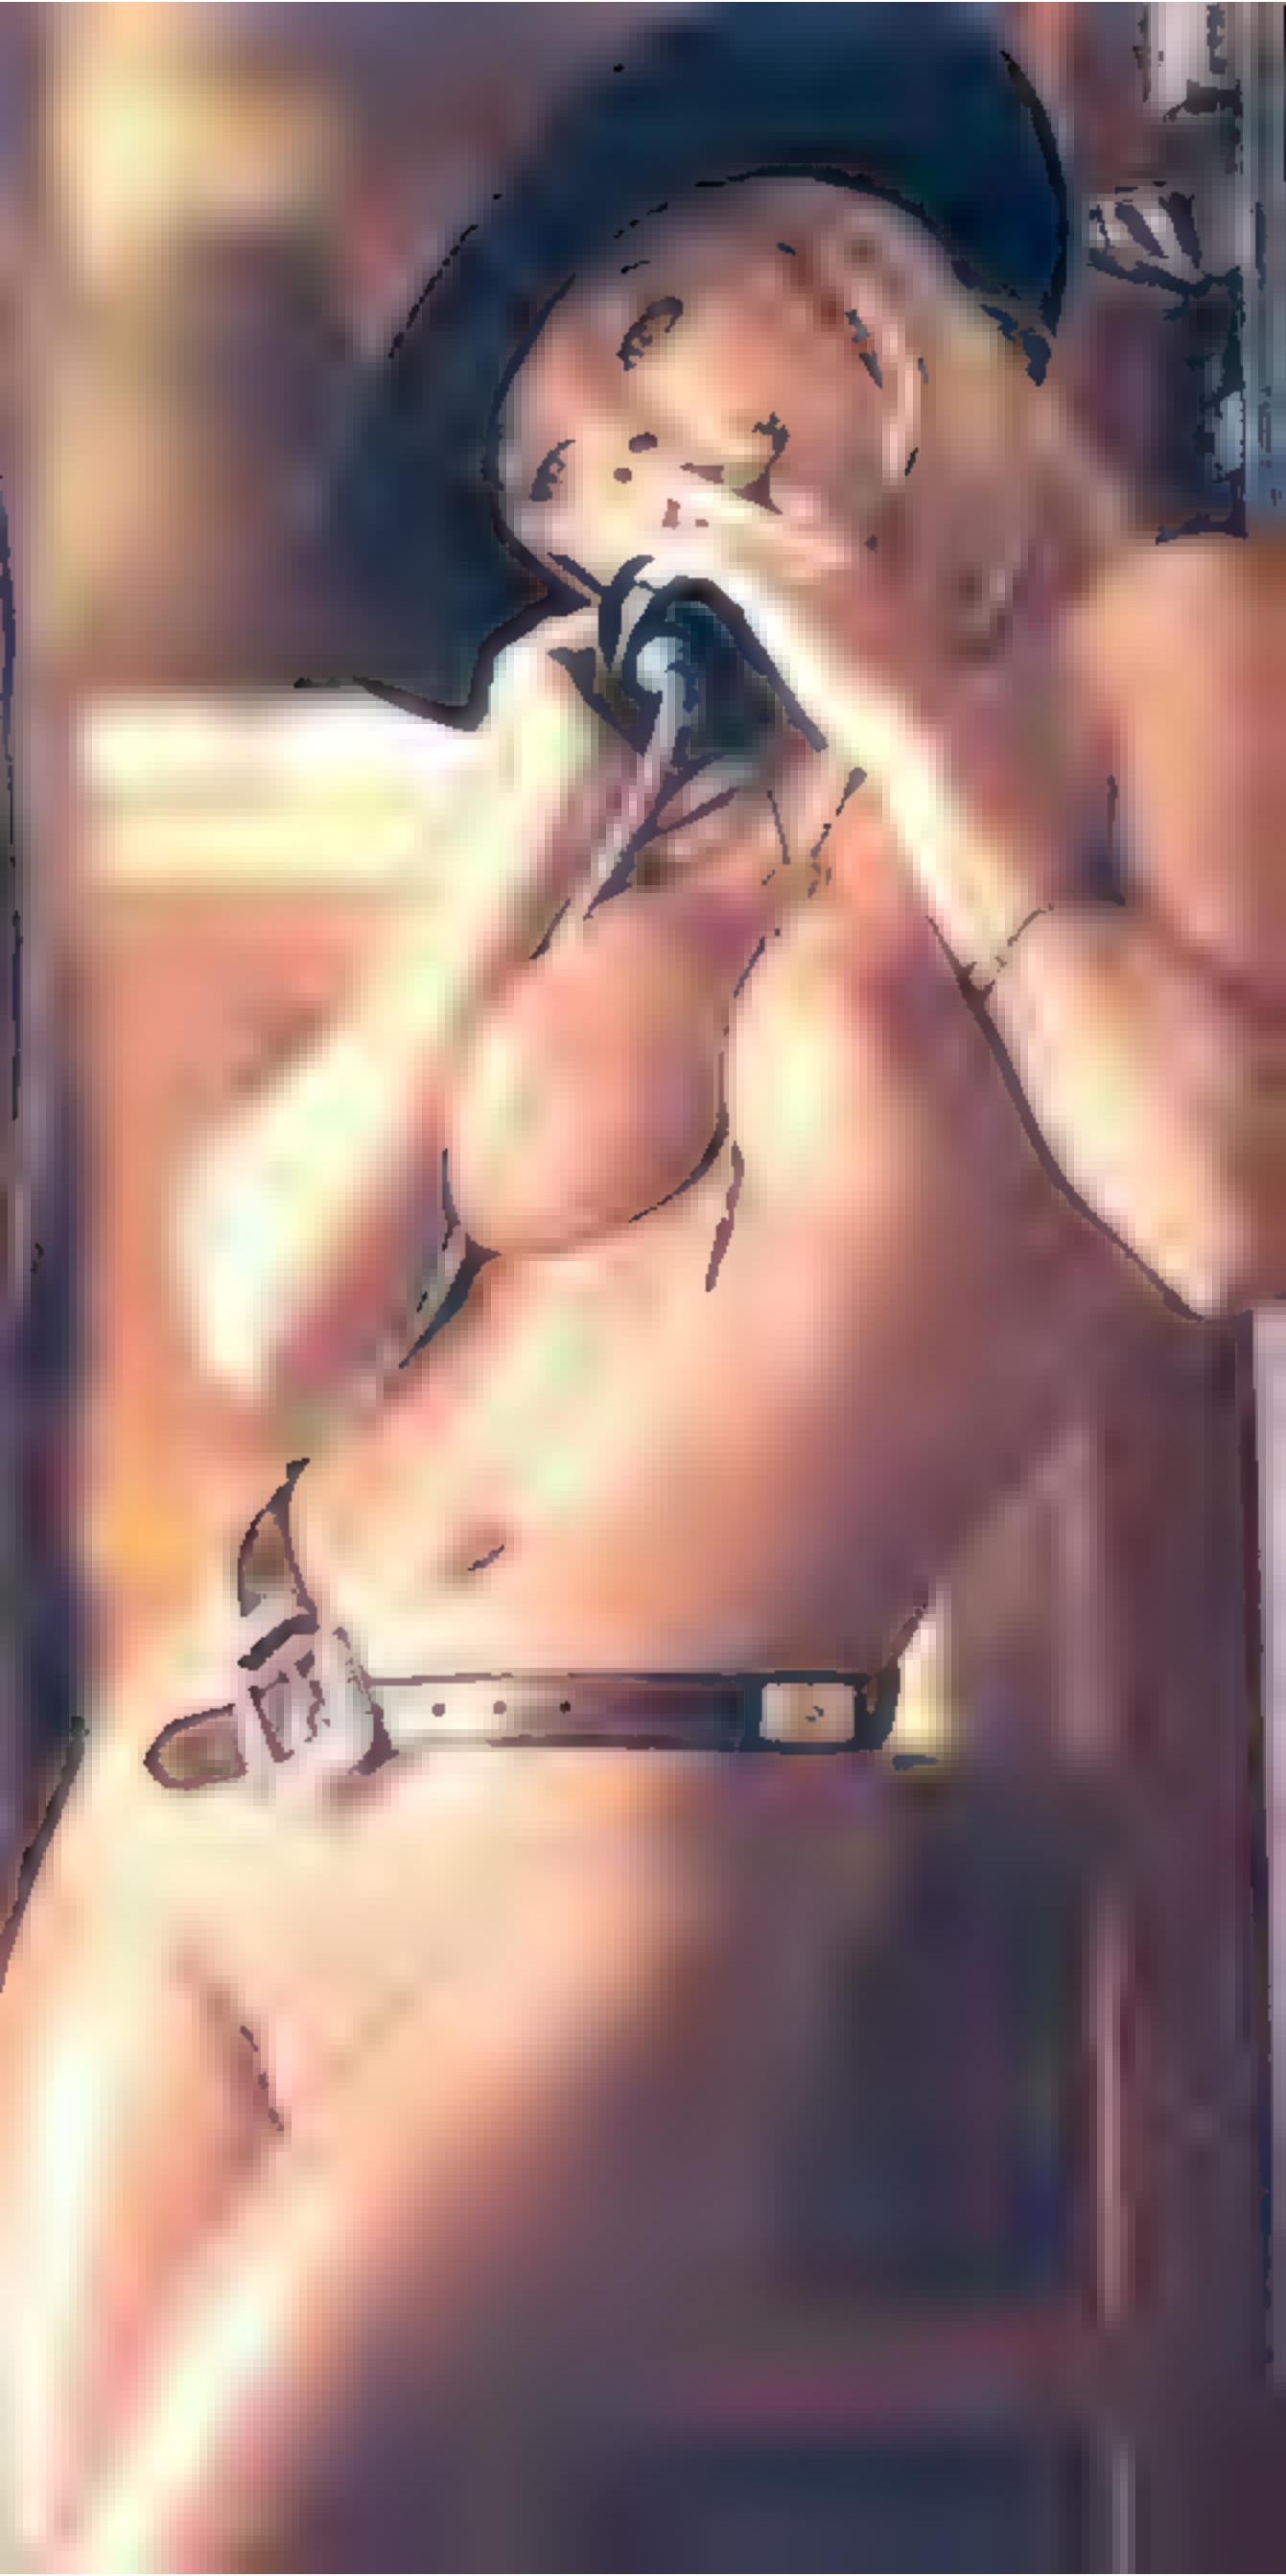

Playboy's 45th ANNIVERSARY Playmate

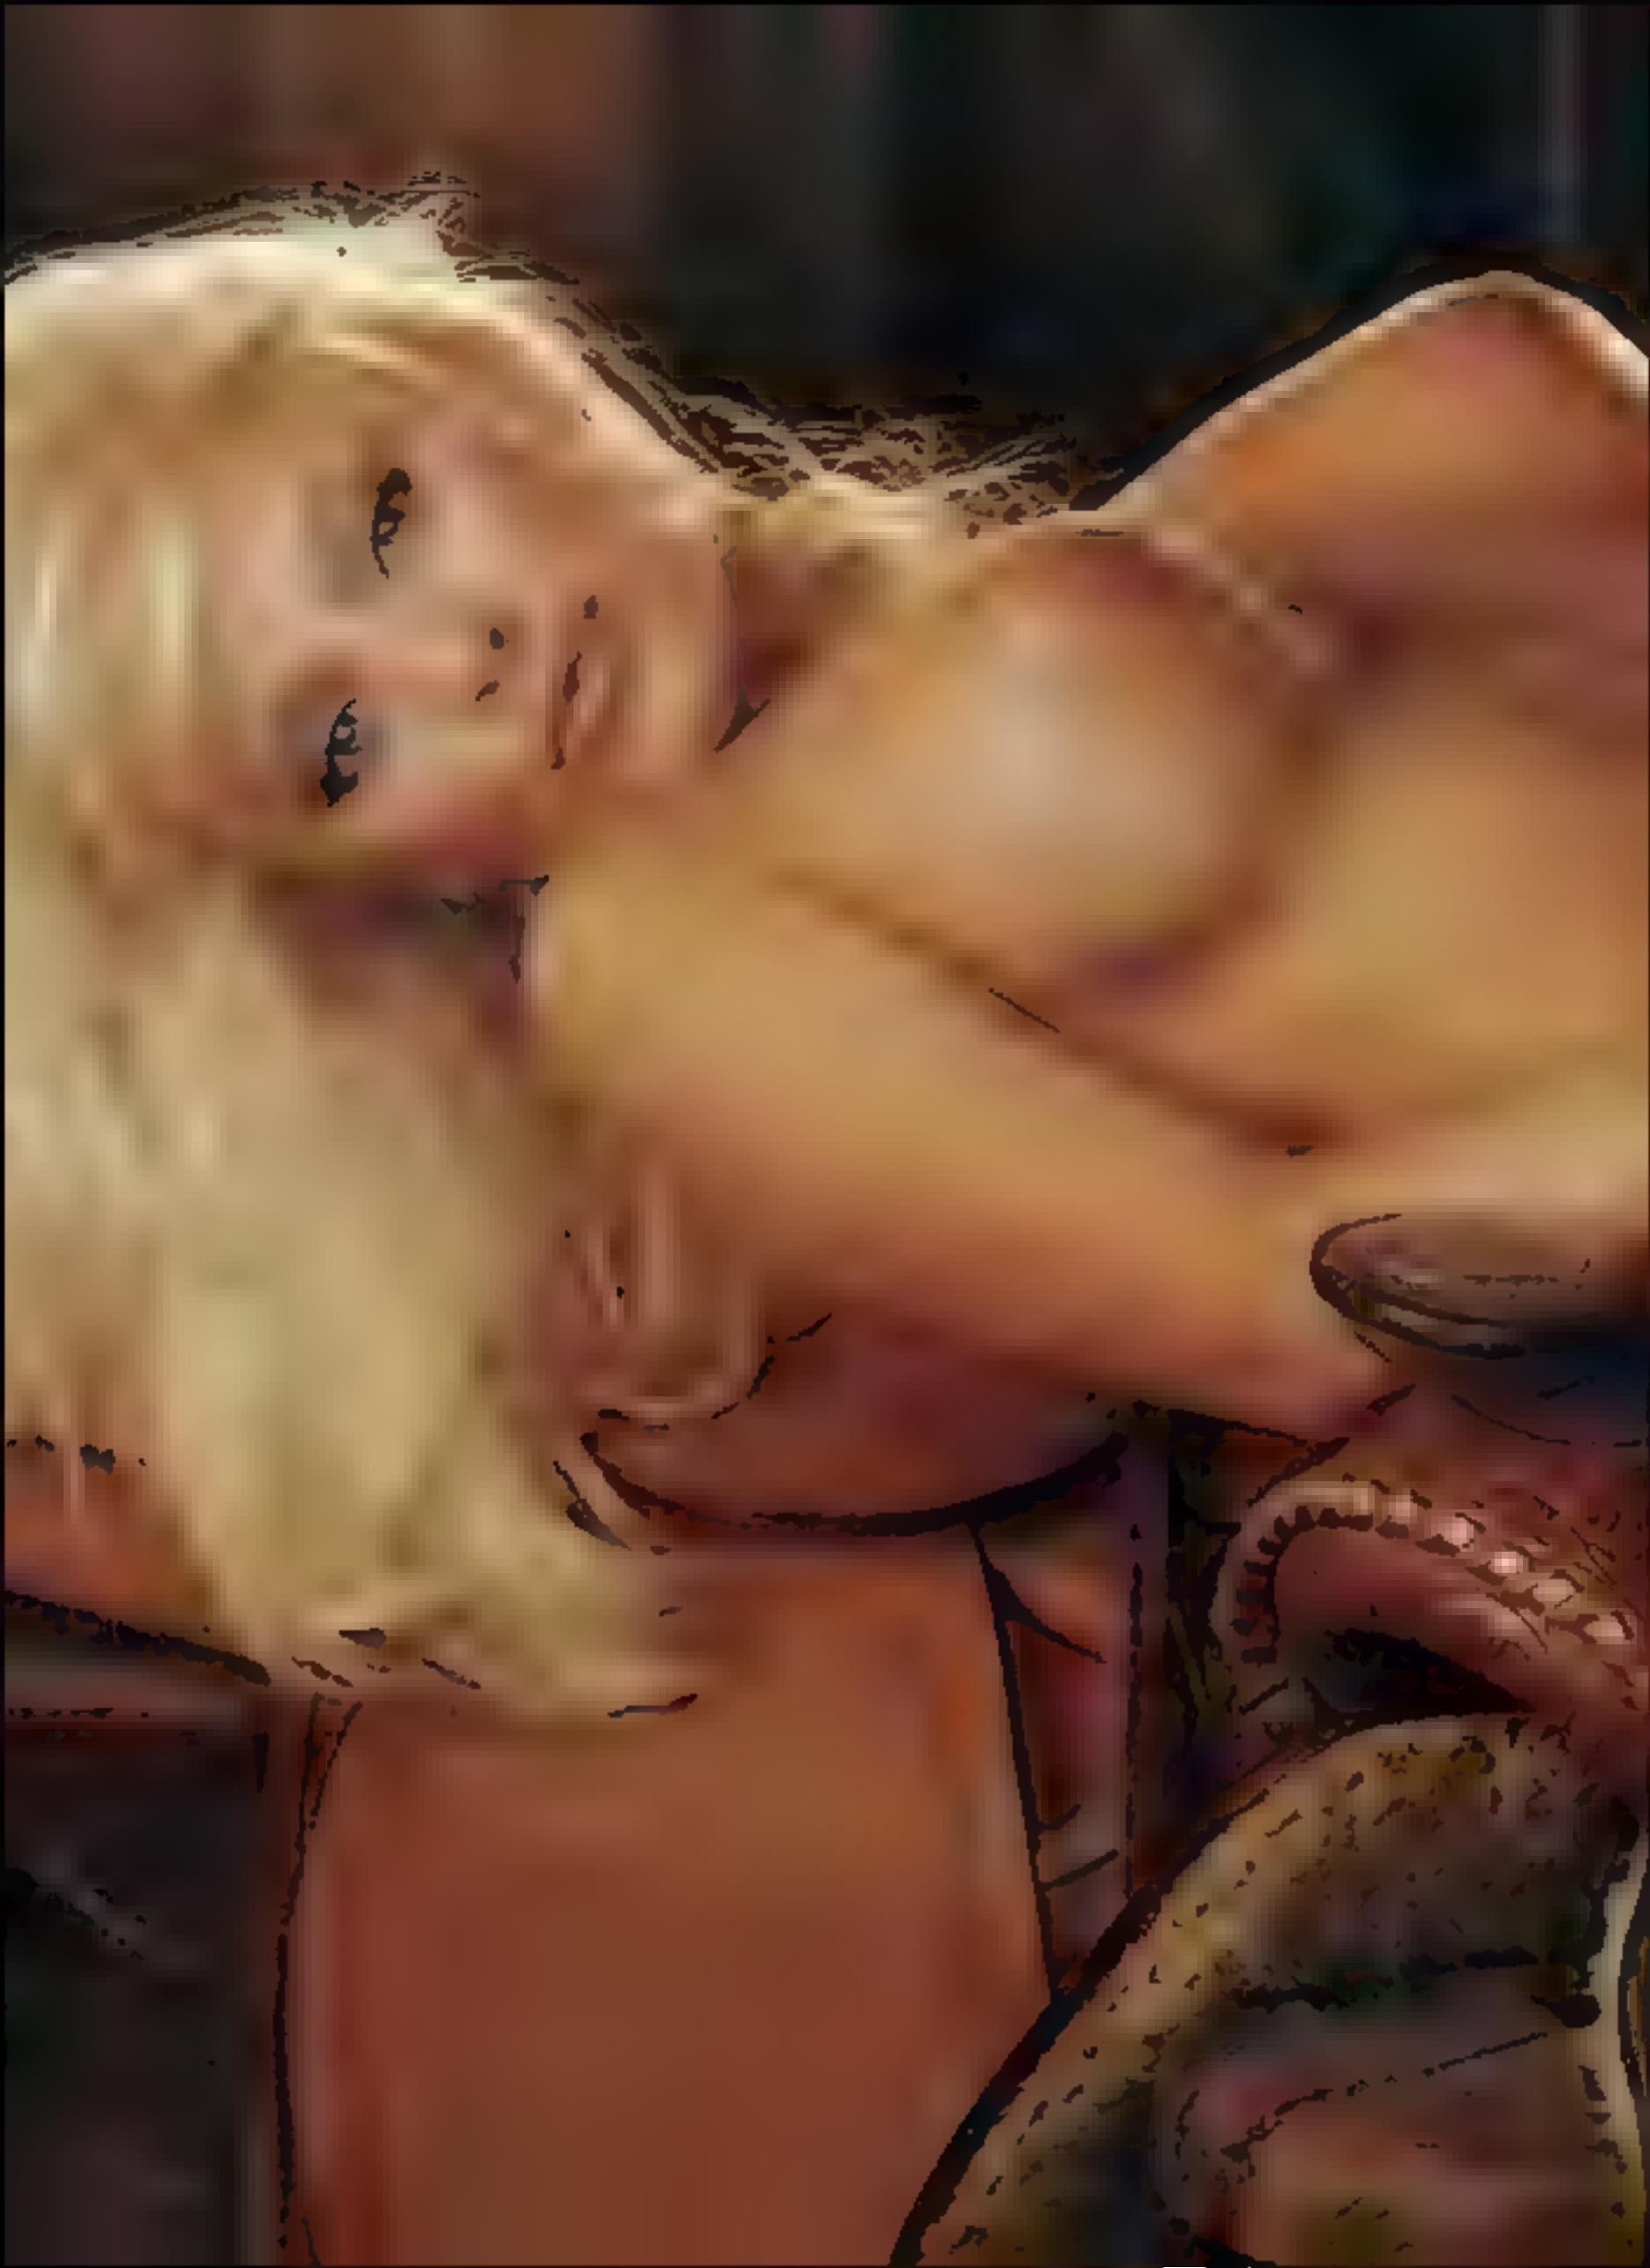

cowgirl jaime bergman is riding off into the spotlight

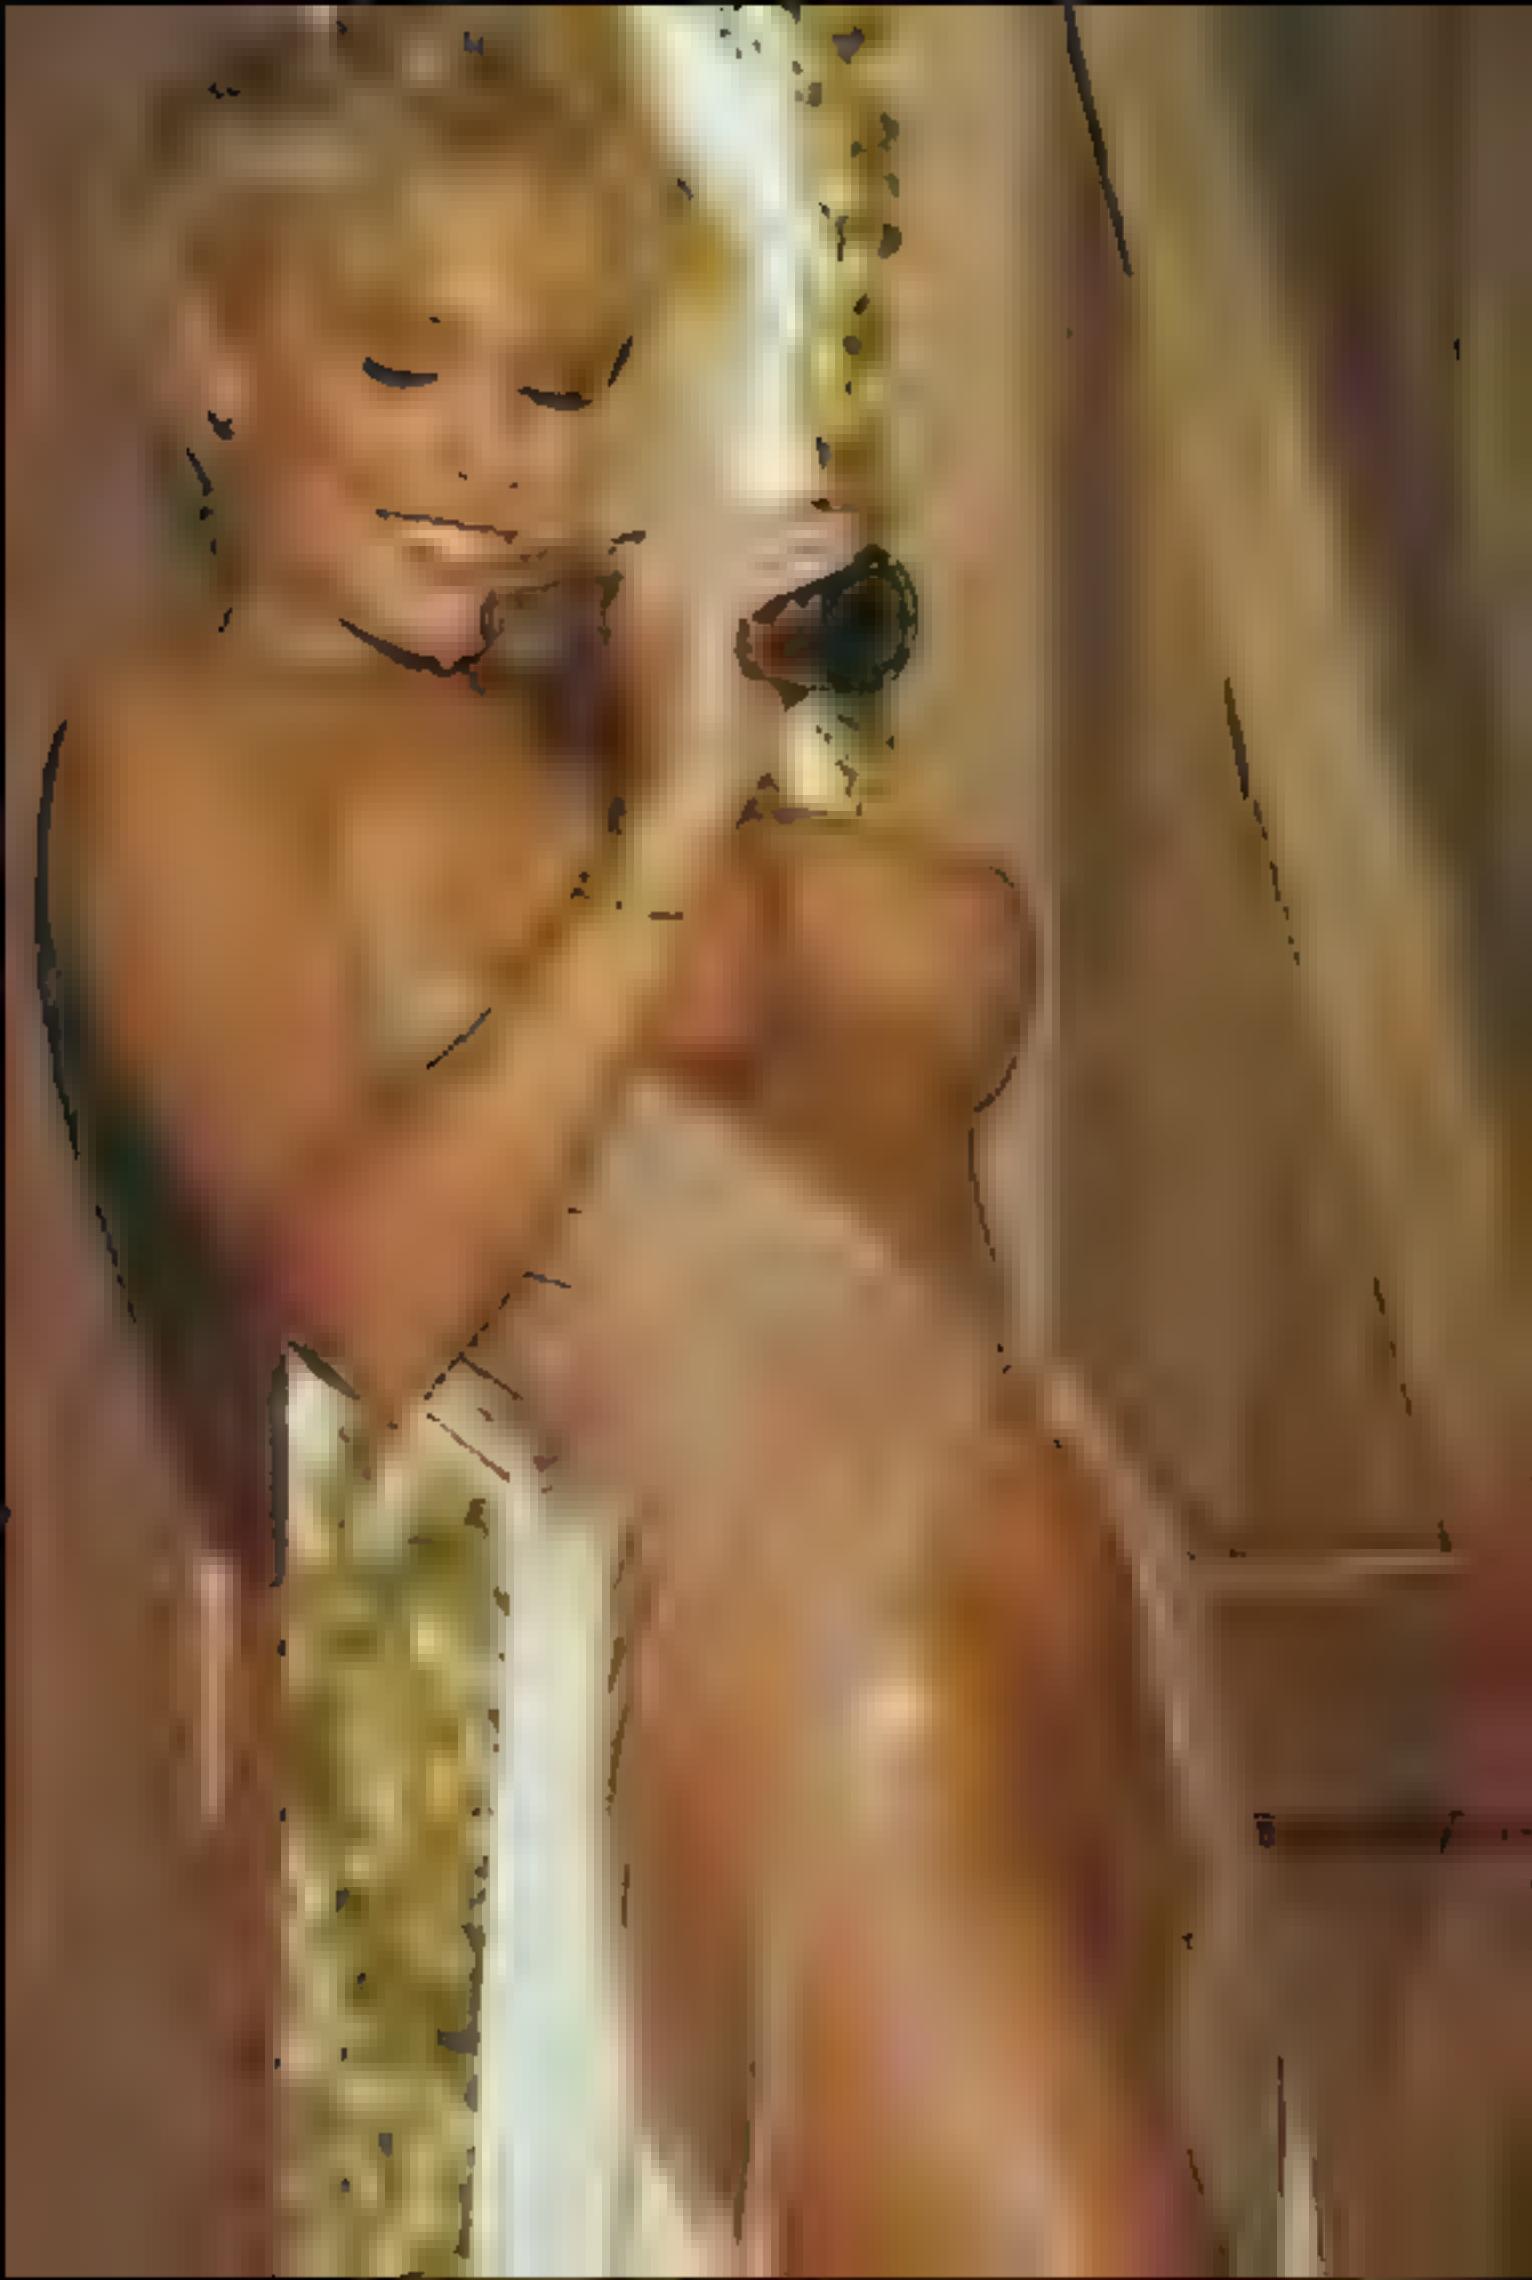

PLAYMATE DATA SHEET

NAME: Jaime Bergman

BUST: 34C WAIST: 23 HIPS: 34

HEIGHT: 5'5" WEIGHT: 110

BIRTH DATE: 9.23.75 BIRTHPLACE: Salt Lake City, Utah

AMBITIONS: Acting, have a family and stay healthy, and independent.

TURN-ONS: Back rubs, bubble baths, a man who has class, a cute smile and a big heart.

TURNOFFS: No sense of humor, disrespect, animal abuse, traffic.

RIDING MY HORSE IS: A challenge, great butt exercise.

BEST ADVICE FROM MOM: Treat people the way you would want to be treated.

A REAL COWGIRL: Isn't afraid to get dirty, knows how to ride and is a little tomboyish.

WHAT MAKES A WOMAN SEXY: A sexy woman has confidence and intelligence and doesn't put anyone down to make herself look better.

Rodeo '92

Rodeo Princess '89

Riding with Mom '93

MISS JANUARY

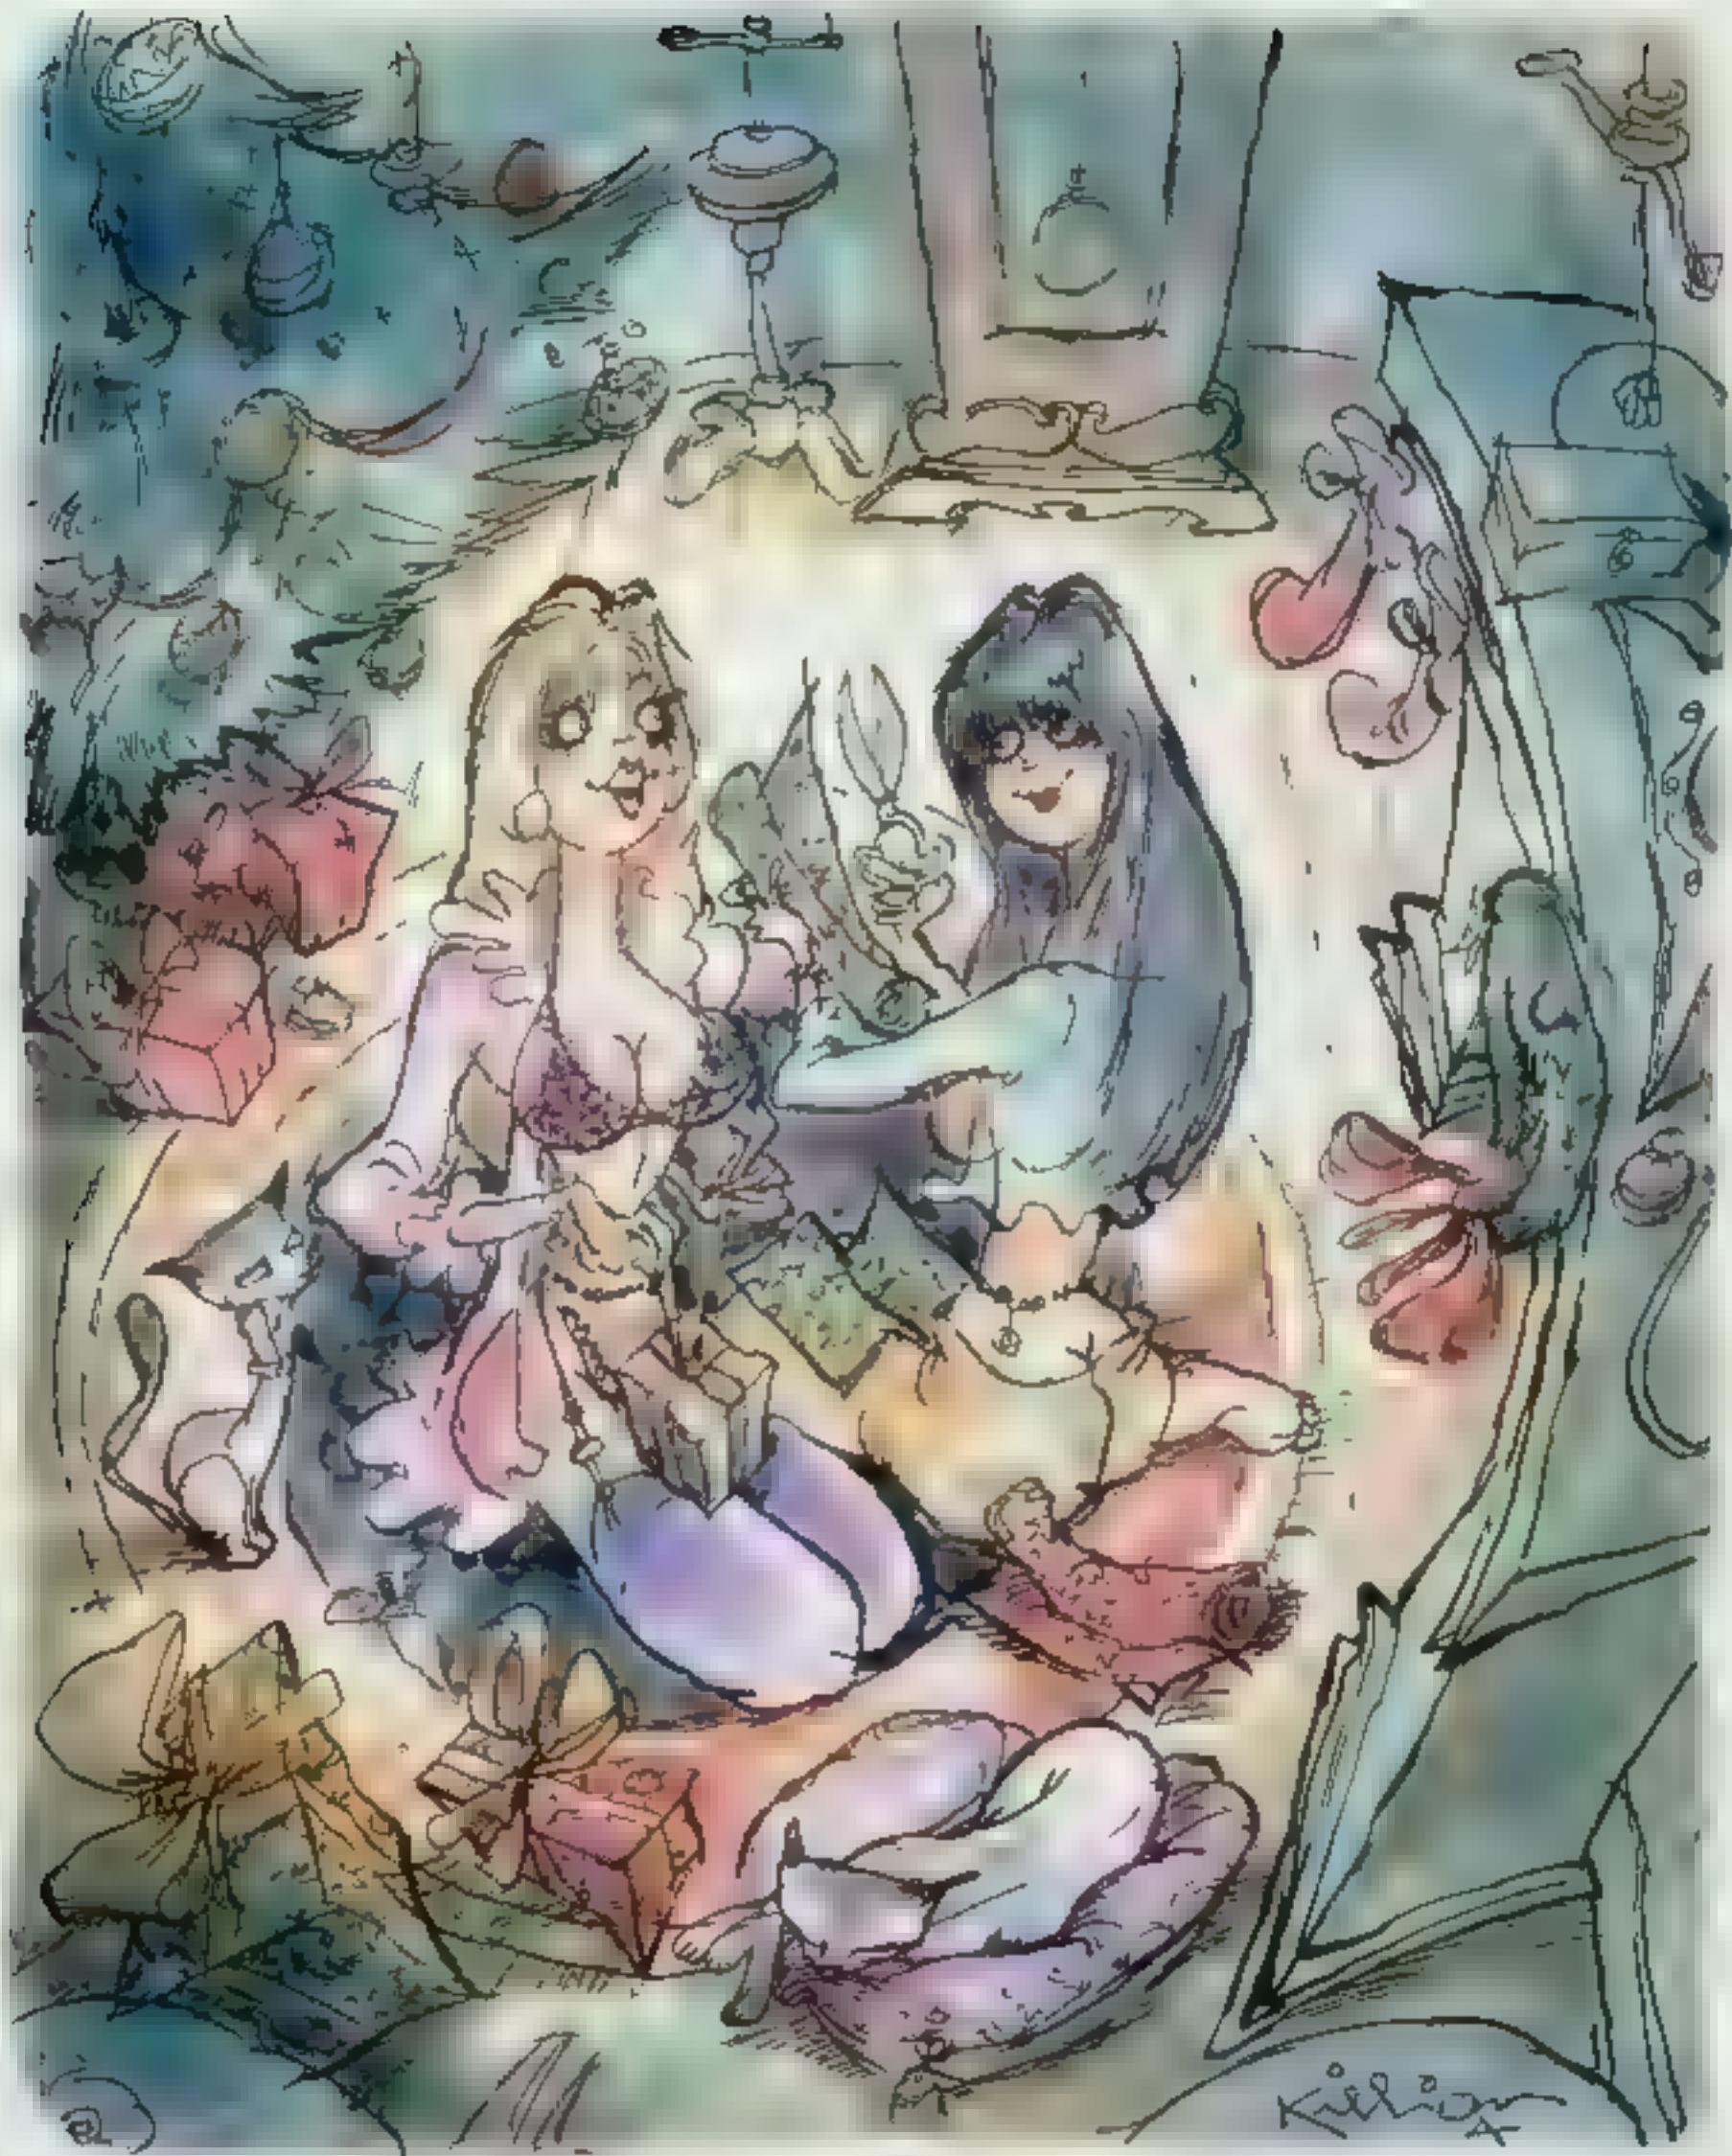

PLAYBOY'S PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

Raymond H.

"Push off, kid - I've decided to stay on for the Millennium Party!"

"He finally let me know what he wants for Christmas last night. Three times!"

THE Magnificent SEVEN

LANDMARK SPORTS CARS FROM PLAYBOY'S FIRST 45 YEARS

Mercedes-Benz 300SL Gullwing, 1955: Just a decade before 1955, Mercedes-Benz languished in mid-term auto. Sports car enthusiasts drove spunky MGs and Triumphs. Suddenly the Fifties' first superstar burst onto the roads and racetracks of the world. Almost overnight, the 300SLs in both Gullwing and roadster models became the star-hot car to own. (Hal kept his 300SL, consider part of the Chicago Playboy Mansion.) Original price: $7,463; today: about $200,000.

BY KEN GROSS

Shelby 427 AC Cobra, 1965. With its towering engine, bellowing side pipes and fire-blinking acceleration (zero to 60 time was about four seconds), the 427 AC still intimidates almost everything in its path. As the inspiration for the Dodge Viper RT/10, 427s embroiled Formula and Corvette on racetracks worldwide, bringing accolades to its master, Carroll Shelby. Anyone who's climbed aboard a 427 knows that it's built for speed, not comfort. The pony top will blow off at certain speeds and the minimalist interior is purely functional. Dozens of replicas are built each year—fitting tributes to one of the world's wildest cars. Original price: $6995. Today: about $250,000.

CLASSIC CAR can be a two-passenger automobile designed for driving pleasure. It must be low, compactively small, fast, nimble and a head turner. The exceptional ones require little modification to become race cars. Many are convertibles, but one of the world's greatest, the Mercedes-Benz 300SL Gullwing, is a coupe with roof-hinged doors. To celebrate our 45th anniversary issue, we've chosen seven terrific machines from the dozens of various makes and models that hit the road since PLAYBOY first appeared on newsstands 45 years ago. To make the cut, each had to be among the best two-seaters of its era. Phrases such as "technically fascinating," "without a peer" and "a future classic" helped provide key criteria. Our seven selections also had to have instant showroom appeal. Potential customers didn't just want to own these cars; they craved them. And they still do. All our choices are hot collectibles. The 300SL, pictured on this spread, debuted in 1955 priced at $7463. Whether you credit its advanced Bosch fuel injection, its clever tubular skeletal structure or the fascinating fly-up doors, a 300SL today is worth close to $200,000—if you can find one. That's the oldest model in our magnificent seven. Back-burned to the mid-Sixties and American hot-rodder Carroll Shelby, who stuffed a powerful Ford V-8 into a British AC Bristol roadster to create the Shelby 427 AC Cobra. Off the line, the 165-mpg car was so fast that it could run away from a Formula 1 race car. The 427's engine was a 4.2-liter V-8 that produced 340 horsepower. The AC was a British roadster with a 2.6-liter engine that produced 140 horsepower. The combination was a potent mix. The 427 AC was a two-seater with a long hood and a prominent front grille. It was shown from a three-quarter front angle, parked on a road with trees in the background. The car's body was light-colored, and it had dark racing stripes on the hood and front fenders. The car was a classic example of a hot rod from the mid-Sixties, featuring a powerful engine and a distinctive body style. The car was a two-seater with a long hood and a prominent front grille. It was shown from a three-quarter front angle, parked on a road with trees in the background. The car's body was light-colored, and it had dark racing stripes on the hood and front fenders. The car was a classic example of a hot rod from the mid-Sixties, featuring a powerful engine and a distinctive body style.

Porsche 911 Carrera, 1998 Porsches are among the most remarkable sports cars ever built. From humble beginnings in an Austrian sawmill to a record 16 wins at Le Mans, the marque continues to prove itself. The latest 24-valve water-cooled models have departed slightly from the traditional format of an air-cooled four or six, but they remain remarkably affordable exotics that will outrun and outhandle anything (almost) in their price range. For the company's 50th anniversary, Porsche produced its newest and best production car yet, the 174-mph 911 Carrera. Price: about $72,000.

Dodge Viper RT/10, 1992 By enticing skeptical auto writers to hell for the track and sedan that spearheaded Chrysler's turnaround, this limited-edition 1992 sports car saved Chrysler and became a cult of its own. Viper owners personify their cars, travel in road trips and party down whenever possible—which is often. But the Viper doesn't just look good: its 403 hp (now 426 in later models), gigantic brakes and six-speed gearbox all combine to make it a truly great-handling car. The current Viper's just over four-second zero-to-60 time beats the latest Ferrari 550 Maranello, but it sells for less than one-third of the Ferrari's price. Original price: about $50,000; Today: about $45,000.

It was 1969. Three years earlier, Chrysler would reintroduce the GTX Charger as the new, improved Dodge Viper, another of our choices. It's a bruiser, 400 hp, V10 brute that has become a classic. The roundup of great sports cars would be incomplete without a Ford. We've chosen the 1972 302 GT350 Spider, a convertible version of the legendary 351 GT350 Daytona model that Ford introduced in 1969 to do battle with Lamborghini. Ferdinand Porsche shared one thing with his teenage rival, Enzo Ferrari. Both felt that their favorite car would be the one their company built next. Despite a long series of great cars, such as the early 911s, Speedsters, the 1970-1973 Carrera "Porsche 911" and a parade of turbos, the last Porsche ever to be made yet to be today and it, too, belongs in this feature. When the voluptuous E-Type Jaguar bowed in the early Sixties, enthusiasts were smitten. The feline body and every line borrowed from earlier Jaguars was converted to sophisticated independent suspension, powerful disc brakes and a refined version of Jaguar's classic 3.8-liter six. The XK-E coupe version was stupendous, but enthusiasts coveted the gorgeous roadster. Jaguar was quickly overwhelmed with orders. Then came E-Types with gained horsepower, weight and bulk. But aficionados still opted for the earlier cars. Pininfarina GM design chief B.R. Mitchell loved the Corvette. In 1966, two years after its birth, he proposed a complete makeover based on a Larry Shinoda-designed roadster version. The result was the Sting Ray, an artfully chiseled roadster and a dramatic coupe with its rear window (in 1968 only) split by a peaked flying buttress. With horsepower readings as high as 300 and flamed lightweight wheels, the unique fuel-injected "split-window" was the Vette to have. Like Jaguar's XK-E, 1964's E-Type was the car that propelled Britain's Jaguar into the modern era—and when it was 1966's. Independent suspension, tightly drawn body, big disc brakes and a powerful 3.8-liter twin-cam six were all contributing factors. Plus, the E-Type's aerodynamicist, Malcolm Sayer, based the car's body lines on his designs for the company's famous XJ-C-type and D-Type racers. Every sports car competitor was influenced by its dramatic shape. The model transformed Jaguar from '60s specialist sports car purveyor to an international competitor. Almost 30,000 E-Types were sold in the U.S. (The total production run was about 70,000.) Later E-Types gained weight and engine size and the car's mid-life and auto tools were somewhat diminished. Purists prefer to seek out finely restored early models. Original price: $6,325. Today: about $45,000.

Ferrari 365 GTB/4 Daytona Spider, 1972: If any car epitomized what Ferrari was all about back in the Sixties, this was it. Under the hood was its powerful 352-hp, mid-cowl, four-cam V12 coupled to a slick five-speed gearbox that is right at home on a racetrack today. Don Gurney and Brock Yates drove a coupe version (the 1972 365 GTB/4 Daytona) for the 1971 Connorball Baker Sea-to-Shining-Sea Memorial Trophy dash. (Gurney reportedly told a cop who stopped him that he never exceeded 174 mph.) The Spider pictured here was driven by Burl Reynolds with Don DeLillo in the 1983 film The Connorball Run. Original price: $25,810. Today: $400,000. Only 122 were built.

the Gullwing SL, it's one of the few sports models whose closed versions are more valuable than the open-topped. Just in case your favorite roadster wasn't included in our picks, we've chosen seven machines that are close seconds and listed them here. So if you're a Morgan, Austin-Healey or Alfa Romeo fan, you can relax, we haven't forgotten you. And you'll note that the Mazda Miata is included as the perfect British roadster—made in Japan.

Thanks to the individuals and organizations who generously loaned us their vehicles for this feature: The Mercedes-Benz 300SL Gullwing and the Shelby 427 AC Cobra were courtesy of Bruce Meyer; Porsche Cars North America for the Porsche 911 Carrera; the Petersen Automotive Museum and Robert Petersen for the Dodge Viper RT and the Ferrari 365 GTB/4 Daytona Spider; William E. Conner III for the Jaguar XK-E and Ed Lopez/Corvette Mike for the Chevrolet Corvette Sting Ray coupe.

Chevrolet Corvette Sting Ray, 1963: Larry Shinoda's adaptation of a Bill Mitchell concept car gave the Corvette Sting Ray an exciting look of its own—especially in the split-rear-window coupe. Unfortunately, that window lasted just one year. Enthusiasts updated some cars with the later coupe's one-piece window, then converted back to the original design when they realized the split-window version was more desirable to collectors. (The Sting Ray series ended in 1967.) Defying a new generation of overhead-cam power plants, the latest Corvette engine shares a variation of the older Vette's overhead-valve fuel-injected V-8. Original price: about $4700. Today: about $36,000.

STEVEN MOORE FOR THE AGES

- AUSTIN-HEALEY 100-6 MK1, 1959 A sleek topless tourer, with a 132-horsepower six and wire wheels.
- ALFA ROMEO SPIDER, 1963 The car Dustin Hoffman drove in "The Graduate." Hello, Mrs. Robinson.
- LAMBORGHINI MIURA S, 1968 This mighty midengine GT sent Ferrari back to the drawing boards.
- DATSON 240Z, 1969 Jaguar prowess and Porsche performance all for the price of an MG.
- LOTUS ELAN, 1973 This English-built fiberglass-bodied roadster still looks snazzy.
- MAZDA MX-5 MIATA, 1989 Slick styling, nimble road manners and a leakproof top. Perfect.
- MORGAN PLUS 8, 1994 Thirties looks and Nineties pickup—a true tweed-cap car.

Leon

"Great idea dumping the Viagra in the punch bowl!"

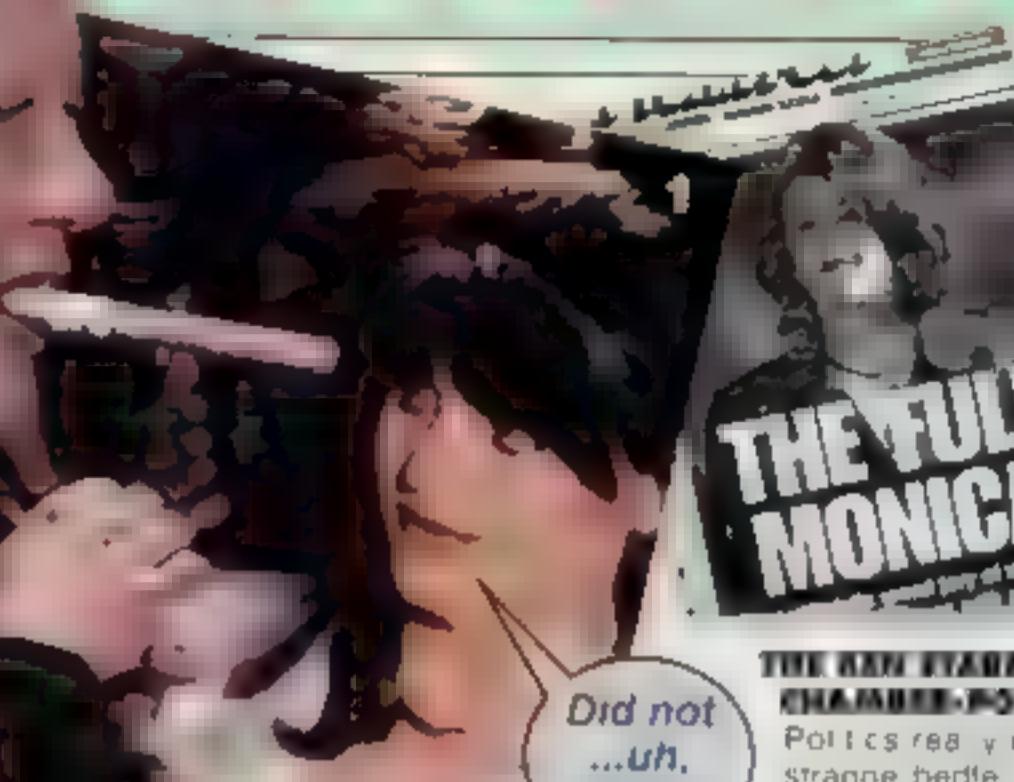

Portrait of a young man, 1960s

THE YEAR

"A woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke."
Kipling

Did not
...uh,
Did so!

2

The Mail

Caught by a $40 frock — and a girl who was even cheaper

If the dress is a mess, he must confess!

Doonesbury

5

BY GARRY TRUDEAU

THE MAIL STAFF

CHAMBER-POD REPORT

Politics really does make strange bedfellows among them a cigar-loving Bill Clinton who couldn't decide whether to smoke it or poke it and his friends and enemies several of whom changed their stories in midstream. Players no. 1: White House intern Monica Lewinsky 2: ex-Miss America and Playboy model Elizabeth Ward Gracen 3: Grand Inquisitor of Special Prosecutor Starr 4: Monica's faux friend Linda Tripp who leaked the news about 5: the Dress 6: disheveled volunteer Kathleen Willey 7: Clinton campaign plane attendant turned White House receptionist Debra Schmid 8: ex-Miss Arkansas Lencoria Sullivan (9) old-line Rock girl friend Dolly Kyle Browning 10: actress Markie Post 11: country singer Lorrie Morgan 12: fondled flight attendant and tabloid tartlet Constance Zercher 13: nose bobbed Paula Jones whose suit started it all and even 14: the presidential dog Buddy who got fixed.

Clinton told me
he was a sex addict

MONICA Bill gave engagement ring

What Made
Linda Do It?

Told by 60

INSEX

the f words—
fbs felatio fertility and pfizer gave the country a rise

Did not
.. uh,
Did so!

6

No
comment!

9

Did not!

7

Did so!

ALL THE PRES' WO

Did not!

8

REMEMBER IF HE GORE
TOWARD A WOMAN, WRESTLE
HIM TO THE GROUND...

WILD WHITE HOUSE NIGHTS

G. HEDDIE
BONDS WITH KARRIE DOT

CLINTON'S WILD RIDE WITH LORRIE MORGAN
IN BACK SEAT OF LIMO

Did
so

10

SECRET SERVICE

12

14

STAND BY YOUR MAN, PART I

Tammy Wynette died in April, but her spirit lives on in the hearts of those who stick with their mates come what may. First, and foremost: Hillary Rodham Clinton

Did not
uh
Did so!

Did so!

13

Thank
you, Pfizer!

MAXIMUM BOB

Republican patriarch Bob Dole admitted he and his wife, Elizabeth, have been having a grand old party ever since he became part of the test group for Pfizer's new potency drug, Viagra.

THE YEAR IN SEX

Thank
me, Pfizer!

NOW WE KNOW WHY CLINTON WENT TO OXFORD

Party raids, goldfish swallowing and phone-booth cramming. The White House has admitted that Mr. Clinton's secret service agents spied on him in Britain's Oxford, where he was vacationing with his wife, Hillary. And now we know why.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

French doctor Ronald Virag, a pioneer in erection technology, has developed the injection-induced hard-on. He wants Pfizer to pay him for making Viagra a near anagram of his name.

MORE SEX PLEASE, WE'RE BRITISH

Many a viewer for home shows.

I GOT VIAGRA!!

DO I GOT A HEADACHE?

Thank
you, Pfizer!

SURVIVAL ON THE MORNIN'

Demand for powdered rhinoceros horn, an alleged aphrodisiac, is expected to fuel rising sales of Viagra.

YOUR MAN, PART II

Amy Fisher is in jail for shooting lover Joey Buttafuoco's wife, Mary Jo, but Mrs. B. is still with her Joey.

CLINTON'S A SCUM
BAG!

FATHER KNOWS BEST

TAKES ONE TO KNOW ONE?

In Z ppergate's wake Indiana Congressman Dan Burton had to fess up to fathering a child out of wedlock while GOP colleagues Henry Hyde and Helen Chenoweth came clean about ancient adulteries

SO THAT'S WHAT THEY MEAN BY MILITARY

Viagra spawned its first paternity suit when two days after taking his first

Mr. Frank Bernardo
70, left Roberta
Burke, 63
for a 65-year-old

Nuts
to you, Pfizer!

HOW DO YOU SPELL MY NAME AGAIN?

JAY IS A DORK!

Isn't this cool?

CELEB KIDS ARE UP A GOOD TIME!

Not since Demi Moore posed for Vanity Fair have so many celebs been so up front about being with child. Princess Stephanie had a bellyful in Monaco but she wasn't saying who fathered Camille Marie. Jerry Hall posed for Lucian Freud while great with Gabriel. Luke Beaubeargard Jagger had her fourth child with

Mick E. Macpherson's son's got in and more in this ad shot while expecting her son with beau Arpad Busson. And McGraw-Hill Place's Lisa Rinna proudly posed for Playboy while she and hubby Harry Hamlin awaited Delilah Belle

TOP 10 STORIES

SPRINGER FEVER

But what really pissed off talk show host Jerry Springer was the surreptitious videotaping of his alleged romp with a porn star and her stepmother in a Chicago hotel.

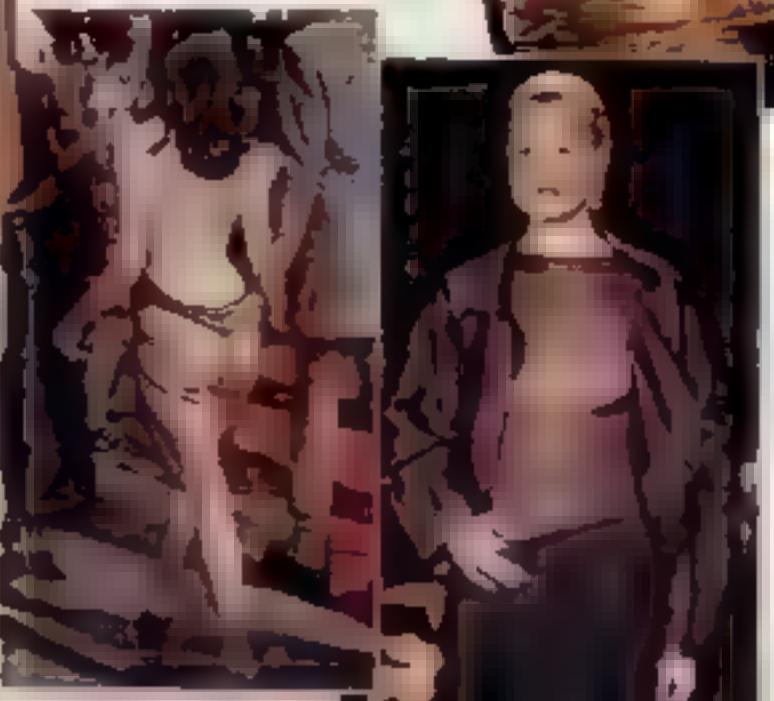

BUMMER!

The billboard version loomed over Times Square but Helmut Newton's Wolford hosiery ad was mixed as a bus poster by New York's Metropolitan Transportation Authority.

DRESSED TO THRILL

See-through lash ons forecast in Playboy as long ago as 1960 now appear regularly on designers' runways (that's an artfully slipped bra at Betsey Johnson's show right) and at the MTV Video Music Awards actor Rose McGowan brings up the rear with date Marilyn Manson below!

Now who gave birth on Internet is ex-con on free from ex

SHE DELIVERED, THEY DIDN'T

After Elizabeth Oliver gave birth on the Internet viewers Did her as a bad-check artist and she surrendered. Charges though were dropped as too old. Meanwhile the promise by "Mike and Diane" (below) to lose their virginity on the Web turned out to be a hoax.

GOODBYE, DOLLY

In her divorce complaint Carol Hello Dolly Channing alleged her husband Charles Lowe romanced her only twice in their four-decade marriage.

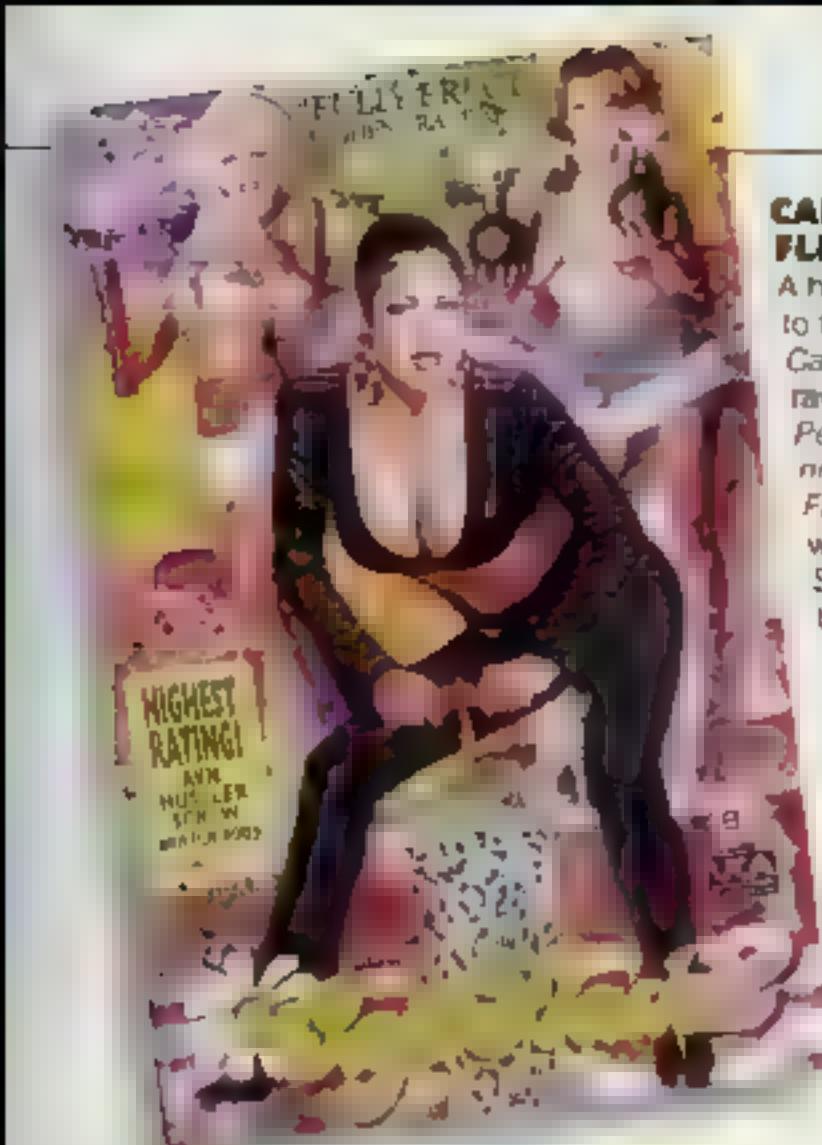

MEMO BY

VIDEO

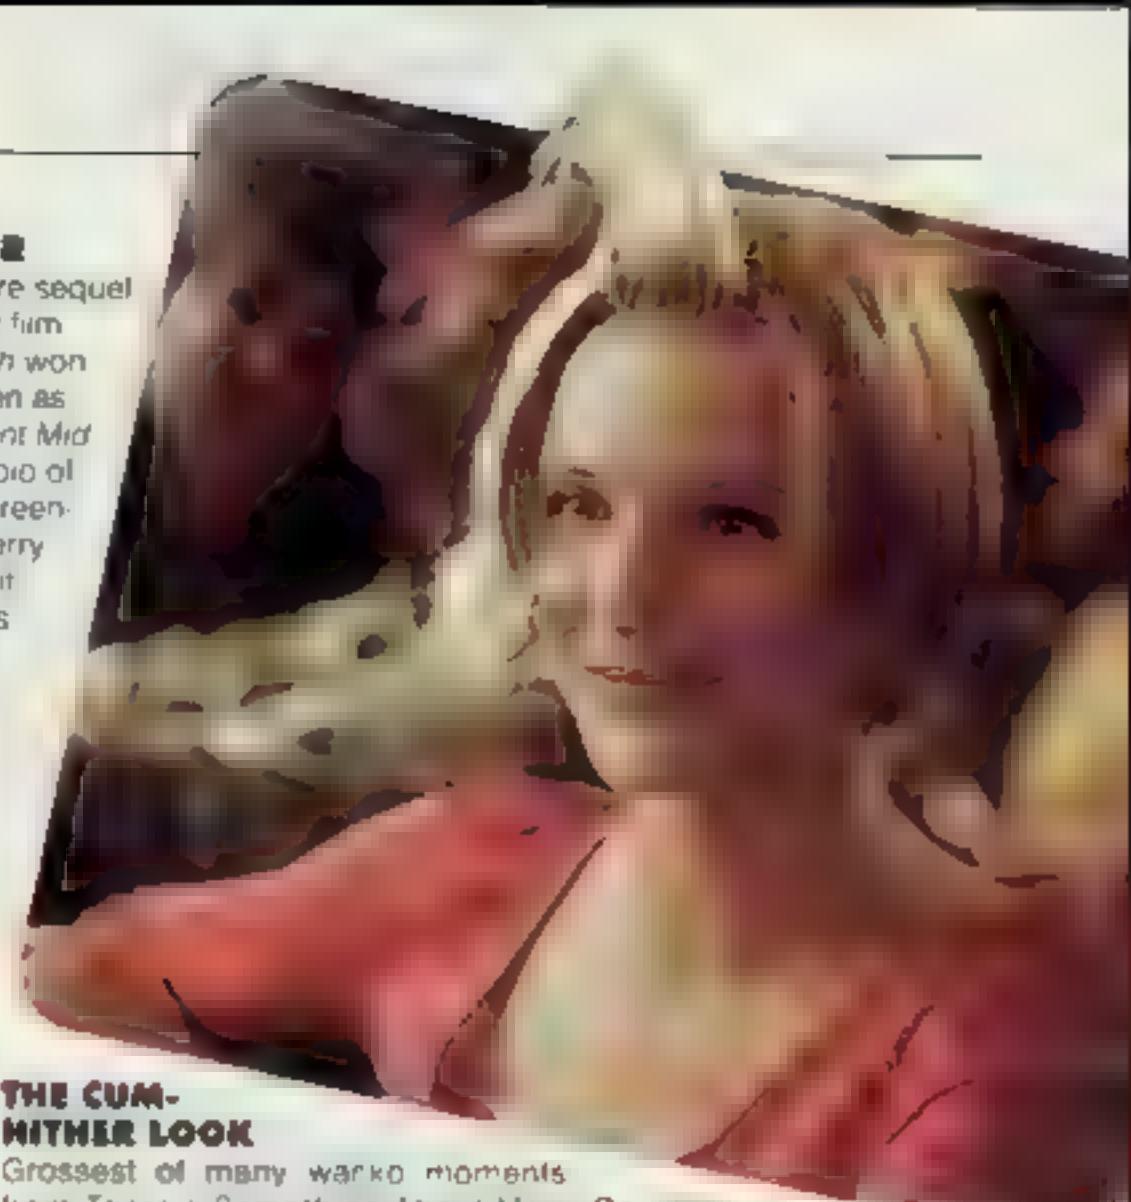

MEMO

PART III
Heather
Faulkner and her lingerieloving beau
Mary A. bert last year's poster boy for kink tied the knot at a
New York City
hotel

CAFE FLESHIER

A hard-core sequel to the cult film Cafe Flesh won raves even as Permanent Midnight, a bio of Flesh screenwriter Jerry Stahl, hit theaters.

THE CUM-WITHER LOOK

Groassest of many wacko moments from There's Something About Mary. Came on Diaz unwilling use of ejaculate as sly ing mousse.

NOW OR THEY'D JUST HOLLOW PEARLS

Another Viagra consequence? We hear orders for oysters long rumored to aid performance are down at trendy eateries.

TORAH! TORAH! TORAH!

Transsexual Ihrush Dana International, formerly Yaron Cohen, won the Eurovision song contest for Israel, outraging ultraorthodox Jews.

WE ONLY READ 'EM FOR THE ARTICLES

If you were wondering just how sexy a year it was, check out these publications' covers. Vanity Fair sees through actress Gretchen Mol's undies. GQ unwraps model Daniela Pestova and Rolling Stone flaunts a nude Janet Jackson. And we're willing to wager that next year will be even hotter.

The Original HOT List

THE YEAR IN SEX

A LITTLE SOMETHING FOR THE CONTROL ROOM

The Boob Tube universe: remote control can turn you on, too. Press the nipples to change channels.

DENVER DOES DEEPER THROAT

Hyping its remake of Deep Throat, Arrow Productions staged a 25th birthday party for the original—Denver hailing Linda Lovelace—and her disciple, Monica Lewinsky.

BOOBY JOB

To win a $100,000 bet, inveterate gambler Brian Zembla got breast implants and liked them so much he decided to keep them. Dow Corning was less comfortable with the surgery.

WE SEE LORRETTA, WE SEE PRISCILLA

In various public appearances, Elizabeth Hurley, Salma Hayek, Ashley Judd and Eva Herzigova reveal more than they intended. Hurley said if she had known they'd show, she would have worn prettier panties.

MOONLIGHT BUNNY RANCH

Thank you, Pfizer!

WORKING GIRLS GET THE BUSINESS

With 90-year-old Johns (Viagra) in hand, beating down doors, Nevada brothels report a ten percent boost in trade.

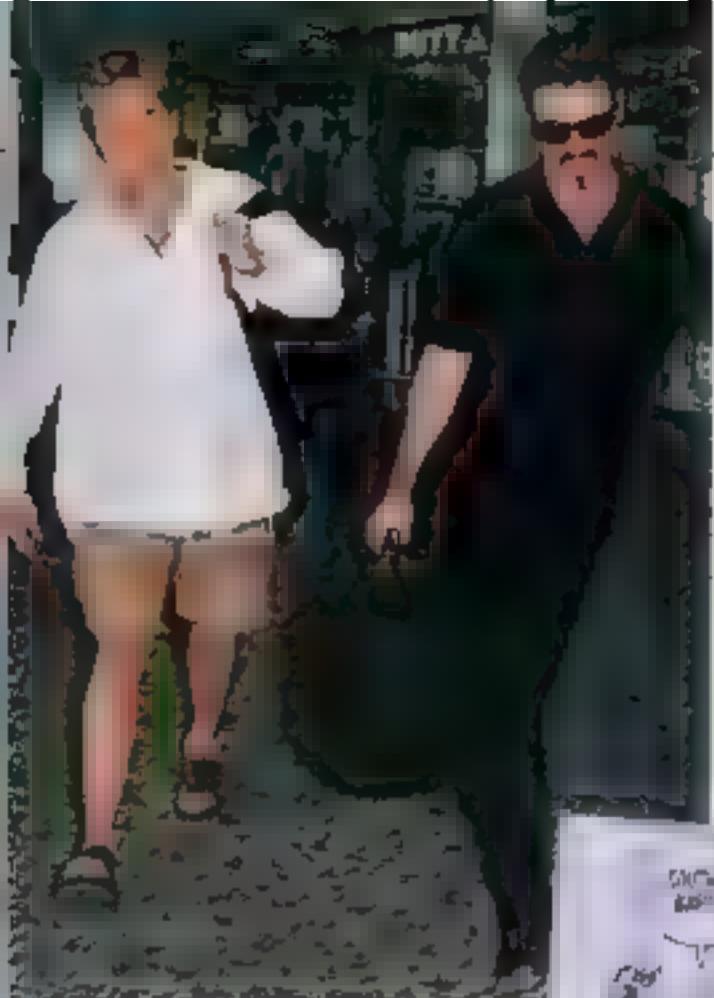

THE SINS OF THE PASTOR

STAND BY YOUR MAN, PART IV

She set fire to the waterfront home he owned with another woman, but Henry Lyons' wife, Deborah (and the National Baptist Convention USA, which he heads), is sticking by the preacher who admitted an improper relationship. He also faces 61 state and federal charges of rapping off millions to finance his roaming lifestyle.

Did he...
Did he...
Did he...

STAND BY YOUR MAN,

Texan Kenny Goss (in shorts) remains with his lover George Michael notwithstanding the Brit singer's embarrassing arrest for committing a lewd act in the rest room of Will Rogers Park in Beverly Hills

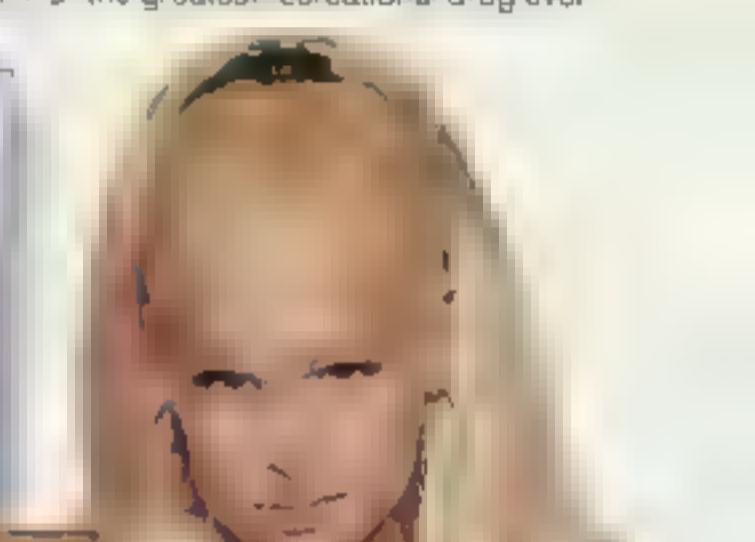

THE

PERFECT WIFE FOR THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Hmmmm... we've seen this guy somewhere. Shortly after Hugh Hefner's separation from wife Kimberley was announced, Dave Letterman presented him with an economy-sized bottle of Vaseline. Hefner later told The Wall Street Journal, "It's the greatest recreational drug ever."

THAT'S WHAT DAD LIKED ABOUT THE SOUTH

At their most recent convention, Southern Baptists reaffirmed their belief that wives should obey their husbands. No word yet from Hillary Clinton

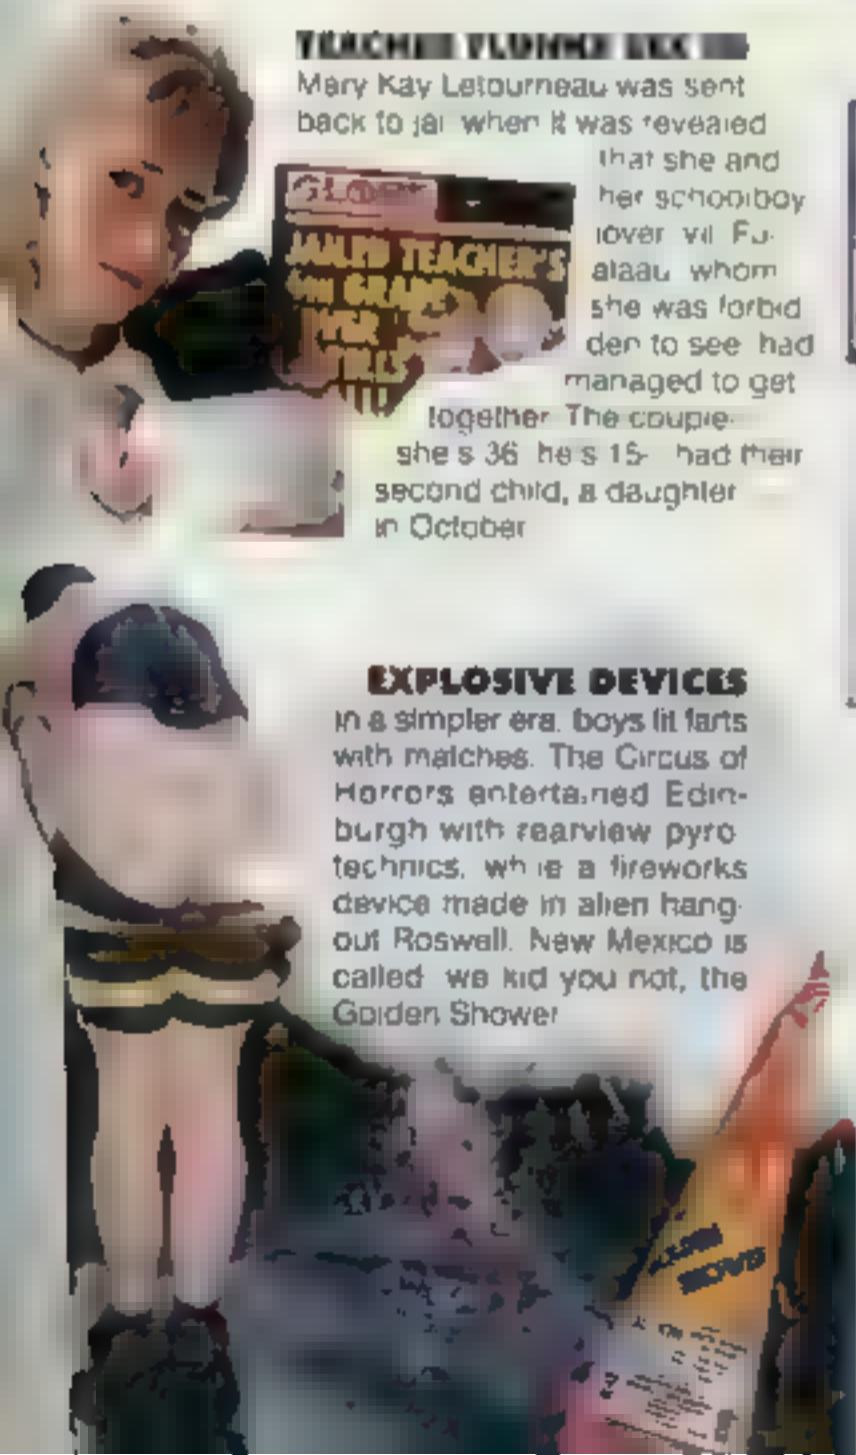

TEACHIN' FLUNKIES BACK

Mary Kay Letourneau was sent back to jail when it was revealed that she and her schoolboy lover, Vil Faalaa, whom she was forbidden to see, had managed to get together. The couple—she's 36, he's 15—had their second child, a daughter, in October.

EXPLOSIVE DEVICES

In a simpler era, boys lit farts with matches. The Circus of Horrors entertained Edinburgh with rearview pyrotechnics. While a fireworks device made in alien hangout Roswell, New Mexico is called—we kid you not—the Golden Shower.

WHAM, BAM, NO THANK YOU, MA'AM!

When patron Paul Shirkonis sued a Florida topless club for whiplash caused by impact with the size 60 HHH breasts of Playboy's Voluptuous Vixens II model Tawny Peaks, The People's Court's Judge Ed Koch ruled the jugs were too soft to inflict such injury.

PLAYBOY'S PARTY JOKES

A young boy ran down the street looking for a cop. "Please, officer," he cried, "come back to the bar with me. My father is in a fight."

The boy and policeman ran into the bar and saw three guys whaling away at one another. "OK," the cop asked the boy as he separated the combatants, "which one is your father?"

"I don't know," the kid exclaimed. "That's what they're fighting about."

Two blondes walked up to the ticket counter at Grand Central Station. "Can I take this train to Chicago?" the first asked.

"No," the agent replied. "Can it?" the second blonde asked.

PLAYBOY CLASSIC: As he got older, Joe was increasingly hampered by terrible headaches. He finally came across a doctor who promised to solve the problem. "I can cure your headaches," the medic said, "but it will require castration. You have a rare condition that causes your testicles to press against the base of your spine. The only way to relieve the pressure is to remove the testicles."

Joe was shocked but decided he had no choice but to go under the knife. When he left the hospital he felt like a different person. On impulse he walked into a clothing store and told the salesman he wanted a new suit. The fellow eyed him briefly and said, "Let's see, size 44 long."

"That's right," Joe replied. "How did you know?"

"It's my job."

Joe tried on the suit and was surprised to find that it fit perfectly. "How about a new shirt?" the salesman suggested. "Thirty-four sleeve, 16½ neck?"

"Right again!" Joe tried on the shirt, and it fit perfectly. As he adjusted the collar the salesman asked, "How about some new underwear? Let's see, size 36?"

"No," Joe said, "I've worn size 34 since I was 18 years old."

"You can't wear a size 34," the salesman insisted. "It would press your testicles up against the base of your spine and give you one hell of a headache!"

Awoman walked into a sporting goods store and asked the salesman if he could help her pick out a rifle. "It's for my husband," she explained.

"Did he tell you what caliber to get?" the clerk asked.

"Are you kidding? He doesn't even know that I'm going to shoot him."

THIS MONTH'S MOST FREQUENT SUBMISSION: A guy walked into a bordello, picked out a girl and began to discuss prices. "It's $100 for a blow job, $200 for straight sex and $250 for a Monica," she explained.

"What's a Monica?" he asked.

"That's where I blow you now and screw you later."

Bumper sticker seen on Wall Street: 90% OF LAWYERS GIVE THE REST A BAD NAME

While leading a Friday evening service, the rabbi was alarmed when a member of the congregation walked in with a dog. He asked the cantor to conclude the service and went to talk to the fellow. "Bernie, what are you doing here with a dog?"

"The dog came here to pray."

"You're just fooling around," the rabbi said. "That's not a proper thing to do in temple."

"But it's true!" Bernie insisted.

"Then show me what the dog can do," the rabbi replied, thinking he would call Bernie's bluff.

"OK," Bernie said, nodding to the dog. The animal put on a yarmulke and talis, opened a prayer book and began reciting in Hebrew. The rabbi listened for 15 minutes. He was so impressed with what he had heard, he asked Bernie, "Do you think your dog would consider going to rabbinical school?"

Bernie threw his hands up in disgust. "You talk to him? He wants to be a doctor!"

Wim Lommel

A guy arrived in hell and was met by the devil, who explained that there was a choice of punishments and that he would take the newcomer on a tour of his options. In the first room a young man was being whipped while chained to a wall. In the second a middle-aged fellow was being tortured with fire. In the third an old man was getting a blow job from a gorgeous blonde. "I'll take that one," the suddenly eager guy exclaimed.

"So be it," the devil said, walking toward the blonde. "OK," he murmured, tapping her on the shoulder. "You can go. I've found your replacement."

Send your jokes on postcards to Party Jokes Editor, PLAYBOY, 680 North Lake Shore Drive, Chicago, Illinois 60611, or by e-mail to jokes@playboy.com. $100 will be paid to the contributor whose submission is selected. Sorry, jokes cannot be returned.

1999

SOUTH CAROLINA
3

EJ McCoie
South Carolina

Richard Hamilton
Cincinnati

DUKE
42

Todd MacClellan
Washington

Elton Brand
Duke

DUKE
32

100 American Team

Motorola
Michigan State

Thirteen frollops tratching

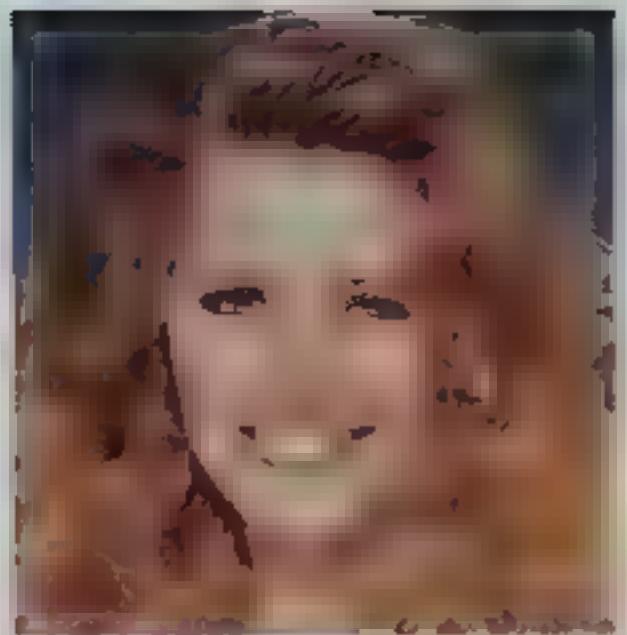

"Wow! I never dreamed there was a 13th day of Christmas!"

MISS JANUARY—01

MISS FEBRUARY—02

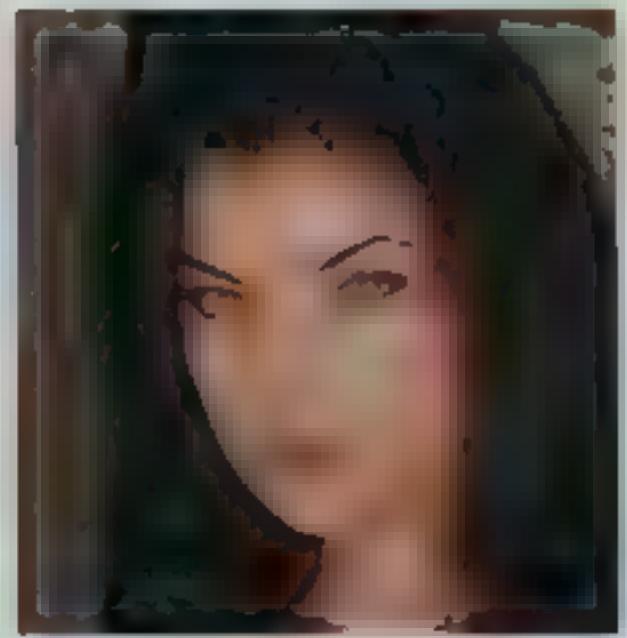

MISS MARCH—03

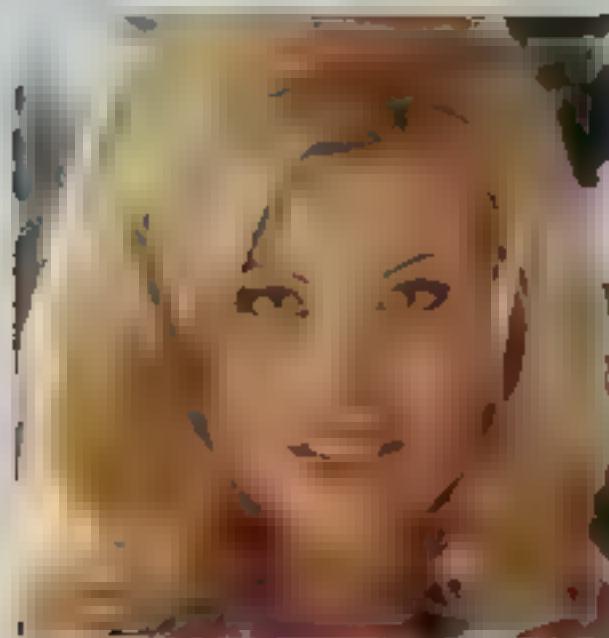

MISS APRIL—04

MISS MAY—05

MISS JUNE—06

MISS JULY—07

MISS AUGUST—08

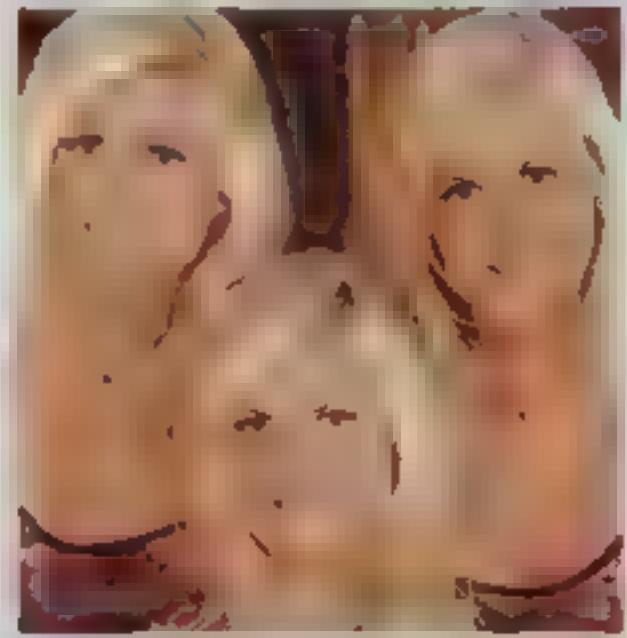

MISS SEPTEMBER—09

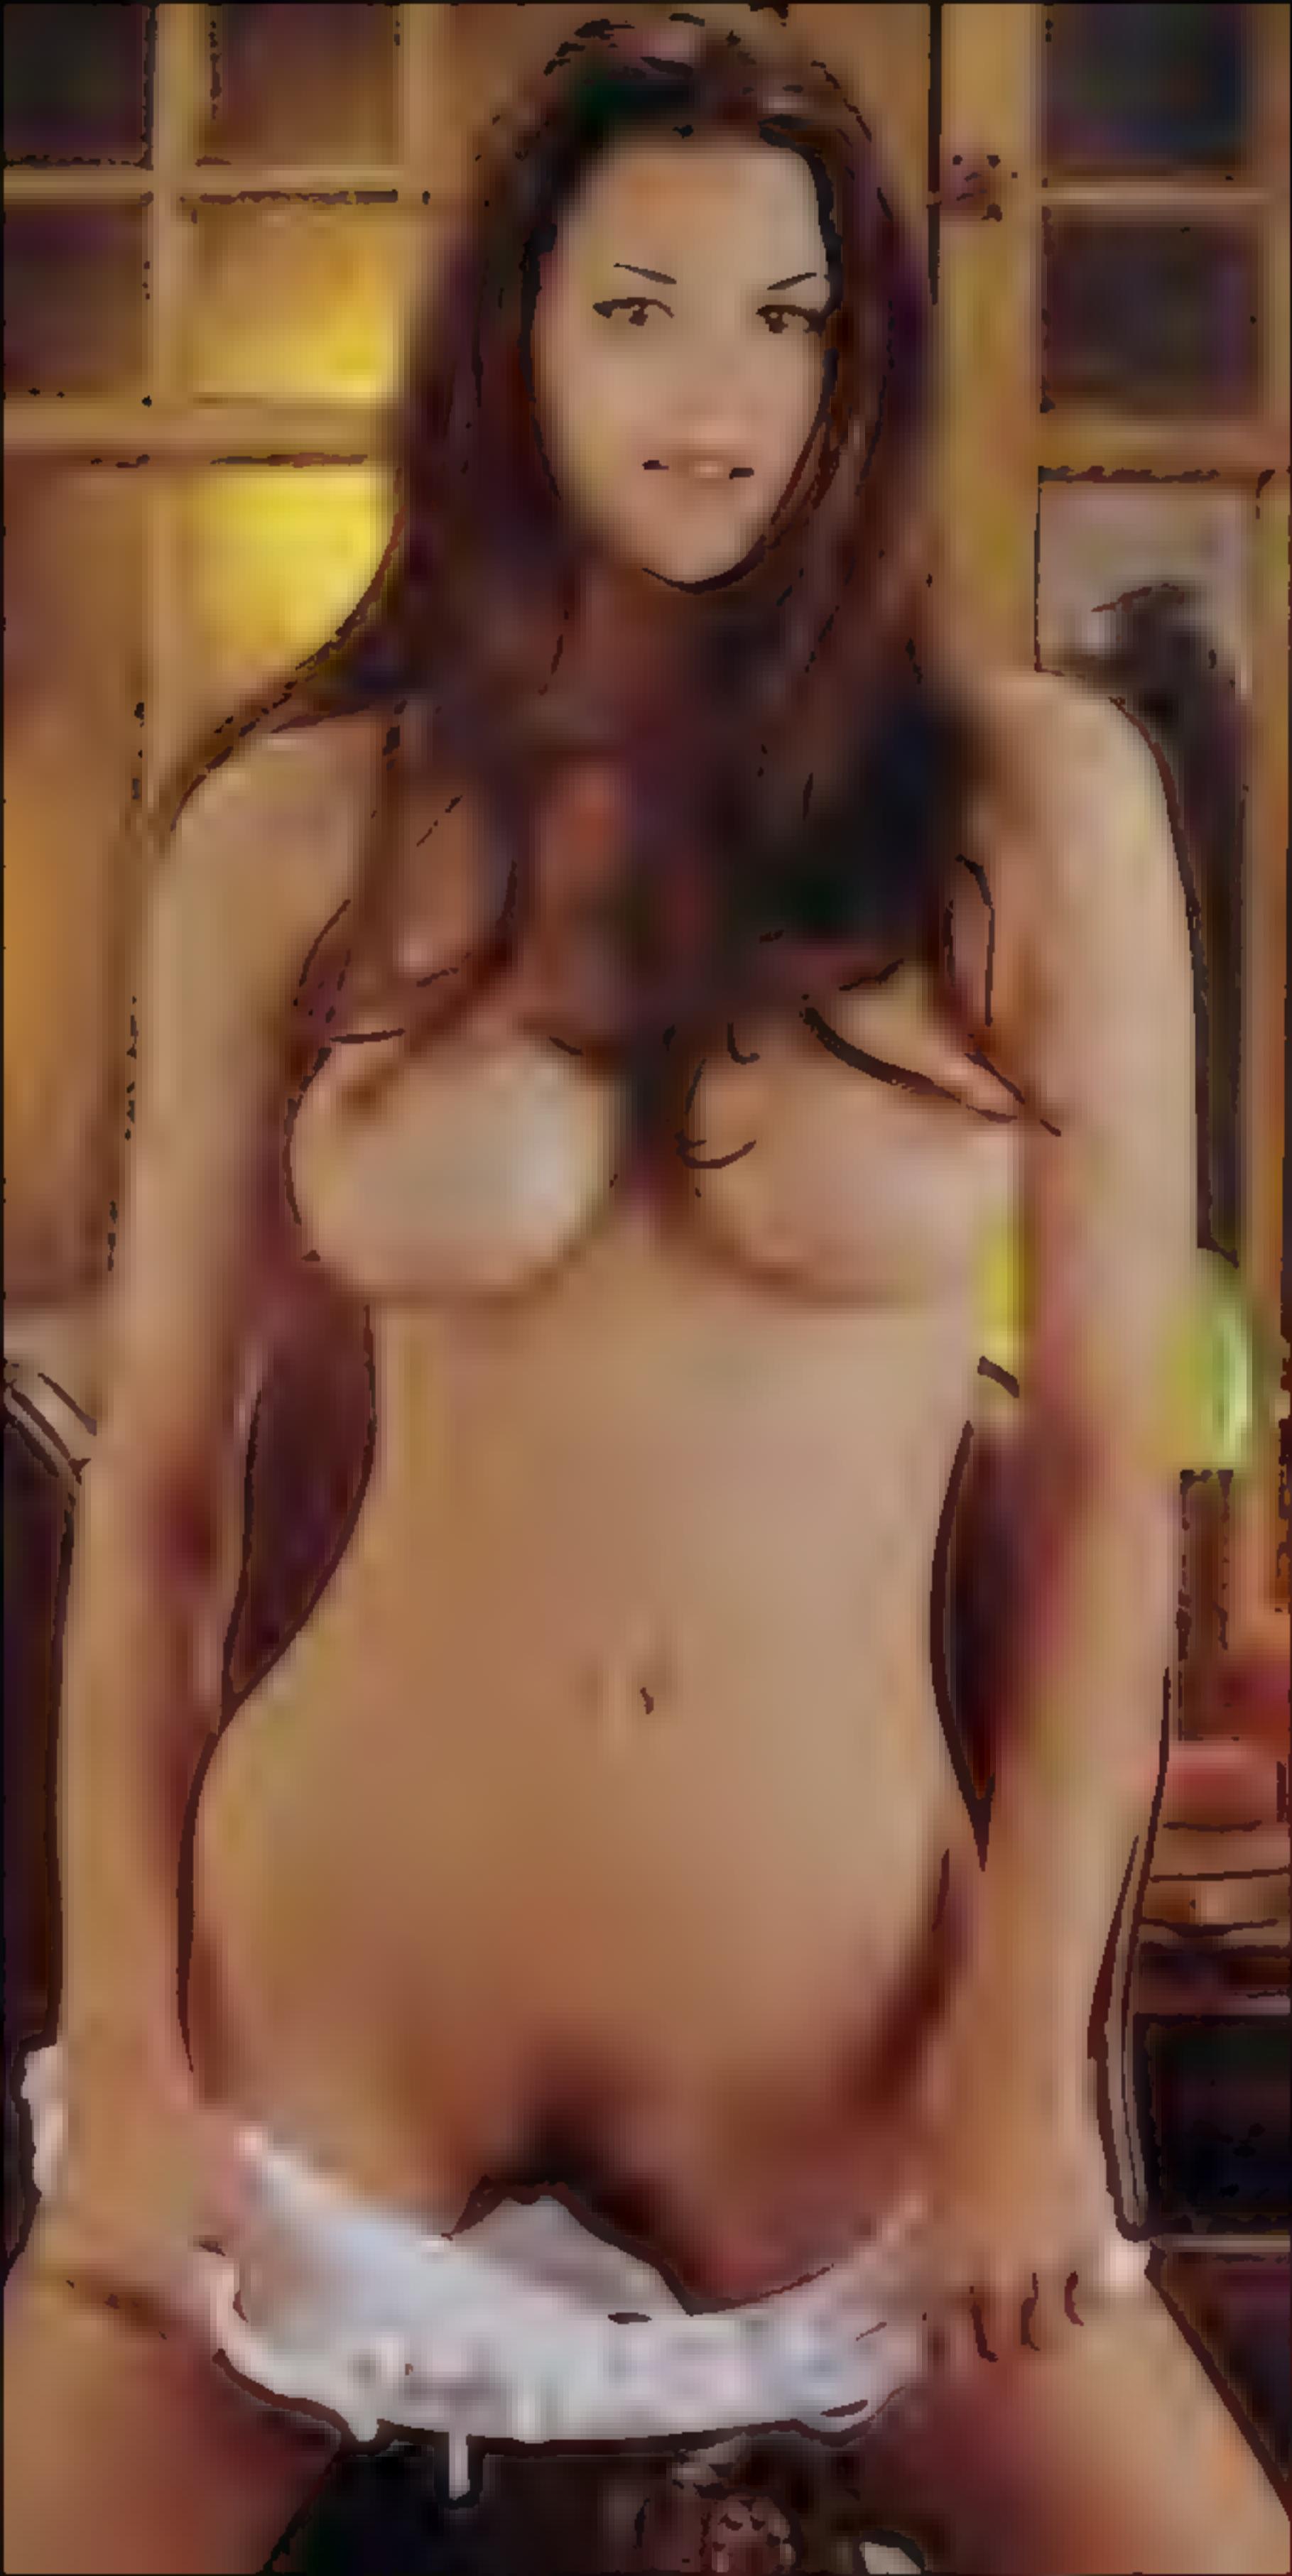

MISS OCTOBER—10

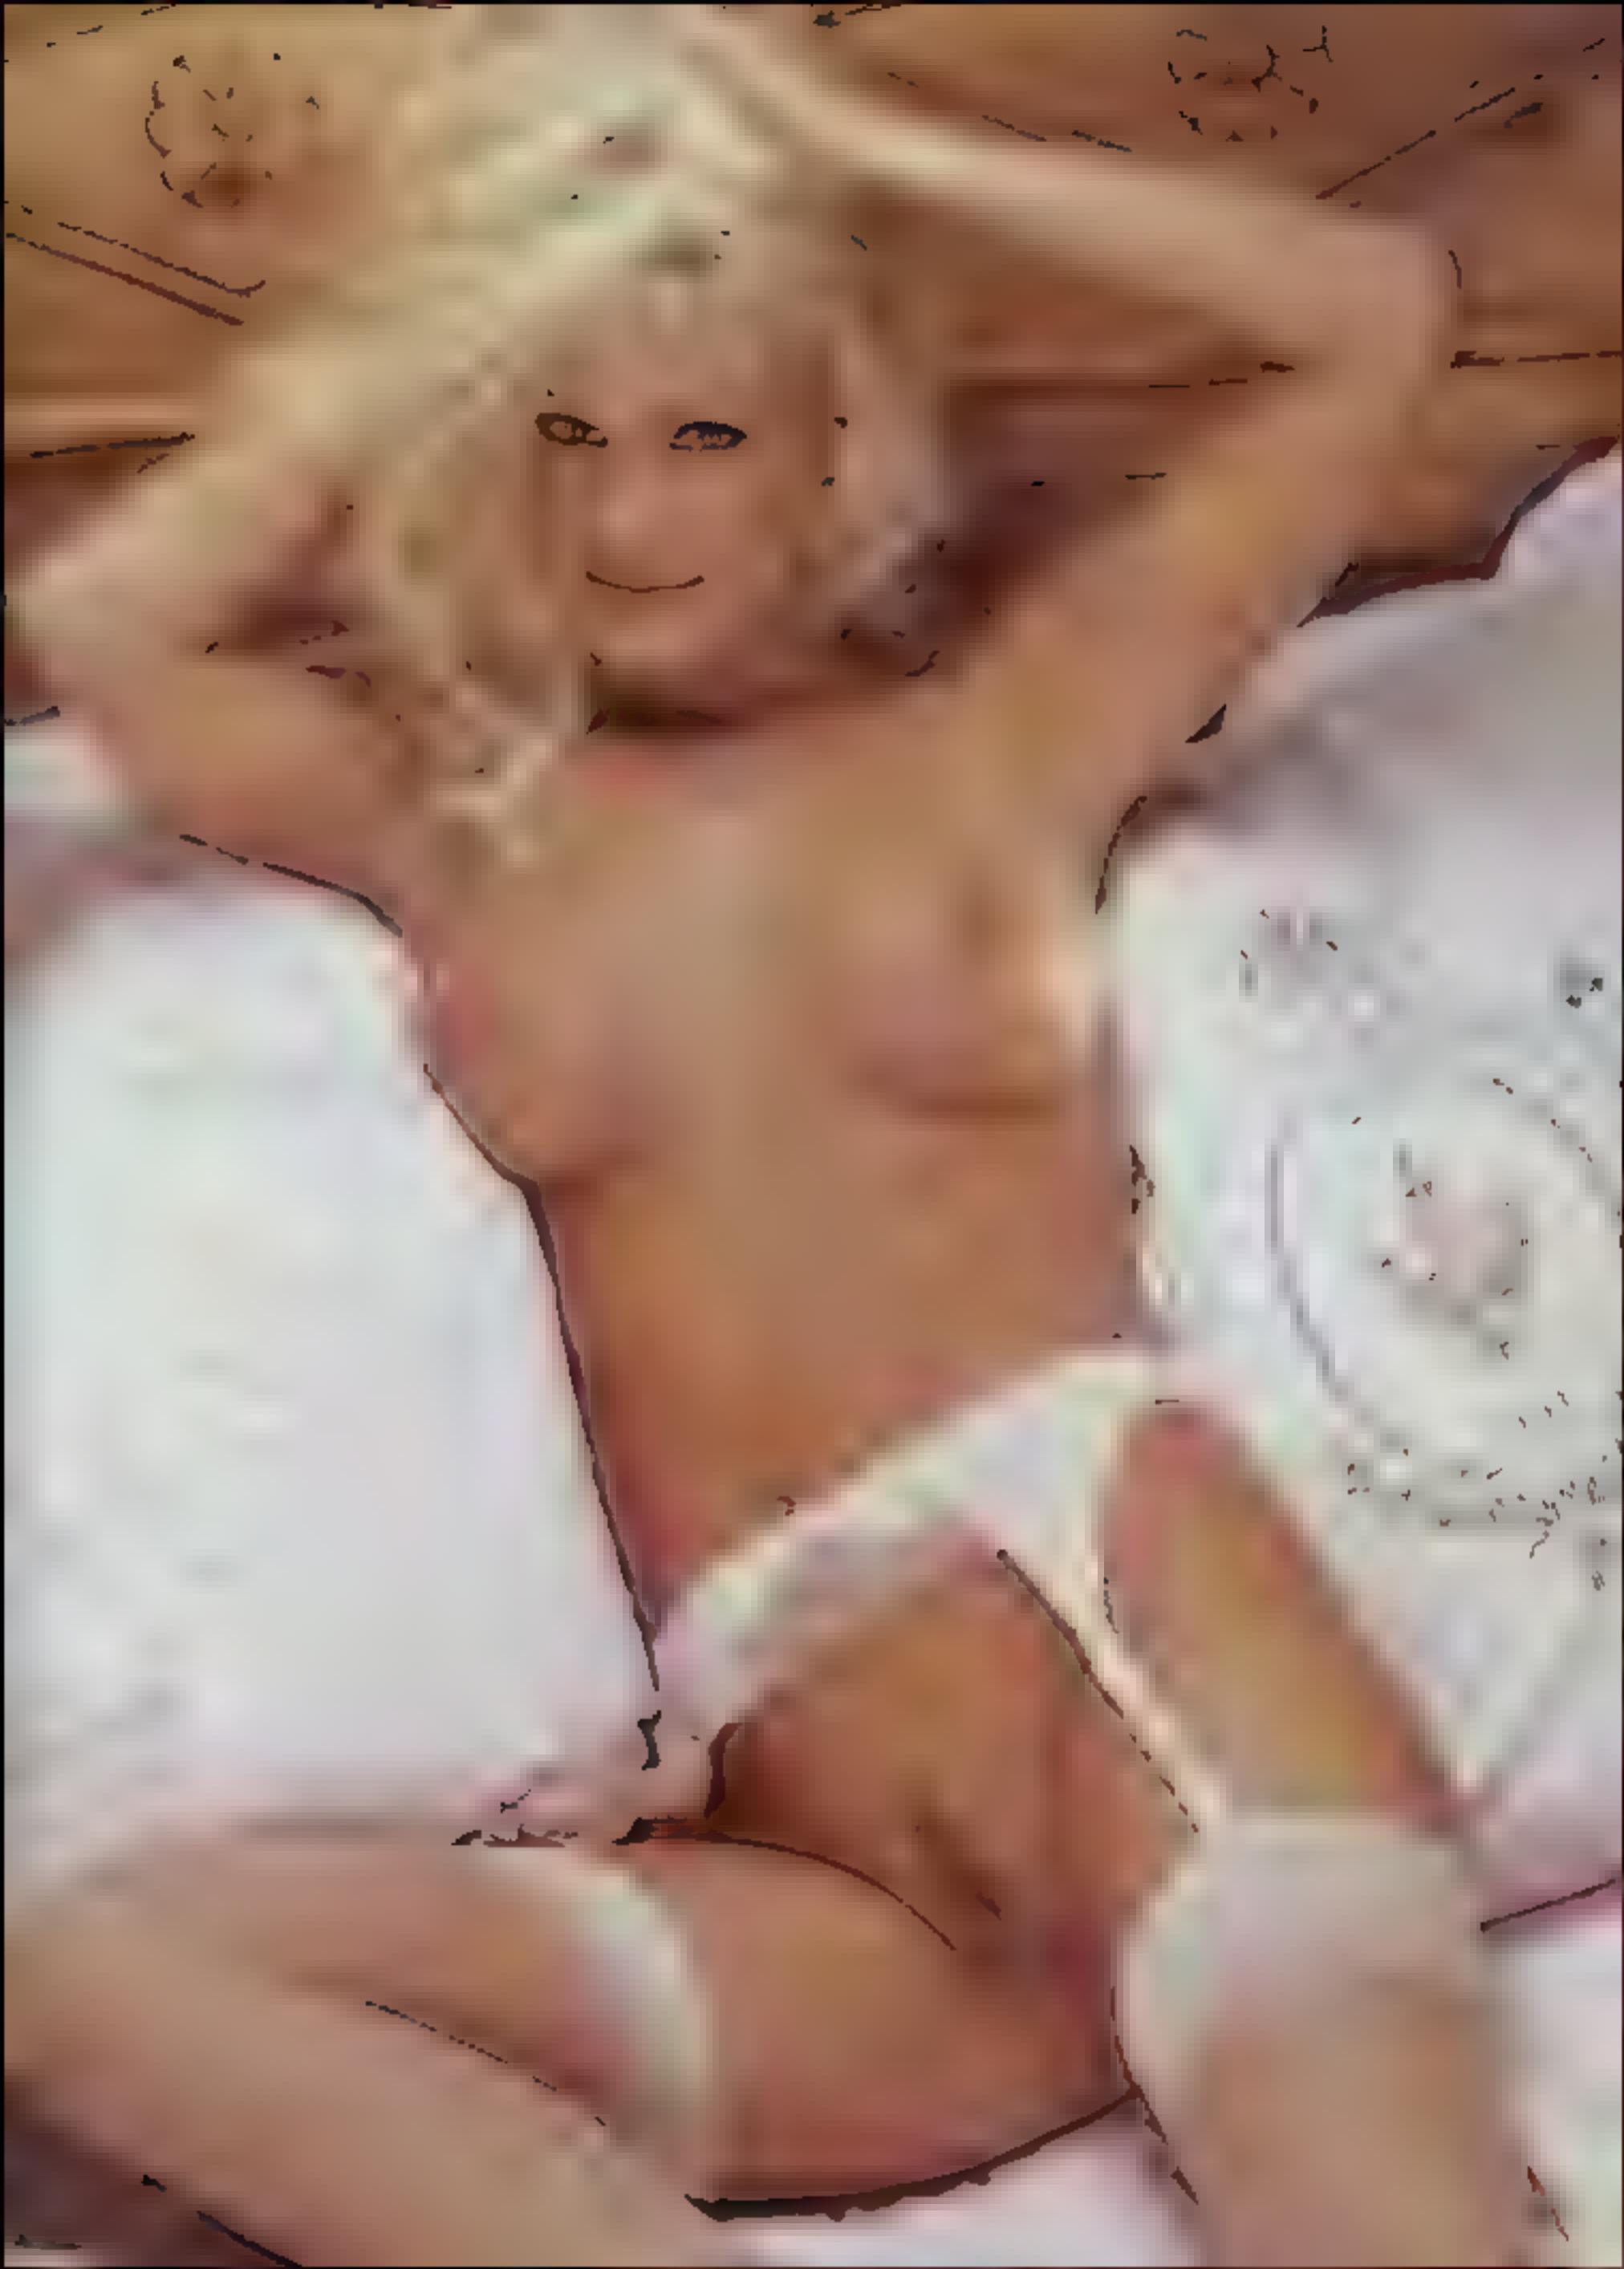

MISS NOVEMBER—11

MISS DECEMBER—12

MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR

"How much for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year?"

MARTY
MURPHY

"I am the ghost of Christmas past . . . specifically, Christmas Eve '93 . . . and this is my attorney"

PLAYMATE & NEWS

CALIFORNIA DREAMIN'

Hef wasn't the only cool cat in pajamas at the Midsummer Night's Dream party. Jim Carrey, Leonardo Playboy Magazine's 20th anniversary issue, which included a photo shoot with Pamela Anderson (right) and Jim Carrey (far left).

DiCaprio, Jeff Goldblum, George Clooney, Carter Oosterhouse, Cuba Gooding Jr., the Foo Fighters, Matthew Perry and Jon Lovitz abided by the bedclothes-only dress code to hobnob with Hef and dozens of lingerie-clad Playmates at Playboy Mansion West. Miss January 1998 Heather Kozar, who wore a baby blue negligee, gave this firsthand account:

My night began in an upstairs bed room, where a bunch of us Playmates were getting dressed, putting on makeup, doing our hair and drinking champagne. When we finally went downstairs—we had waited awhile—the place was packed. For the first hour, it was like, 'Hi! Hi! Hi!' I got to meet Aaron Spelling, which was a thrill. And the decorations were huge! The grounds were decked out with flowers and fake tropical birds. There were TV sets all over the place, showing footage of Mansion parties from long ago. The food was incredible too—lamb chops, pasta, chocolate-covered strawberries, pies.

I hung out by the hors d'oeuvres table, which was full of sex food—shrimp and oysters. Of course there were people in the Grotto getting naked. But you know what? Some of the older guys said that it was a tame Midsummer Night's Dream party I can't imagine what the others were like!

AUCIA RICKTER

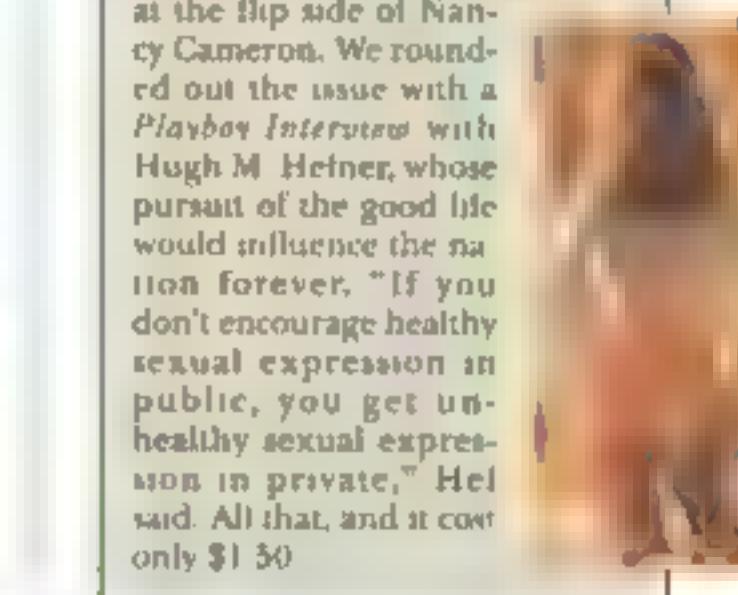

"At my PLAYBOY photo shoot I was thinking, 'Oh my God, I'm naked!' But no one cared. They were just walking around like normal."

25 YEARS AGO THIS MONTH

Although the future of magazines is clouded," we wrote in Playboy for our 20th anniversary issue, "the future of this magazine looks good." Our birthday celebration included fiction by John Updike, Saul Bellow and Vladimir Nabokov, nonfiction by Bruce Jay Friedman, and a history of organized crime by Richard Hammer. Our special Centerfold gave readers a look at the flip side of Nancy Cameron. We rounded out the issue with a Playboy Interview with Hugh M. Hefner, whose pursuit of the good life would influence the nation forever. "If you don't encourage healthy sexual expression in public, you get unhealthy sexual expression in private," Hef said. All that, and it cost only $1.30.

BUMP, SET, SPIKE

More than 250 good sports gathered at North Beach, an athletic mecca-cum-watering hole in Chicago, for Playboy's third annual Sand and Suds Volleyball Challenge. On hand along with PLAYBOY staffers, sales reps and clients was 1998 Playmate of the Year Karen McDougal, who joined participants for more than two hours of on-court action. "I haven't played since high school," McDougal admitted in a pregame interview. But that didn't stop the brunette from getting down and dirty in the sand, diving for balls and at one point acting as an opposing team with a skillfully placed serve. Team Playboy won four games and snagged third place in the tournament.

life is a ball, especially when you get to rub shoulders and kick sand with 1998 Playmate of the Year Karen McDougal (left) who joined Team Playboy (below, left) against Joe Holtz, Heidi Davies, James Dimonikas, Alison Sundgren, Wade Baxter in kicking butt in its first four volleyball games.

PLAYMATE BIRTHDAYS — JANUARY

- January 3 Miss October 1958 Pat Sheehan
- January 11 Miss January 1995 Echo Johnson
- January 24 Miss June 1965 Hedy Scott
- January 26 Miss November 1966 Janet Lupo
- January 30 Miss February 1966 Julie McLaughlin

PLAYMATE & NEWS

CALIFORNIA DREAMIN'

Hef wasn't the only cool cat in pajamas at the Midsummer Night's Dream party. Jim Carrey, Leonardo

Playboy Mansion West became a who's who of Hollywood for the night. Guests included Pamela Anderson (right) and 90210 star Ian Ziering (above, with his wife, Nikki Schieler, and twins Rossi and Renée Tenison). At left: Heather Kozar boogies.

DiCaprio, Jeff Goldblum, George Clooney, Cameron Diaz, Cuba Gooding Jr., the Foo Fighters, Matthew Perry and Jon Lovitz abided by the bedclothes-only dress code to hobnob with Hef and dozens of lingerie-clad Playmates at Playboy Mansion West. Miss January 1998 Heather Kozar, who wore a baby blue negligee, gave this firsthand account: "My night began in an upstairs bedroom, where a bunch of us Playmates were getting dressed, putting on makeup, doing our hair and drinking

PLAYMATE BIRTHDAYS — JANUARY

- January 3: Miss October 1958 Pat Sheehan
- January 11: Miss January 1995 Echo Johnson
- January 24: Miss June 1965 Hedy Scott
- January 26: Miss November 1975 Janet Lupo
- January 30: Miss February 1986 Julie McCullough

champagne. When we finally went downstairs—we had waited awhile—the place was packed. For the first hour, it was like, 'Hi! Hi! Hi!' I got to meet Aaron Spelling, which was a thrill. And the decorations were huge! The grounds were decked out with flowers and fake tropical birds. There were TV sets all over the place, showing footage of Mansion parties from long ago. The food was incredible, too—lamb chops, pasta, chocolate-covered strawberries, pies.

I hung out by the hors d'oeuvres table, which was full of sex food—shrimp and oysters. Of course, there were people in the Grotto getting naked. But you know what? Some of the older guys said that it was a tame Midsummer Night's Dream party. I can't imagine what the others were like!"

ALICIA RICKTER:

"At my PLAYBOY photo shoot I was thinking, 'Oh my God, I'm naked!' But no one cared. They were just walking around like normal."

25 YEARS AGO THIS MONTH

"Although the future of magazines is clouded," we wrote in Playbill for our 20th anniversary issue, "the future of this magazine looks good." Our birthday celebration included fiction by John Updike, Saul Bellow and Vladimir Nabokov, nonfiction by Bruce Jay Friedman, and a history of organized crime by Richard Hammer. Our special Centersfold gave readers a look at the flip side of Nancy Cameron. We rounded out the issue with a Playboy Interview with Hugh M. Hefner, whose pursuit of the good life would influence the nation forever. "If you don't encourage healthy sexual expression in public, you get unhealthy sexual expression in private," Hef said. All that, and it cost only $1.50.

BUMP, SET, SPIKE

More than 250 good sports gathered at North Beach, an athletic mecca-cum-watering hole in Chicago, for PLAYBOY's third annual Sand and Suds Volleyball Challenge. On hand along with PLAYBOY staffers, sales reps and clients was 1998 Playmate of the Year Karen McDougal, who joined participants for more than two hours of on-court action. "I haven't played since high school," McDougal admitted in a pregame interview. But that didn't stop the brunette from getting down and dirty in the sand, diving for balls and at one point facing an opposing team with a skillfully placed serve. Team Playboy won four games and snagged third place in the tournament.

Life's a ball, especially when you get to rub shoulders (and kick sand around) with 1998 Playmate of the Year Karen McDougal (left), who joined Team Playboy (below, left to right: Joe Hoffer, Heidi Davies, James Dimonkos, Alison Lundgren and Wade Baxter) in kicking butt in its first four volleyball games.

My Favorite Playmate
By Joyce Carol
Oates

"My favorite has to be Marilyn Monroe. I'm actually writing something about her at this moment. Obviously, Marilyn remains the most famous Playmate because she was in the first issue of PLAYBOY. They weren't Playmates back then—they were Sweethearts, and Marilyn was the best. It's amazing that this picture of a girl with such innocence, taken for a small-time calendar before she was famous, would turn Marilyn into the sex symbol of America. That first issue has gone down in publishing history. And Marilyn was where it all started."

LIV LINDELAND:

"I go to the Mansion on Sundays. I see Cathy St. George and Sharon Johansen. I like to hang out with the youngsters now. They make me feel young."

FAN MAIL

Dear Kelly Monaco:

You're the sexiest Playmate I've seen in a long, long time. Besides being physically stunning, you have a kind smile. You are a natural beauty.

I have lived all my life in Allegan, Michigan. I too am a middle child—I have an older brother and a younger sister. I'm single and a homebody, but I'm trying to change and meet people. I have always tried to be my own person and not follow the crowd, and I think I've succeeded. If you ever want to marry a small-town boy, don't hesitate to look me up.

Your biggest fan,
Matt Davis
Allegan, MI

Kelly Monaco's latest film, Baseketball, is now available on home video.

PLAYMATE NEWS

QUOTE UNQUOTE

It has been six years since Echo Johnson joined the PLAYBOY family as Miss January 1993, a fresh-faced model aspiring to own a "hip, upscale clothing store." We caught up with Echo, who turns 25 this month, to get her thoughts on fame, guys and coming of age.

Q: What do you know now that you didn't know when you were 18?

A: That it's nice to be important, but it's more important to be nice.

Q: When did you realize you had grown up?

A: Just recently. I'm less naive and I have more business sense. Things I've been working toward are starting to pay off.

Q: Like what?

A: I'm anticipating that my Web site—www.echojohnson.net—will take off. I'm surprised by the following I have. It's proved that there's an audience out there for me and that I should market myself to the fullest.

Q: What would you consider your image to be?

A: I suppose that people perceive me as what they see in the magazine—as a sex symbol. People are surprised when they meet me because I'm so down-to-earth.

It's always, "You're so different from what I thought you'd be."

Q: How do you stay grounded?

A: My family has a lot to do with it. I hate it when I meet women who are bitchy just because they're beautiful. I'm kind to everyone.

Q: Do you remember your first kiss?

A: [Laughs] Yeah. I think I was 12. The guy shoved his tongue into my mouth and I was really disgusted.

Q: What's your advice for men who want to date Playmates?

A: Don't go out with her just to have a Playmate on your arm.

Q: Do you have any embarrassing sex stories?

A: When I was in high school, my dad walked in on my boyfriend and me having sex.

Q: And?

A: He said, "That's what locks are for, Echo."

PLAYMATE GOSSIP

Julia Schulte hailed her hometown by posing on the cover of San Diego magazine's "Best of Everything" issue. Inside, the California girl modeled swimsuits. . . . Petra Verkaik goes celluloid in two forthcoming films: the independent feature Butterfly Ball and the straight-to-video feature Crimson Kiss. . . . Victoria Silvstedt blew into the Windy City to promote the Chicago International Film Festival and to autograph the poster that reveals her barely clothed bod. She also shows up in the new print ads for both John Schulte series.

Guess Collection and Guess jeans. . . . Elke Jeinsen is no drag. She will sport a suit in a tongue-in-cheek print ad for men's clothier Amir Fashions. . . . Miss May 1960 Ginger Young has a formula for staying young: "I kickbox, sculpt and do yoga," she says. Ginger is also a published poet. . . . Kerri Kendall knows a thing or two about the simple life. She recently returned from a yearlong trip around the world, during which she lived like a gypsy, hitchhiked and made jewelry on the beach. "It's amazing how few material items you really need," Kerri says. . . . Daphne Lynn Duplaix' continuing rise to fame includes roles in two forthcoming films. Daphne

The many faces of Victoria snagged the lead in Foolish Waive, as Eddie Griffin's girlfriend. She'll also share yucks with David Spade in Lost and Found.

GRAPEVINE

Up for Inspection

California model PAYTON LEIGH can be found in two Hot Body International videos and showing off in the sun. She passes our test.

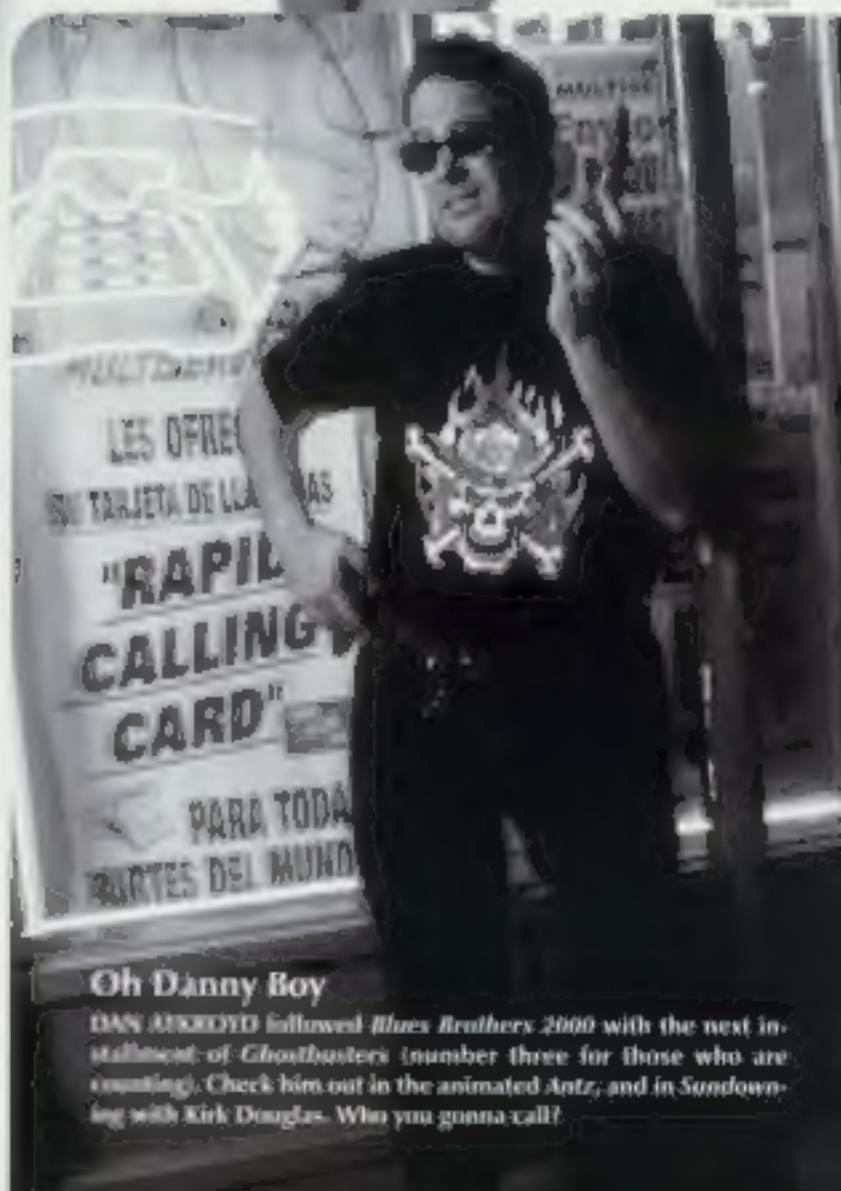

Michelle Is...Swell

MICHELLE VON FLOTOV is a gogo in Austin. Powers and fulfills your erotic fantasies in Hidden Beauties.

Amber Is a Gem

Model and actress AMBER SMITH hung out with Frank and Sammy in HBO's Rat Pack, but you can mark time with Amber on her 1999 calendar.

Oh Danny Boy

DAN AYKROYD followed Blues Brothers 2000 with the next installment of Ghostbusters (number three for those who are counting). Check him out in the animated Antz, and in Sundowning with Kirk Douglas. Who you gonna call?

Barenaked Fully Dressed

It's not every day that a rock band has two CDs on the charts, one gold and one platinum. If you weren't humming BARENAKED LADIES' "One Week" from Stunt last summer, you were unconscious. The boys in the band called the single freestyling. We just call it stylish.

Naturally, Laura

You can spot LAURA LEMASTER in Model Look International and the Revco Beauty Handbook. She had a day's work opposite John Travolta in a Primary Colors crowd scene. Color her ready for more.

Roshumba Rules the Runway

Supermodel ROUSHANNA KELLY was in Young & Restless's movie Graduation, which makes sense. She's a regular correspondent on Y&R.

